WINDFALL FROM BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

At the meeting of the Joint Mental Hospital Committee at Portrane, yesterday, the Chief Clerk, Mr. James J. Doyle, reported that £766 2s. 2d. had been received from the British Ministry of Pensions for arrears of maintenance of ex-Service patients from 1926-27 to 1930-31, owing to the cost of maintenance during these years having been increased as a result of the Supreme Court decision of December, 1930, in the Wood's case.

Dr. J. O'C. Donelan, Resident Medical Superintendent, announced that Mrs. Josephine McLoughlin, organist of the Catholic Chapel, Grangegorman, died on Sunday last. She had been in the Committee's service for thirty-two years, and had always been most regular and conscientious in the discharge of her duties. Dr. Donelan suggested that Nurse Kathleen Donnelly should be appointed to fill the vacancy, and the recommendation was agreed to.

Mr. P. J. Curran moved that application be made to the Free State Minister for Local Government and Public Health for sanction to a loan of £10,500 for the erection of twenty-four houses on the Portrane estate, in accordance with the plans sanctioned by the Minister in August, 1931. The work, he suggested, should be carried out by direct labour, under the supervision of the chief engineer of the hospital, Mr. S. J. McClure.

The motion, which was seconded by Councillor Cahill, was passed.

On the recommendation of the Local Appointments Commission, Dublin, Mr. James C. Dorney, of Upper Mountpleasant avenue, Rathmines, was appointed assistant storekeeper of the hospital. Senator Mrs. T. Clarke presided.

FREE STATE EGG LAYING TEST.

WHITE LEGHORNS MAKE BEST AVERAGE

WHITE WYANDOTTES MOST VALUABLE.

IN the nineteenth egg-laying competition conducted by the Department of Agriculture at the Munster Institute, Cork, during a period of 48 weeks ended on the 16th of September last 540 pullets laid an average of 196 eggs, of which 164 were first-grade. The average number of second-grade eggs per pullet was 31. The final report now published states that 98 pens of pullets, as well as 19 pens of ducks, were accepted for the competition. Excluding eggs which were under the weight for second-grade, and making allowance for the death of 48 pullets during the test, the average egg yield for each breed was as follows:—

White Wyandotte	200.4	(195 Pullets)
Rhode Island Red	195.9	(157 ,,
White Leghorn	201.6	(105 ,,
Buff Rock	175.0	(38 ,,
Light Sussex	177.6	(28 ,,
Barred Rock	191.8	(11 ,,
Black Minorca	180.0	(6 ,,

The average egg yield per duck was 216.1 for Khaki Campbell and 189.8 for Indian Runner.

A total of 168 pullets laid 200 first-grade eggs or over, and not more than 20 per cent. second-grade. These were leg-banded with numbered and sealed copper rings on the termination of the test. The individual egg yields for these birds are shown separately in the report.

WELL DONE.

During the competition a White Wyandotte pullet laid a total of 292 eggs, of which only five were second-grade. With a view to obtaining a full year's record, the pen in which this pullet was included was retained at the Munster Institute for a further period of 29 days, during which time this bird laid an additional 21 first-grade eggs, making a total of 313 eggs in 365 days. Such a result has not been obtained in any of the previous competitions held at the Munster Institute.

The silver cup for the pen-laying eggs of the highest market value during the competition was won by the White Wyandotte pullets owned by Mrs. M. Strong, Ceanannus Mor, County Meath. These also won first prize in the section for White Wyandottes, and produced 1,397 eggs, value £9 3s. 8½d.

In the Duck section the first prize went to the Khaki Campbell pen owned by Miss B. Knox, Bonnetstown Hall, Kilkenny. The pen produced 1,018 eggs, value £5 10s. 10½d. The special prize of a silver medal (or its value, £2) was won by an Indian Runner, owned by Miss D. Strong, Moate House, Ceanannus Mor, County Meath. This duck laid 305 eggs, value £1 13s. 4½d.

The report directs attention to the need for further grading and selection of breeding stock for body size and size of egg.

Copies of the complete report may be had on application to the Department.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

ENFORCEMENT OF COURT ORDERS.

MAGISTRATES SUSPEND ACTION.

Mr. Cussen announced to the legal profession in the Dublin District Court that he or his colleagues could not hear any applications for the enforcement of Court orders, owing to the fact that although a requisition for the minute books necessary to do the work was made in November, they were still without them.

This branch of work in the District Court was one of the largest. Enforcement of Court orders meant that they must make the necessary orders, not alone in respect of decrees of the District Court, but in respect of judgments of other Courts in the Saorstat or elsewhere.

"STATIONERY" OFFICE.

Such work, which involved the possibility of imprisonment, could not be dealt with except with the greatest particularity, and the Justices of that Court had decided that when a defendant, who had not paid, was brought before any of them the case against the defendant would be retained until they were all disposed of.

In last November they decided to have certain forms of minute books, and the Chief Clerk requested the Stationery Office to supply them. Owing to the minute books not having been supplied, one of the public services had been suspended. That, however, concluded Mr. Cussen, does not apply to any cases in which orders have been made.

SOLD WEAK WHISKEY.

(BEFORE MR. LITTLE.)

The case against Edward O'Shaughnessy, publican, Holles street, was reopened. It was a summons under the Food and Drugs Act, arising out of the sale of half a pint of whiskey, which was found to have been adulterated with water to the extent of 3.5 per cent. in excess of the legal allowance. When the case was heard a week ago there was no appearance for the defendant, and a fine of £40 was recorded, and it later transpired that the case had come on prematurely.

Mr. Casey (instructed by Messrs. Roger Greene and Son) now appeared for the defendant, who said that he had had the whiskey in stock for a considerable time, and the only way he could account for its condition was that there must have been evaporation. No water had been added to the whiskey by him.

Mr. Little imposed a fine of 40s., and, on the ground that the offence was a trivial one, did not endorse the licence.

DUMMY PETROL PUMP OBSTRUCTION.

Edwin Fitzgerald, Sandford road, was summoned for having erected what was described as a dummy pump on the footpath opposite his garage, and causing an obstruction to pedestrians, because of the narrowness of the pathway.

Mr. J. P. Collins, for the defence, said that the machine had been there for the past eight years, and that this was the first time complaint had been made. There were similar petrol pumps in other parts, and no fault was found.

Mr. T. F. Burke, solicitor for the Corporation, said that the other pumps were licensed at £5 a year. In this case Mr. Fitzgerald had been refused permission to erect the pump, and he then put up the dummy to direct attention to the genuine pump within his premises.

A fine of 10s. was recorded.

'BUSES ON BURGH QUAY.

About thirty drivers of omnibuses were summoned, and fined 20s. each, on charges of obstruction by remaining too long on the "hazard" on Burgh quay on various days in the month of December.

WOMEN'S SHOP-LIFTING EXPEDITION.

(BEFORE MR. CUSSEN.)

Bridget Hoystead and her daughter, Kathleen, of 43 South William street, who were in custody under remand, were again brought before the Court on the charge of having stolen a quantity of goods during Christmas week and on other dates from several of the leading drapery stores in Grafton street and O'Connell street.

Guard Ford preferred a further charge against them of having the stolen property illegally in their possession

Mr. E. A. Byrne (instructed by Mr. Fullerton), for the defendants, said that Kathleen Hoystead maintained that she bought a large proportion of the property in question. They were respectable people. He pleaded guilty.

Mr. Cussen said that the articles taken were not of any great value; but the defendants, who had gone on a raiding expedition around the city, had been caught red-handed by a police woman.

The defendants were further remanded until Saturday in order that inquiries might be made in the meantime as to their previous character.

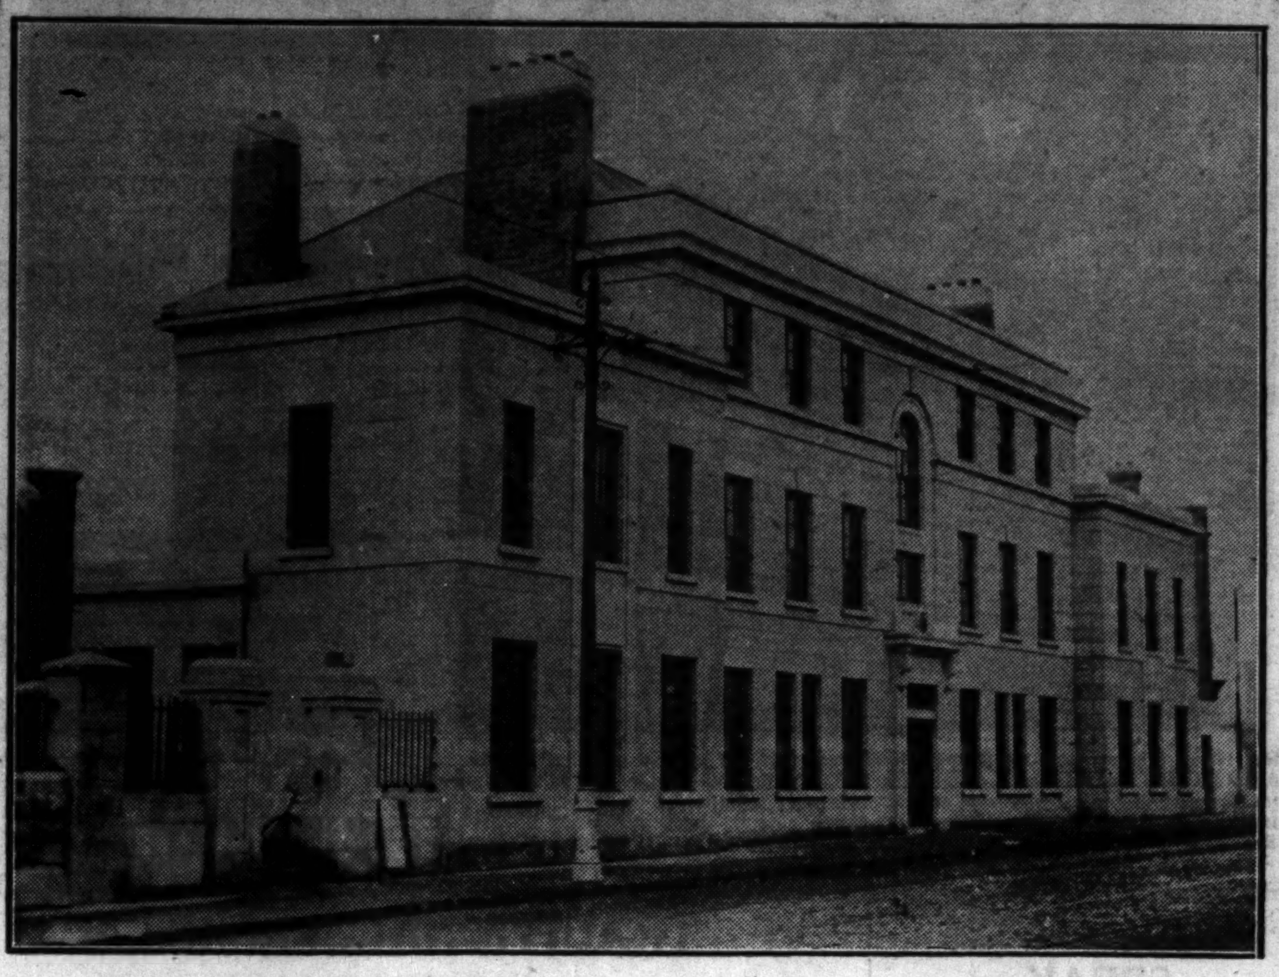
BUILDING & RECONSTRUCTION

Previous Article 10 : 12 : 31. Next Article 21 : 1 : 32.

NEW METROPOLITAN GARDA STATION AT DONNYBROOK.



The new Metropolitan Garda Station, Donnybrook, shown above, replaces an old three-storey masonry building of small rooms and low ceilings, which was taken down by the Pembroke U.D.C. when carrying out their street widening scheme about a year ago.

The old building, originally a dwelling house, was not particularly suitable for its purpose, and the cleared site provided an opportunity for designing a building appropriate to the needs of a modern Garda Station. At one end of the building, entered off a small courtyard, duly emphasised by massive gate piers and iron railings, is the public office, communicating with the guard and reserve rooms, and by a connecting corridor with the cells, cycle store and sergeants' offices. At the other end are grouped the kitchen and domestic offices, stores, and mess rooms, with a separate tradesmen entrance, while the centre of the block is marked by the main entrance and staircase communicating with the upper floors.

The first floor is given up to recreation and reading rooms on one side, and the cleaning, bathroom, drying room, and stores on the other. The second floor is occupied by the sleeping quarters for the men. The object aimed at was to provide a rapid and efficient public service, combined with comfortable residential quarters for the single men, kept out of sight and sound of their normal civic duties.

The construction is substantial and simple, with Dolphin's Barn brick outer walling, faced with Ballyknocken granite to the main street, floors of reinforced concrete, rubber covered to prevent noise and for easy cleaning. The walls are of hard wall plaster, windows of teak, doors of red deal faced both sides with single plywood panels and with simple trimmings, free from recesses holding dust, painted a scumbled brown and varnished, with the same object in view.

The centre block is roofed with Killaloe slates, with copper gutters behind the parapet, and the side wings are flat reinforced concrete, covered with the Dublin Asphalte Co.'s 3-ply felt and tarmac.

A few of the residential rooms have fireplaces, but a low pressure heating system of pipes and radiators is provided for the building generally in the interests of economy and cleanliness, and electric light is installed throughout.

The general contractors are Messrs. G. and T. Crampton, Ltd., Hammersmith Works, Ballsbridge.

The sub-contractors are:—

Messrs. Hadens Engineering Co., Ltd., for heating and lighting.

Messrs. Smallman and Co. for sanitary ware.

Messrs. P. P. Kernan, Son and Co., supplied the copper work.

Messrs. T. and C. Martin, Ltd., the Irish roofing slates.

Messrs. Brooks Thomas and Co. for structural steel.

Messrs. Kennan and Sons, Ltd., for wrought iron balustrade and stair flights and landings.

Messrs. Dockrell, Sons and Co. for bronze grills.

The design was prepared under the direction of the Chief Architect to the Board of Public Works, Mr. T. J. Byrne, A.R.I.B.A., F.R.I.A.I., and under the supervision of Mr. J. M. Fairweather, M.R.I.A.I.

HOUSING IN THE FREE STATE.

SEVEN YEARS' PROGRESS.

The following figures, taken from the first issue of the Free State official Statistical Abstract recently issued by the Department of Industry and Commerce, will be of interest to those engaged in the building and engineering trades.

From the building section the following figures emerge:—

The number of private houses in the Saorstat in 1926 was 599,509, of which 24,887 were uninhabited. In addition, 1,814 dwellings were in course of erection.

As showing the steady increase in State-aided housing schemes the following figures of houses built with State-aid by private persons and public utility societies are remarkable:—During 1924-5, 512; 1925-6, 2,304; 1926-7, 2,468; 1927-8, 1,739; 1928-9, 2,037; making a total of 9,060.

The corresponding figures for State-aided houses built by local authorities were:—1922-3, 18; 1923-4, 446; 1924-5, 955; 1925-6, 1,077; 1926-7, 1,243; 1927-8, 385; 1928-9, 696; making a total of 4,820. The combined total for both classes for the seven years is 13,880.

Including the £1,000,000 special State housing free grant made by Dail Eireann in 1922, the total of State subventions for the construction for the foregoing 13,880 houses was £1,894,000, of which £667,298 was paid to private persons and public utility societies.

The sizes of houses constructed with Government aid from 1922 to 1929 were as follows:—Two-roomed houses, 67; three-roomed houses, 958; four-roomed houses, 3,141; five-roomed houses, 9,715; the total being 13,880.

ROAD BUILDING AT INDUSTRIES FAIR.

A road 60 feet wide and over a quarter-of-a-mile long is to be the biggest exhibit in the British Industries Fair in February. The road is to be constructed outside the Fair Buildings at Castle Bromwich, Birmingham, while the Fair is in progress, as a practical demonstration by exhibitors in the new section for quarry and road-making plant. It will be the biggest demonstration of its kind ever carried out. Hundreds of tons of stone will be brought from quarries, emptied into hoppers and fed into mammoth machines to be crushed and graded into several different sizes.

The graded stone will then be tipped into wagons hauled by the latest locomotives, dumped and elevated to hot asphalt and tar macadam mixing plants. After treatment the material will be transported by special motor vehicles to the road. In the meantime the foundations will have been prepared by the latest type giant excavators. Expert workmen will lay the materials with the help of modern road and path rollers.

The whole process from quarry to road will be carried out with the minimum of human handling. It will be the roadmaking robot's chance of showing its skill to the world's roadmakers under practical working conditions.

The use of concrete for roads, haunches and kerbs, mixed and placed by modern machines, will also be demonstrated, together with the application of steel reinforcement. Erection of lamp standards, traffic signals, direction signs and the modern drainage will complete the exhibit.

The road, which will run parallel to, and along, the north side of the Fair buildings, will be put to practical use for the Fair of 1933.

The 1932 Fair will open simultaneously in London and Birmingham on February 22.

BUILDING & RECONSTRUCTION

Previous Article 10 : 12 : 31. Next Article 21 : 1 : 32.

NEW METROPOLITAN GARDA STATION AT DONNYBROOK.

The new Metropolitan Garda Station, Donnybrook, shown above, replaces an old three-storey masonry building of small rooms and low ceilings, which was taken down by the Pembroke U.D.C. when carrying out their street widening scheme about a year ago.

The old building, originally a dwelling house, was not particularly suitable for its purpose, and the cleared site provided an opportunity for designing a building appropriate to the needs of a modern Garda Station. At one end of the building, entered off a small courtyard, duly emphasised by massive gate piers and iron railings, is the public office, communicating with the guard and reserve rooms, and by a connecting corridor with the cells, cycle store and sergeants' offices. At the other end are grouped the kitchen and domestic offices, stores, and mess rooms, with a separate tradesmen entrance, while the centre of the block is marked by the main entrance and staircase communicating with the upper floors.

The first floor is given up to recreation and reading rooms on one side, and the cleaning, bathroom, drying room, and stores on the other. The second floor is occupied by the sleeping quarters for the men. The object aimed at was to provide a rapid and efficient public service, combined with comfortable residential quarters for the single men, kept out of sight and sound of their normal civic duties.

The construction is substantial and simple, with Dolphin's Barn brick outer walling, faced with Ballyknocken granite to the main street, floors of reinforced concrete, rubber covered to prevent noise and for easy cleaning. The walls are of hard wall plaster, windows of teak, doors of red deal faced both sides with single plywood panels and with simple trimmings, free from recesses holding dust, painted a scumbled brown and varnished, with the same object in view.

The centre block is roofed with Killaloe slates, with copper gutters behind the parapet, and the side wings are flat reinforced concrete, covered with the Dublin Asphalte Co.'s 3-ply felt and tarmac.

A few of the residential rooms have fireplaces, but a low pressure heating system of pipes and radiators is provided for the building generally in the interests of economy and cleanliness, and electric light is installed throughout.

The general contractors are Messrs. G. and T. Crampton, Ltd., Hammersmith Works, Ballsbridge.

The sub-contractors are:—

Messrs. Hadens Engineering Co., Ltd., for heating and lighting.

Messrs. Smallman and Co. for sanitary ware.

Messrs. F. P. Kernan, Son and Co., supplied the copper work.

Messrs. T. and C. Martin, Ltd., the Irish roofing slates.

Messrs. Brooks Thomas and Co. for structural steel.

Messrs. Kennan and Sons, Ltd., for wrought iron balustrade and stair flights and landings.

Messrs. Dockrell, Sons and Co. for bronze grills.

The design was prepared under the direction of the Chief Architect to the Board of Public Works, Mr. T. J. Byrne, A.R.I.B.A., F.R.I.A.I., and under the supervision of Mr. J. M. Fairweather, M.R.I.A.I.

SEVEN YEARS' PROGRESS.

The following figures, taken from the first issue of the Free State official Statistical Abstract recently issued by the Department of Industry and Commerce, will be of interest to those engaged in the building and engineering trades.

From the building section the following figures emerge:—

The number of private houses in the Saorstat in 1926 was 599,509, of which 24,887 were uninhabited. In addition, 1,814 dwellings were in course of erection.

As showing the steady increase in State-aided housing schemes the following figures of houses built with State-aid by private persons and public utility societies are remarkable:—During 1924-5, 512; 1925-6, 2,304; 1926-7, 2,468; 1927-8, 1,739; 1928-9, 2,037; making a total of 9,060.

The corresponding figures for State-aided houses built by local authorities were:—1922-3, 18; 1923-4, 446; 1924-5, 955; 1925-6, 1,077; 1926-7, 1,243; 1927-8, 385; 1928-9, 696; making a total of 4,820. The combined total for both classes for the seven years is 13,880.

Including the £1,000,000 special State housing free grant made by Dail Eireann in 1922, the total of State subventions for the construction for the foregoing 13,880 houses was £1,894,000, of which £667,298 was paid to private persons and public utility societies.

The sizes of houses constructed with Government aid from 1922 to 1929 were as follows:—Two-roomed houses, 67; three-roomed houses, 958; four-roomed houses, 3,141; five-roomed houses, 9,715; the total being 13,880.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY.

The Leap Year Privilege : Continental Rugby : The Date Palm. Lewis Carroll's Centenary : Irish and English "Pubs."

1932 Leap Year.

I do not really imagine that the fact that 1932 is a Leap Year will cause any undue fluttering in bachelor dove-cots, despite the traditional privilege which the period extends to the fair sex. It is of interest to note that Ireland's patron saints are said to be at the bottom of the quaint tradition which gives the girl the right to propose during Leap Year. St. Bridget, the legend runs, proposed to St. Patrick, and, as he could not marry her, he gave her a kiss and a silk gown—a penalty which any rejected feminine suitor can still claim as rightful due. During one period of Scottish history an even more severe penalty was imposed on the man who preferred single blessedness. An Act of Parliament passed in 1228 ordered that during the reign of Queen Margaret "each maiden should have liberty to speak the man she likes." If the man thus favoured refused, the Act further provided that he should be fined £100 "as his estate may be."

Irish and English "Pubs."

A comparison between Irish and English public-houses was drawn in an address at a Leeds luncheon the other day by the Reverend R. B. McKee, an Irish clergyman. He expressed a great admiration for the average village "pub.," about which, he said, there was something very attractive, quite apart from its beer. "The English village 'pub.,'" he went on, "is vastly superior to its Irish counterpart. The latter is more or less a drinking place pure and simple, whereas there is about the English village 'pub.' a look of hospitality, an air of Charles Dickens. On entering one you feel to have come in contact with real village life, and the community feeling cultivated there is something to be preserved. I hope the time will never come in England when we attempt any such stupid thing as prohibition. If that time ever came, I should be one of these to vote against it, if only because I should not like to see the village 'pub.' disappear."

Rugby on the Continent.

Rugby "fans" cannot but regret that the first day of this year did not bring its usual international contest to the Stade Colombes. They must take comfort, however, in the news that the "Peace Committee"—composed of Louis Dedet, Fernand Forgues, Marcel Communeau, Adolphe Jaureguy and René Crabos—is working very hard towards the resumption of relations between the French Rugby authorities and the home Unions. There is also the pleasing intelligence that Rugby is becoming more and more popular every day in various parts of the Continent. In Spain there is an increasing enthusiasm for the game, which goes, undistinguished from Association, under the simple name of "Futbol." On Boxing Day recently the Blackheath Club, instead of their annual fixture with the Racing Club de France, played a hard-fought game with the pick of German Rugby teams, the Hanover Verein fuer Volkssport.

In Sweden also Rugby is making steady progress, as is witnessed by the recent invitation extended to Oxford Greyhounds to visit Stockholm in the spring. Matches between officers and men of British warships visiting the Swedish capital have kindled interest in the game in that country, and a representative team will be fielded by the natives in an England versus Sweden match next June. In Italy, where the game is extensively played, enthusiasm often causes excessive zeal on the part of the players. The story is told of a certain huge Italian, a wing three-quarter and the captain of his side, who always lay so far up-field as to be usually offside. When any member of his XV. kicked for touch, his reason for this at once made itself clear. He used to rush ahead and indicate the spot where he judged the ball to have crossed the line into touch. He always gave his side from ten to twenty yards, and, as he was an important figure locally, nobody ever dared to contradict him.

The Creator of "Alice."

The first centenary of importance to be celebrated this year is that almost international one, the birth of C. L. Dodgson (better known as Lewis Carroll) on January 22nd, 1832.

Dodgson stated that the writing of "Alice" took him two years from that day when, "in a desperate attempt to strike out some new line of fairy-lore, I had sent my heroine straight down a rabbit-hole, to begin with, without the least idea what was to happen afterwards." During the two years which followed the first draft, illustrated with his own designs, he refined and extended the original. "Sometimes an idea comes at night," he wrote, "when I have to get up and strike a light to note it down—sometimes when out on a lonely winter walk, when I had to stop and with half-frozen fingers jot down a few words which should keep the new-born idea from perishing—but, whenever or however it comes, it comes of itself. . . ."

Like W. S. Gilbert, he illustrated his earliest work until he discovered ideal illustrators in Tenniel and Harry Furniss. He was, however, but a poor draughtsman, though he took it as seriously as he did his mathematics. On one occasion he went so far as to consult Ruskin, who replied, in a rare glimpse of humour, that he had not enough talent to make it worth his while to devote much time to sketching, but everyone who saw his photographs admired them.

A Rare Edition.

Dr. Rosenbach created a vogue in "Lewis Carroll" first editions when he purchased the manuscript of "Alice in Wonderland," but it was the author who unwittingly created his own rarest edition. He paid for every single item in the production of his own books, receiving the usual trade commission. Being dissatisfied with the binding of a book, he recalled as many copies as possible, and then made an announcement that he would send a copy of the edition free to any purchaser who would return to him the copy of the previous issue. He considered that the production was unworthy of even the slight merit which he accorded to his own work.

Date Legends.

There is a Mohammedan tradition that when Adam was ejected from Paradise he was permitted to carry away three things—a myrtle, because of all flowers it bore the loveliest smell; an ear of wheat, because that cereal yielded the greatest nourishment; and a date, because it was the earth's most excellent fruit. In some mysterious fashion this same date found its way to the Hedjaz, from which country, it is claimed, all the date palms of the earth originate. Allah ordained that the date should be the food par excellence for all true believers, who, in virtue of their partaking of the sacred fruit, should conquer every country to which the date palm might be introduced.

By both Jews and Arabs the date palm is often considered as an allegory of the life of human beings; for, like them, the tree dies when its head is severed, and, if a branch or limb is cut off, it will not grow again. Further, the date palm is said to use a mystic language which few can understand. When there is no wind the tree whispers to the initiated, among whom Abraham was numbered, of future events.

QUIDNUNC.

DUBLIN WRITERS' CLUB.

WANTED, A MINISTRY OF FINE ARTS.

"Whither are we going?" was the title of Mr. Frank H. O'Donnell's address as chairman last night at the opening of the session of the Dublin Writers' Club.

Reviewing the movement in drama, poetry and fiction during the past year, Mr. O'Donnell said that he thought that if Ireland, from the literary point of view, had done nothing of note, she had at least discovered dramatic genius in Denis Johnston, whose "Moon in the Yellow River" was about to be produced by the Theatre Guild of New York. He paid a tribute to the adventurous spirit of the Gate Theatre, in embarking upon new dramatic forms. He also commended the small producing societies, and particularly Mr. John T. Hennigan, who had been doing such good work at the Gate Theatre.

Mr. O'Donnell advocated the establishment of a Ministry of Fine Arts in the next Dail, no matter what party was elected. The one aspect of modern Ireland that had been entirely neglected by political parties had been the cultural aspect. He did not think it sufficient that a Government should subsidise the Abbey and the Gaelic players alone. There should be a general spirit of co-operative appreciation between the State and its literary citizens. Such co-operation could never come into being without co-ordination of control between a Ministry of Fine Arts and such littérateurs.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. O'Donnell on the motion of Mr. J. McCann, seconded by Mr. R. Norton.

IRISH PUBLIC RECORDS.

A VALUABLE DEPARTMENT.

THE fifty-sixth report of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of State Papers in Ireland has just been presented to the Free State Government, and is issued for publication. The report, which is signed by Mr. James R. Morrissey, Assistant Deputy Keeper of the Records, covers the work of the Department from 1924 to 1928. Frequent references are made to the destruction of the Record Office at the Four Courts, Dublin, in 1922, and to the difficulties thereby caused, as well as to the loss of valuable documents.

Incidentally it is mentioned that the military guard put on the Record Office in 1922 was withdrawn on 7th March, 1924. Progress was made with the tedious and difficult operation of sorting out such salvage as was recovered from the ruins. In many cases where the documents were preserved the number and title were missing, and it frequently was necessary to examine all the contents to establish their identity. Space was difficult to get for storing documents, and use was made of the Chapel Royal, the State Paper Office, and Record Office House.

When the Chapel Royal was required for a court, it was necessary to remove the documents thence to the Record Office, thus causing further congestion.

APPEAL TO SOLICITORS.

The Deputy Keeper acknowledges the assistance received from many solicitors, who made valuable presentations, and he hopes that others will do likewise. Though a great part of what was destroyed cannot be replaced, he says that a valuable testamentary collection could be brought together if solicitors would co-operate. The Land Commission was one department from which most help might be expected.

The report contains a series of appendices setting out various records, testamentary and matrimonial, Chancery records, maps, and other documents, as well as extracts from new collections acquired within the past few years.

THE EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS.

MOTOR CARS IN THE PHŒNIX PARK.

In order that special arrangements can be made for the transport of visitors from the provinces to Dublin on the occasion of the Eucharistic Congress, the Congress Committee are urging the clergy throughout the country to apprise local railway officials of the numbers likely to travel on the several days of the main ceremonies.

Considerable progress has been made with the erection of the altar in the Phœnix Park, but it has been found that motorists visiting the site drive their cars across the grass, leaving ugly tracks in the ground, and the Committee ask that motorists shall keep to the roads and avoid damaging the grass.

SEEDS OF DISCONTENT.

When it was reported at Glamorgan Agricultural Committee yesterday that lectures on horticulture had been given at Cardiff and Swansea Prisons, a Councillor said that after one of the lectures at Cardiff some of the prisoners went to the Governor and protested against the lectures, as they were not included in their sentences.

Lord Haddington, who was injured when his horse fell at Leicester Races, on Tuesday, and was removed to a private hospital, spent a comfortable night.

AMERICAN PRIZE-WINNER IN DUBLIN.

Mr. Harry Kernan, of East Orange, New Jersey, U.S.A., called personally yesterday at the office of the Hospital Sweeps' Auditors, and was handed a cheque for £15,000, the prize won by him in the Manchester November Handicap Sweepstake for drawing Signifer, who ran second. He was accompanied by Mr. Hugh F. Brennan and Mr. Leonard G. Brown, his legal representatives. The photograph, taken outside the National Bank, Dublin, shows (left to right) Mr. Hugh Brennan, Mr. Harry Kernan, Mr. Leonard Brown and Mr. J. O'Sheehan (Director of Publicity to the Irish Hospitals' Trust, Ltd.).

DEAF MUTES SPEAK.

DRAMA AT SAINT JOSEPH'S, CABRA.

BENEFIT OF SKILFUL TRAINING.

A DRAMATIC performance by deaf mutes was given last night at St. Joseph's, Cabra, Dublin, an institution for the education of deaf and dumb boys.

The subject was a Christmas play, "The Three Kings," written by the Superior, the Rev. Brother Keegan. Its acting was a remarkable demonstration of the high degree to which the intelligence of persons deprived of hearing and speech may attain by means of careful, scientific training. The play is written in nine scenes, and was presented not by silent show, like charades of living tableaux, but by means of the sign and manual system taught at St. Joseph's. The actors spoke in the characters they performed. Often with marked dramatic force, and always with fully expressed statement, the story was mutely told, as if it had been done by sound.

The keen, receptive eyes of the deaf mutes in the audience made it plain that the "words" were "heard" and the play understood.

The staging of the play, the scene-painting and carpentry, and the appropriate dressing of the characters must be commended. The acting in many of the parts showed that genuine histrionic sense had been awakened by those who trained this deaf and dumb company.

INSTITUTION'S WORK.

There are about a hundred and fifty inmates in the institution, and it could provide for fifty or sixty more. In the Free State there are many more than that number of boys whose unhappy condition entitles them to education such as is given by the Christian Brothers at Cabra. The boys received into this institution are not mentally defective; they are persons capable of being developed into self-respecting citizens. More than ninety-four per cent. of the pupils who have passed through St. Joseph's now are self-supporting citizens of the Free State. Fifty of them are employers, some having businesses or trades, in which they engage four or five hands.

Notwithstanding the beneficial results of the education given in this institution, during last year twenty-eight deaf mutes—two of them in Dublin—were deprived of the privilege of education by their parents or guardians. Some are suffering like deprivation because their parents are too poor, or are unwilling to comply with the demands of the County Councils for a regular small contribution to their support. The misguided affection of grieving parents often is a stumbling block in the way of their defective children, with the result that when in time they are left with no one to care for them they become a burden on the State.

NOT TOO LATE.

Even in the most neglected cases, where the intelligence is unimpaired there is hope and good reason for belated education. An inmate of Cabra, recently admitted, is forty-four years of age, and, as the result of the Lord Mayor of Dublin's appeal to parents, eight children were lately admitted, who but for this would probably have shared that ignorance which is the lot of the uneducated deaf mute.

President Cosgrave and Professor O'Sullivan, Minister for Education, next Sunday will attend a performance of "The Three Kings" by the deaf mute actors at St. Joseph's, Cabra.

NAAS R.F.C. DANCE.

It will be seen from our advertising columns that Nas na Riog, the ballroom of Mrs. Lawlor, at Naas, will be opened to-morrow with the annual dance of the Naas Rugby Football Club.

When John Marchmont, described as a painter, was sentenced at Dorset Quarter Sessions, at Dorchester, yesterday to five years' penal servitude for stack-firing it was stated that he had already served eight years' penal servitude for similar offences.

TRADITIONAL MUSIC.

IRELAND'S RICH POSSESSION.

HOW TO GET THE BEST OUT OF IT.

From a Correspondent.

WHAT we really want to do is to get the best out of our Irish national music, and apply to it the modern technique, as far as circumstances will permit, said Mr. Carl Hardebeck to me yesterday, when I met him at the Dublin Broadcasting Studio. He was lost in the imagery of one of his own piano compositions, which he was playing so beautifully that I felt loth to interrupt; but when I asked him to develop the ideas on Irish music, which he had touched on at the Rotary Club on Monday last, he became quite enthusiastic about a subject to which he has devoted a lifetime of effort.

The trouble in this matter, he said, is that you have two classes of Irish music—the one, what I would call Anglo-Irish, and the other, the older Irish music, represented in the traditional airs and folk-songs. Stanford and Graves are splendid—the nonpareil of Anglo-Irish music. A marvellous thing about Graves is the lyrical beauty of his songs. And when he was writing on patriotic subjects he forgot that he was a Unionist, and gave us the real thing; but, after all, these are only artificial folk-songs, because Graves but turned the different old tunes to suit his own words. They are creations of his own, and are consequently artificial folk-songs. With the Gaelic folk-songs you have the real old tunes to the written words. Bunting, in his collection, had introduced into the airs so many accidentals and changes that the harpers could not play them. Then Moore, and others, followed with other changes to suit themselves.

THE REAL CONDITIONS.

It was only when the Gaelic League came along that we found out what were the real conditions and found out something about the scales and rhythm. In the Gaelic music rhythm is a most complex affair. It is not a matter of time, or of so many beats to the bar, but something more. In the finest Irish songs the principle of rhythm is to follow the spoken word, to sing as you read. The accents should fall as they do in reading Gaelic poems. I found out that years ago, said Mr. Hardebeck, and I have endeavoured in the "Gems of Irish Melody," and other publications of mine, to get the thing down as near as I could to the actual traditional method of singing. We have got to get rid of the hard-and-fast rule of the bar line. You cannot have bars or beats in Irish music; the poetry will not let you. The music of the Gaelic songs was influenced by the language, just as the music of the old Provence troubadours was influenced by the language of their day. There was a very marked resemblance between plain-song and Gaelic singing; so much so that one might be called the twin sister of the other.

Mr. Seumas Clandillon and his wife, Mairgread ni hAnnagain, and Sheila and Seumas Hallissey were the people who showed us what traditional singing really was.

Some time ago, before I came to Dublin, there was a class started for unison singing in Gaelic. We meet once a week, and sing simple Irish airs in unison, and later on I hope to arrange accompaniments for these, which will be helpful, so that we can try to establish circles throughout the country. We have got to compete with people who like jazz and comic songs. We must look for Irish songs that are bright and jolly, and not expect the people to be all the time sad and mournful.

TRADITIONAL MUSIC.

Some people talk about the foundation of a school where this singing ought to be taught, and we are trying to get the Vocational Education Committee to take up a scheme which has been prepared for teaching the theory of Irish traditional music and its practice.

I think, myself, that the musical schools that we have throughout the country should try to back the case up. This should be part of the curriculum of the schools, and what you have to teach is the theory of the scales and of rhythm, and the special lines that govern the harmonisation of the melodies, and such like. Of course, the ordinary rules of harmony and composition hold good, but there is this difference—that in Irish music you are dealing with special scales and the old modes of plain chant. One of the finest trials any man could have for Gaelic singing is to learn to harmonise plain chant.

We want, also, if we can, to keep alive the Uillean pipes, and in this connection we hope to get pipes made at a reasonable price, and made available at schools for practice. There is nothing more beautiful for dance music than the Uillean pipes.

But, went on Mr. Hardebeck, everything must be a failure until we get our Dublin printers to undertake the printing of Irish music. The English printers do not want it, and will do nothing for it. We must have the thing done for ourselves by ourselves. We have men enough capable of doing this.

AESTHETIC ASPECT.

The æsthetic value of Irish music, especially the higher grades, cannot be too much stressed. It is beyond reproach, and stands on a par, so far as human appeal is concerned, with the best specimen of classical music. Sir Hubert Parry, an Englishman, said that the Irish melodies are the most human in their appeal of any folk songs in the world.

The preservation of the old songs and the future development of a distinctive Irish music depended on the language, Mr. Hardebeck went on to explain. He pointed to the case of Haydn, who was a Bohemian, but whose music showed throughout the influence of the Viennese school, in contrast with the music of Smetana and Dvorak, who, following in the wake of the Bohemian language revival, composed music based on the idioms of the Bohemian folk songs. In the same way they had Grieg, whose music reflected the literature and folk songs of the Scandinavian peninsula. There was no reason why the Irish should not found and develop a school of music of their own. What you need to do is to take up music thoroughly and seriously, said Mr. Hardebeck; go in for all that can be learned of the modern art of music, and apply that to the traditional idiom. It is very difficult to say what the future will be, but certainly if we are going to give birth to anything it must be borne of the womb, not of Anglo-Irish music, which has no particular characteristics, but of Gaelic music, born of the Gaelic language and springing from the native language of the country, just as happened in Bohemia, Hungary and the Scandinavian peninsula. Unfortunately a good many of our Irish musicians know nothing about the Irish language, but there are some young men I have met who know the language and the music of the country, and who ultimately will, I think, be good Irish musicians.

STAG'S SWIM IN THE SEA.

SUMMONSES AGAINST HUNT DISMISSED.

Two members of the Mid-Kent Hunt were summoned at Hythe yesterday for causing unnecessary suffering to a tame deer by unreasonably hunting it, and for ill-treating and terrifying it. The Bench held that cruelty had not been proved, dismissed the summonses, and allowed the defendants costs up to fifteen guineas against the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which had brought the summonses.

The defendants were Captain E. S. Dawes, of Boughton, near Ashford, the Master, and Captain R. H. Fox, of Ashford, the Secretary.

The prosecution suggested that the animal was released at Aldington, was hunted for six miles, and then entered a rough sea at Hythe, swimming in the direction of Sandgate. The next morning it was seen at Hythe, having travelled from Sandgate, and it re-entered the sea. A boat followed it, and the deer was captured in a "terrified condition."

The defence was that there was no cruelty punishable under the Protection of Animals Act. The hunting of captive animals was permitted, and it was ridiculous to suggest that the stag was a domestic animal, as the Society had done.

Alec Hanson (28), a miner, of Tow Law, Durham, was committed for trial at Consett, yesterday, charged with the murder of John Thomas Mather, his next-door neighbour.

THE NATIONAL LIBRARY.

Many improvements have been carried out at the National Library, Kildare street, Dublin, including the installation of the reading desks, of Adams design, seen in the above photograph.

ON THE WIRELESS

ORCHESTRAL CONCERT FROM GALWAY.

AT the concert to be relayed from Galway to-night by the Dublin Station the soloist will be Miss May Fogarty, whose recitals with her sister, Mrs. J. V. Joyce, are an interesting feature of 2RN programmes. Miss Fogarty, who is a daughter of the late County Secretary for Galway, Mr. W. G. Fogarty, comes of a musical and literary family. She is an Honours Graduate of the National University in Literature and Economics, and studied the violin under Hans Wessely and Albert Sammons in London, and at the Royal Irish Academy of Music. During her college course she was appointed Conductor of the University Choral, Orchestral and Operatic Society by the Governing Body of U.C.G., and has written several articles on music and travel. Some time ago the sisters gave a very successful recital from the London B.B.C. National Studios, and to-night Miss Fogarty will broadcast a De Beriot Concerto and some favourite violin solos by special request. Other items of the Galway programme are some songs of the Irish Gaels by the Choral Class, and items by the Band of the Irish Christian Brothers. The finale, the Humouresque (Dvorak), Hungarian Dance (Brahms), will be by Miss Fogarty, accompanied by the band.

WOMEN'S PART IN THE BRITISH LEGION.

GOOD WORK OF DUBLIN CENTRAL BRANCH.

The Central Branch, Women's Section, of the British Legion held the first quarterly meeting of the year at the Royal Hibernian Hotel, Dublin, and, in the absence of the Chairman (Mrs. Jameson), Miss Trumbull (vice-chairman) presided.

The hon. secretary (Mrs. Loughridge) and hon. treasurer (Mrs. R. H. Lambert) reported on the work achieved during the quarter. Relief work showed an expenditure of £371 7s. 4d., and some accounts in connection with Christmas relief—amounting to another £100—had still to be paid, and the members were urged to greater efforts to augment the current account.

The Donnybrook Dramatic Society are to repeat the play "The Whole Town's Talking" in the Rathmines Town Hall to-day, and it is hoped that a substantial sum will be realised towards the relief funds.

Mrs. R. W. Smith, in her report on coal relief, said that 138 bags had been delivered, together with many more, the account for which she had not had yet. In order to help the coal fund, she was organising a bridge tournament in February, and hoped for co-operation.

Miss Jackson's report on the training classes for ex-Service men's children stated that during the quarter three girls over fourteen years had been placed in good situations. Miss Craig-Davidson had taken all the children to the Gaiety pantomime at her own expense. The Children's annual concert would be held in the Molesworth Hall on Thursday, the 21st inst., the proceeds going to defray the cost of clothing for the girls and to pay the expenses of the hall where the classes were held.

After reviewing the reports, the Chairman stated that she had arranged a bridge tournament for January 23 at Malahide in aid of her boot fund, and that the third Donnybrook Fair would be held next June, the members present responding generously by volunteering their services for eight of the stalls.

It was reported that Mrs. Culverwell had given £10 towards the clothing fund, and Mrs. Law £5, Mrs. West £5, and Mr. George Jameson £5 towards the relief fund.

Mrs. John Healy, Mrs. Law and Miss Wintle were elected vice-presidents.

NEW MASONIC ANNUITANTS.

The stated meeting of the Governors of the Victoria Jubilee Masonic Annuity Fund was held yesterday in Freemasons' Hall, Molesworth street, Dublin, when the report of the scrutineers of the ballot for the election of eleven annuitants was read.

It was unanimously resolved that the eleven candidates who obtained the highest number of votes be elected. Accordingly Nos. 10, 27, 24, 3, 13, 15, 2, 31, 21, 26, and 9 on the ballot list were declared duly elected annuitants of the fund

Set Fire to Her House.

Tuam Woman Sent To Prison.

From Our Own Correspondent.

GALWAY, Wednesday.

At Galway Circuit Court to-day, before Judge Wyse Power, Mrs. Mary Mitchell, Bishop street, Tuam, was found guilty of setting fire to the house in which she was living.

James Mulcrone, a native of Balcara, Co. Mayo, and a lodger in Mrs. Mitchell's house at the time of the fire, swore that when he came to the house on that night he knocked and got no answer. He went around to the back, and he heard the crackling of sticks, as if they were burning. He and William Meehan tried to open the back door, but failed, and then Meehan and John Lyden got in through a window, but had to come out again owing to smoke. John Lyden broke open the back door with a churn dash, and they succeeded in extinguishing the fire, which was in a small room off the kitchen.

William Meehan gave evidence that when he got into the house he saw the fire in the little room off the kitchen. The fire was under a bed, but there was no mattress on the bed, and there was no furniture in the room. Mrs. Mitchell gave no assistance in putting out the fire. On going upstairs Mrs. Mitchell told him he could not go up there at all.

THE LIGHTED CANDLE.

John Lyden swore that he extinguished the fire, and while he was in the room he heard someone outside say that there was another fire upstairs. On going upstairs he met Mrs. Mitchell, with a lighted candle in her hand, coming down, and he asked her to go up the stairs again. She did so, slowly, and on the landing she said to him not to go into the room; that he would be smothered. He opened the door of the room, and found a mattress, soaked with paraffin oil, on the floor. The mattress was burning.

Miss Nelly Meehan gave evidence that she was standing in the yard, and saw Mrs. Mitchell go upstairs with a lighted candle and lower it to the ground. Immediately there was a gush of flame. She ran in and said to Mrs. Mitchell that she was going to tell the Guards that Mrs. Mitchell had burned the house.

Mr. J. S. Corry, manager, Ulster Bank, Tuam, gave evidence that the bank held a mortgage on Mrs. Mitchell's premises for £600. The premises were insured in the joint names of the bank and Mrs. Mitchell for £1,700.

Patrick Finnegan, agent, Irish National Assurance Company, Tuam, said that Mrs. Mitchell took a policy with him for her furniture for £300.

Sergeant Ruddy, Tuam, swore that in a room upstairs he found a mattress on the floor, which smelled strongly of paraffin oil. The mattress was burning. There was no furniture in the room. In a second room he found a wardrobe, in the corner of which was a petrol tin containing about a pint of paraffin. A third room was bare of furniture.

CHARGE DENIED.

Mrs. Mitchell, in evidence, denied starting any of the fires, and said that she was at Confession when the fires began. She went for help, but could not get anyone.

After an absence of half-an-hour the jury found her guilty, and recommended her to mercy.

The Judge, in sentencing her to twelve months' imprisonment with hard labour, said that she had been found guilty of a very serious crime, and if a man were found guilty on a similar charge he would be sentenced to a term of penal servitude.

Boy Charged with Assault On Civic Guards.

From Our Own Correspondent.

CARRICK-ON-SHANNON, Wednesday.

At Drumshambo District Court to-day Justice Rice investigated a charge of assault on Sergeant James Kelly and Guard Brian Connaughton, Drumshambo, at Cornashamsogue on December 14th last, preferred against Anthony Barry, jun., a farmer's son, of Barnancenagh.

Mr. P. Canning, solicitor, who defended, intimated that Barry wished the case to be sent forward for trial.

Sergeant Kelly said that on the date in question they were investigating a case of cattle-maiming, and they went to the house of the defendant. When he asked the defendant to account for his movements on Sunday, December 13th, he adopted a hostile attitude. Witness looked around and saw the defendant struggling with Guard Connaughton, and he ran to the Guard's assistance. Defendant had Guard Connaughton gripped by the throat. Witness released his hold on the Guard, and as soon as he did he turned around and attempted to strike witness. Defendant continued to resist, and endeavoured to strike the Guard. They overpowered defendant after a struggle lasting ten or fifteen minutes. He used filthy expressions, and the mother rebuked the boy for the manner in which he was behaving. When he became calm they released their hold on him, and he endeavoured to strike his mother, using a filthy expression towards her. Witness arrested the defendant. Had he conducted himself he would not have done so. In the barracks he used bad language, and challenged the Guard to fight him.

Guard Connaughton corroborated.

Justice Rice regretted that he could not deal with the case owing to the decision taken at the beginning by the defence.

Returning the defendant for trial to the next Carrick-on-Shannon Circuit Court on bail of £50 and two sureties of £25 each, the Justice said that if the case had been left to his Court the defendant would have been very easily dealt with.

Drink at Dances

District Justice's View.

KILKENNY, Wednesday.

At the Kilkenny District Court yesterday the Very Rev. C. Canon Cavanagh, P.P., V.F., St. Canice's, and the administrators of the other three city parishes raised certain objections to the granting of an application by Senator the Countess Dowager of Desart for a licence for Desart Hall as a place for public dances and entertainments.

Mr. F. M. J. Lyons, solicitor (Messrs. James Roe and Lyons), who represented Lady Desart, said that Dr. M. J. Crotty, State Solicitor, who was acting on behalf of the clergy, had made certain suggestions as to conditions that should be annexed to the licence, among them being that dancing should cease at 2.30 a.m.; that there should be no dancing on Saturdays or Sundays or on the eve of Church holidays; that practice dances should cease at 11 p.m.; that no alcoholic liquor be allowed to be sold at dances, and that no person under eighteen should be allowed to attend unless properly chaperoned. The last-named condition would not be pressed. Lady Desart was agreeable to a condition that dancing should cease at 4 a.m., and was quite in agreement with the suggestion that there should be no dances on Saturdays or Sundays or on the eve of Church holidays. Her ladyship was of the opinion that 11 o'clock was much too early to conclude practice dances, and as regards the sale of intoxicating liquor, she was in favour of a condition that it should not be sold after 1.30 a.m. at any dance.

SAFEGUARDS.

Dr. Crotty said that the priests did not take up this thing in any puritanical spirit; they wanted to see people amusing and enjoying themselves, but they wished to have proper safeguards provided.

Dealing with the question of drink at dances, Dr. Crotty said that the clergy were painfully aware of the results that ensued from it, and they had taken up the attitude that no drinking facilities should be allowed at dances.

District Justice Molloy—And what will be the result? Every man will have a bottle in his hip pocket.

Dr. Crotty—Some men will, but not every man. My clients are aware that for the younger, weaker and more inexperienced persons bars put dangers in their way that might otherwise be avoided.

Lady Desart, giving evidence, said that she was quite willing to agree that intoxicating liquor be not served at dances after 1.30 a.m. If the sale of liquor was forbidden altogether guests would bring it in their pockets, and there would be ten times the amount of drinking than where there was a well-conducted and well-controlled bar, and where people had to pay for what they consumed. As far as the bar was concerned, she thought that the fixing of the hours should be left to the discretion of the District Justice to whom application for an occasional licence would be made before each dance.

PEOPLE'S WELFARE.

Canon Cavanagh said that the clergy appreciated Lady Desart's action in agreeing to some of the restrictions they had suggested. They were chiefly concerned with the spiritual and moral welfare of the people. He would like it to be distinctly understood that the bishop and the clergy were not by any means opposed to reasonable amusement.

Mr. Lyons—Do you not think that any restriction of a drastic nature as regards bars at dances would provoke evasion and lead to people bringing drink into the hall?—I do not know if it would. I cannot answer that.

The Justice said that dances at which there was no legalised bar were far more drunken affairs than dances at which there was a properly supervised bar.

"Would you be surprised," he asked Canon Cavanagh, "that lady friends of mine who go to dances refuse to go to a dance at which there is no bar, because it is such a drunken affair?"

Canon Cavanagh—I would be very much surprised.

Chief Superintendent Murphy said that so far as he knew there was no abuse at dances in Desart Hall on the privilege of having drink sold there. The manner in which dances were conducted there was much to the credit of the people of Kilkenny.

LICENCE GRANTED.

The Justice said that it was far better to have drinking in the open than in the dark and less harm would be done. He granted the licence, and fixed the hours for the sale of drink at 10 p.m. to 4 a.m. With regard to practice dances, he fixed the hours at from 8 to 11 p.m. in winter, and 8 to 11.45 in summer, and added a condition that on the occasion of all-night dances the hall must be completely closed at 4 o'clock.

IRISH NEWS IN BRIEF.

An exceptionally good season for salmon fishing on the River Lee is anticipated, and it is stated that the prospects are better than they have been for many years past. The salmon are making their way up the river from the sea in great numbers, and, fortunately enough, weather conditions at the moment are extremely favourable. Owing to the recent heavy rains, the river is in flood, and the fish have no difficulty in making their way past the weirs.

Duties of Veterinary Inspectors.

Salaries Question.

At the annual meeting of the Munster Veterinary Inspectors' Association, which was held in Cork, the principal business was the consideration of the salaries offered by the Cork County Boards of Health for the carrying out of milk and meat inspections in the rural areas.

It was the considered opinion of those present that not one member of the profession could possibly undertake to fulfil the duties required of him with regard to milk and meat inspection in the rural areas for the entirely inadequate remuneration offered, either to their own satisfaction or that of the public who were most concerned. In some districts the salary offered for this important position was as low as £10 per annum. One member informed the meeting that he had been offered £25 for duties which would entail a mileage of 100 miles per week, which, at the very moderate estimate of sixpence per mile for car hire, would entail a weekly cost of £2 10s.; so that over £100 per annum would necessarily have to be expended, apart from professional duties altogether, for the privilege of earning £25 a year.

It was decided that a deputation, consisting of Messrs. S. R. J. Cussen, T. I. Alexander (Chairman), Captain P. C. Creagh, T. R. Mulcahy and C. P. Hynes (Hon. Secretary), should wait upon the county medical officer of health and lay the whole matter before him for his consideration.

Mr. C. P. Hynes said that he had been successful in getting the Waterford County Council to grant an annual leave of absence of a fortnight's duration to each veterinary inspector in their employment, and also a substitute while on such holiday, or during absence through illness, such substitute to be paid by the County Council. This decision had been since ratified by the Department of Agriculture.

Woman Dies After Making Deposition.

Portadown Assault Case.

PORTADOWN, Wednesday.

At a special Court which was held in Portadown last night, Bridget Larkin, Obins street, was charged before Mr. Robert Mason, J.P., with having on Christmas night wounded Maggie Faloon, causing her grievous bodily harm.

The Court was held at the residence of the injured woman.

The woman Faloon stated, in evidence, that on Christmas night she went into Mary McCann's after Joe Greaney about money he had taken from her. She felt him putting his hand in her pocket. Defendant hit her on the head with a shoe when she was in McCann's kitchen. She was making for the door when Joe Greaney hit her on the ankle, and she fell. She heard Mary McCann running up the stairs and shouting, "Murder! Murder!"

"Joe Greaney," witness proceeded, "kicked me on the face with his boot when I was on the ground, and Bridget Larkin hammered the head off me with a shoe she held in her hand. They beat me until another woman came in, and I shouted to this woman to save me."

Witness got out and into a friend's house. She was afterwards brought home by Sergeant Magill. She had two black eyes, a cut on her nose, and bruises on her body, legs, arms and head.

The injured woman died shortly after making her deposition.

The accused woman was remanded on bail of £20.

Blowing-Up of Safe.

Cork Circuit Court Sequel.

From Our Own Correspondent.

CORK, Wednesday.

A case was opened at Cork Circuit Court to-day in which Herbert Bolley, assistant manager of the Browhead Granite Co., County Cork, is accused of stealing £130 from their offices, and blowing up the safe with an explosive on September 17th last.

Mr. M. O'Driscoll, for the prosecution, stated that on the night of the explosion Bolley was in possession of the only available keys of the safe and magazine. After the occurrence he made attempts to throw the blame on four different people. His financial transactions were peculiar, and he tried to change the Irish pound notes into English ones. When the Guards searched his house they found a considerable amount of money there. The State was in a position to prove that a few days after the outrage Bolley had £83 in Irish pound notes in his possession. The money in the safe amounted to £127, of which £85 was in pound notes.

Mr. C. W. Hellier, general manager of the company, stated that when the explosives in the magazine were checked afterwards a certain amount was found to be missing.

Cross-examined, he said that Bolley occasionally lent money for payment of wages, but he did not think that this ever amounted to £50.

Evidence was then given by Commandant D. J. Stapleton, Ordnance Inspector, Free State Army, who described the condition of the offices after the explosion. In his opinion, he said the safe had been blown up by means of an explosive placed inside it, and he thought that the explosive used was of the ammonial type. He found the fragments of several notes lying round and seventeen and a half feet of used fuse.

After several other witnesses had given evidence for the prosecution, the case was adjourned till to-morrow.

Proposed New Fares In The North.

BELFAST, Wednesday.

Interesting evidence in regard to the "life" of an omnibus and the amounts which should be allowed for depreciation was given to-day before the Northern 'Bus Fares Tribunal—Sir Lynden Macassey, K.C. (Chairman); Mr. D. L. Clarke, O.B.E., and Mr. A. Robinson, Barrister-at-Law—by Mr. Albert Morrison, accountant to the Belfast Omnibus Company. He said that the company at present had 12 cars of 1925 make, 6 of 1926; 76, 1927; 50, 1928; 6, 1929; 9, 1930, and 21, 1931. He thought, as an accountant, that five years was the proper life of a 'bus.

Mr. Pringle—You realise that upon some of the routes it would not be proper to raise the fares to the general standard you have been asking?—I rather think it would not be expedient.

In expedient what do you include? Is it that you would choke off traffic?—Exactly, we do not want to lose our traffic or incur too much public odium. It is clear that it might impose in certain places too much burden on the travelling public immediately.

Mr. Pringle (to witness)—Did you put it to the Tribunal that your present fleet is worth only £37,000 or £78,000?—Yes.

Mr. Pringle contended that a five-year life was too short a basis on which to compute depreciation, and would leave the company with a surplus value on their fleet.

Cross-examined by Dr. Maginess, witness said that in fixing the proposed new Lurgan fare they consulted with the Great Northern Railway Co. They proposed 2s. 2d. single, 3s. return.

Are you aware whether, or not, the rail fares from Belfast to Lurgan will come into the arrangement entered into between the G.N.R. and B.O.C.—They do.

I take it then that the result of these proposed fares, if acquiesced in by the Tribunal, will have the effect of raising not only the 'bus fares to Lurgan, but the rail fares, the return from 2s. to 3s.?—I am not sure of the amount, whether 3s. or not. It will all depend on the decision of the Tribunal.

In reply to Dr. Maginess, witness explained in detail how the basic fare of 1½d. a mile was arrived at. He denied that amount was a blind step.

Dr. Maginess—Is it true that these fares will yield the B.O.C. 7 per cent.?—I hope they do.

THE RETURN FARE.

Mr. Arthur H. Hankins, managing director of the East Surrey Traction Company, Autocar Services, Ltd., and operating manager of Green Line Coaches, in reply to Mr. Whitaker, stated that he had been operating motor 'buses for twenty-one years. Witness outlined the circumstances that guided his concerns in fixing fares, and said that their charge worked out at 1½d. a mile up to twelve miles. After that it worked out for the rest of the road at 1d. per mile. It did not go below a penny. There was no return fare, as they considered that the single fare was a fair rate to charge.

Proceeding, witness said that one of the elements to be taken into consideration in fixing rates was whether the vehicles used were of small or large carrying capacity. His concerns had approximately 75 per cent. of the fleet in double-decker 'buses, and the B.O.C. had only five such vehicles. The expense of working a double-decker was much less per passenger than the expense of a single-decker. The operating cost of his concern was 2½ per cent. less than the B.O.C., but he considered the B.O.C. expenses quite reasonable. Extra had to be paid for supplies of petrol, tyres, etc., in Belfast. He considered that the basic fare of 1½d. a mile proposed by the B.O.C. was very reasonable.

Mr. E. S. Murphy, K.C., opened the case for the London, Midland, and Scottish Railway Company and the Great Northern Railway Company. He said that the L.M.S. started to operate in 1929, and the total sum invested by the company in the 'bus undertaking was £298,267, made up of £93,879 paid for 'buses, £72,339 for goodwill, and £42,040 in respect of acquired buildings. The number of 'buses acquired was 114, and of those 50 had disappeared from service. The number of vehicles operated by the company was on an average 70 in the winter months, and [illegible] in the summer. The actual number licensed in the summer was 99, and in the winter 84. The total owned by the company was [illegible], and the routes operated numbered 35.

The individual fares they proposed to revise if the Tribunal granted the application numbered 7,673. Of those 2,975 would be increased, 2,545 would be decreased, and 2,153 would be unchanged. It was expected, if there was no decrease in traffic, that the new fares would increase the receipts by a little over £15,000, and allow £6,000 over and above the actual working expenses.

As to the Great Northern Railway, eleven services were operated. Fifty-two 'buses were purchased at £31,220, £22,805 was paid for goodwill, and other assets amounted to £2,380. For the year ended December, 1930, receipts totalled £34,784 and the expenditure £41,162, representing a loss of £6,378, and for the nine months ended September last, receipts were £30,250 and the expenditure £36,825, a loss of £6,575. It was expected the revised fares would produce approximately £5,000.

CO-ORDINATION.

Major Malcolm Speir, Secretary and Manager L.M.S. (Northern Counties Committee), said that the 'bus service was less remunerative than the B.O.C., serving a less densely populated area. As a matter of general policy, they co-ordinated rail and road fares as much as possible. They did not propose to apply the proposed basic rate to season tickets for over fourteen miles. They proposed to give weekly tickets all over. Some places had not got them at present. Another twenty 'buses were on order for next year, as it was their object to give the public the best service possible.

To Mr. Pringle—On the new arrangement the monthly tickets would be limited in certain cases to one double journey per day. At present they were unlimited.

To Mr. Campbell—His company did not look with disfavour on road traffic.

The hearing was adjourned.

Alleged Threat to Murder

TIPPERARY, Wednesday.

"Remember Curtin and Ryan!"

These words were quoted from one of several letters sent through the post to Edward Jeffers and Andrew Kinehan, plate-layers in the employment of the Great Southern Railway, in a charge at Tipperary of intimidation and threatening to murder against Michael Murphy, Knocklong, who is also employed as a plate-layer on the railway at Limerick Junction.

Murphy also was charged with sending an intimidating letter to another railway employé, Patrick Hayes, residing at Limerick Junction.

Mr. F. J. O'Connor, State Solicitor, who appeared for the prosecution, alluding to the cases of Superintendent Curtin (Civic Guards) and John Ryan, farm labourer, both of whom were shot dead on the roadside in Tipperary district within the past few months, said that these two terrible events were fresh in the memory of everybody, and nobody could have any doubt that the threat in this letter was a direct threat to murder.

Within recent times, said Mr. O'Connor, there had been great changes in the working of the Great Southern Railway. In November, 1930, the accused man was paid off as a permanent workman, but was continued as a temporary hand up to September 5, 1931. On August 28 he received notice that this employment would cease, and that Edward Jeffers, who was employed at Kinsale, and who was a long-serviceman, would replace him at Limerick Junction. A few days after August 28 Jeffers, who had been notified of his transfer from Kinsale to Limerick Junction, received through the post the following letter:—"Take Notice! Keep clear of Limerick Junction. Remember Curtin and Ryan!—By Order."

SKULL AND CROSS-BONES.

Jeffers, as a result of being intimidated by this threat, refused to come to Limerick Junction, and his place was taken by Andrew Kinehan. Before his transfer to Limerick Junction, and while Kinehan was employed on the railway at Ballyrobin, near Dundrum, James Moore (ganger over Jeffers) received on October 4, through the post, a letter for the "new man" (Kinehan). This letter, which was garnished with a skull and cross-bones, had a crude drawing of a coffin with cadles around it. The letter stated:—"You are to leave Tipperary within 48 hours or suffer the consequences."

Kinehan, however, went to Limerick Junction and took up work there. He was at present seriously ill and could not attend the court. On October 9 Patrick Hayes, in whose house at Limerick Junction Kinehan lodged, received through the post a letter stating:—

"Beware! You are keeping a noticed man. Bad will follow if he is not gone in twenty-four hours."

On the letter also was a crude representation of a skull and cross-bones. These emblems of death also accompanied a letter enclosed in the letter to Hayes and addressed to Kinehan. This second letter to Kinehan stated:—

"This is your last chance to leave, so beware! Be gone in twenty-four hours."

Edward Jeffers, in evidence, said that it was because of this threat about the fate of "Curtin and Ryan" that he refused to come to Limerick Junction. He was now employed at Mourn Abbey, Co. Cork.

THE HANDWRITING.

Captain Quirke, handwriting expert, examined, produced four exhibits which were the acknowledged handwriting of Murphy. Comparing these with the threatening letters, the witness stated, that in his opinion all the threatening letters and the envelope, in which they were contained, were written by the same hand as the writing in Murphy's acknowledged hand, with the exception of the printed characters in one of the letters.

In cross-examination by Mr. D'Arcy, solicitor (for accused man), the witness said that he examined the letters microscopically and in detail, but he did not base his judgment on the microscopical examination alone. He also made certain measurements of the characters in the letters. He did not produce his notes of the measurements, as he did not consider it necessary to do so, and he said that it was absurd on Mr. D'Arcy's part to ask for their production.

A heated argument here ensued between Mr. D'Arcy and the witness.

Further cross-examined, Captain Quirke said that the notepaper used was in pretty common use, and could be purchased anywhere. The pencil with which the letters were written was of a type which could be found in the possession of almost any railway workman.

The further hearing of the case was adjourned, the accused man being re-admitted to bail.

The Half-Holiday.

Longford Council's Dilemma.

LONGFORD, Wednesday.

At the meeting of the Longford Urban Council to-day, there was an opposition petition to the general half-holiday closing signed by a large number of traders. It was explained that these traders were in favour of voluntary closing, but were against being compelled by law.

Mr. Maguire, solicitor, represented the Distributive Workers' Union. Mr. Brannigan, solicitor, represented the Council.

Mr. Brannigan said that they could not compel any particular trade to close without a two-thirds majority of that trade, and he understood that there was not a majority of the publicans, while there was of the drapers.

The Chairman, in view of that advice, refused to accept motions definitely naming a date for the holiday, but a motion, proposed by Mr. O'Reilly and seconded by Mr. Gibney, that Thursday be the date, provided that, before taking action, the trades concerned be in agreement, was passed by five votes to two.

Mr. Maguire said that his union were determined to compel the Chairman to accept the motions refused, and threatened a mandamus.

The Chairman said that he was only acting in the interests of the Council, in view of the advice of their solicitor. He was personally in favour of the closing.

The Eucharistic Congress.

Preparations in Longford.

LONGFORD, Wednesday.

A letter was read from the Rev. P. Gray, Adm., the Presbytery, Longford, at the meeting of the Longford Urban Council, stating that a general meeting of the townspeople would be called in the near future for the purpose of having the town decorated for Eucharistic Congress Week, and, as it would be necessary to occupy certain points in the side-walks and streets to carry this out, he asked the Council for the necessary permission.

The Chairman (Mr. M. P. Connolly, T.D.) said that the Council would co-operate in every way, and it might be possible to make a small grant to assist in the decoration of the town. He proposed that the request in the letter be granted. Mr. McKenna seconded, and it was passed unanimously.

Co. Derry Farm Fire.

From Our Correspondent.

DERRY, Wednesday.

For the third time within a month the Derry Fire Brigade was called beyond the city boundary, when to-day the engine from the Central Station made a sixteen miles run to an outbreak in the threshing mill at the farm of Thomas Fulton, Sallybank, Ballykelly.

The brigade made the journey in twenty minutes, and laid two lines of hose from a nearby stream.

Although eleven tons of sheaves of oats were destroyed, the firemen saved the outbreak from spreading to a shed containing many tons of hay, after a three hours' fight.

The Irish Times

THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 1932.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND

The dissolution of the Dail is not expected before the end of the present month. Polling may take place in February.—(Page 7.)

The report of the Irish Land Commission for the year ending March 31, 1931, was issued in Dublin last night as a Blue Book.—(Page 8.)

An ex-Service man dramatist, who has been unemployed for several years, has been appointed porter at Drumcondra Dispensary at a wage of two guineas a week.—(Page 8.)

The first national convention of cottier tenants in the Free State, which was attended by delegates from several counties, met in Dublin yesterday and called for an inquiry into the whole question of labourers' cottages with a view to formulating a scheme of purchase.—(Page 11.)

The Military Tribunal, sitting in Dublin yesterday, passed a sentence of three months' imprisonment on Sean O'Farrell, of Dromod County Leitrim, an ex-T.D., for contempt of Court by refusing to plead.—(Page 8.)

The Leix County Committee of Agriculture, at its meeting yesterday, protested against the increase in bacon prices since a tariff was imposed on imports, and called upon the Government to take immediate action in the matter.—(Page 13.)

Convicted of setting fire to her house in Bishop street, Trim, Mrs. Mary Mitchell was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment with hard labour by Judge Wyse Power at Galway Circuit Court.—(Page 5.)

The Northern Ireland Exchequer returns for the nine months ending December 31, 1931, show a deficit of £566,609. The revenue of the final quarter—the "fat" one—has yet to come in, however, and is expected to show a surplus on the year.—(Page 8.)

As a result of the heavy rains during Tuesday and part of yesterday further serious flooding is reported from many parts of the Free State.—(Page 7.)

A number of candidates in the Northern municipal elections withdrew yesterday. One nomination paper was declared invalid at Armagh and three at Newry.—(Page 8.)

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Royal Navy suffered considerably in the gale which swept the British Isles. An able seaman was drowned as the result of the swamping of a boat, and two of the crew of a destroyer were injured. Another destroyer broke down and had to be towed to port.—(Page 7.)

Two British cruisers are searching the English Channel for a steamship that sent out distress signals from the Plymouth region.—(Page 7.)

Great Britain suffered the full force of the gale which commenced on Tuesday and continued up to last night. Torrential rain accompanied the wind, rail and road services were held up, and considerable damage was done to property.—(Page 7.)

ABROAD.

The authorities in India continue to take the wind out of the sails of Congress, and the business communities in the chief centres have passed resolutions of support for the Government. Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru is to meet the Viceroy to-day.—(Page 7.)

SPORTING.

An agreed statement issued at the end of a conference between representatives of the National Athletic Association and the Northern Athletic Association indicates that the end is in sight of the dispute which has existed between the two bodies.—(Page 7.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets again closed on a firm note, with a further rise in gilt-edged securities.—(Page 12.)

Dublin Market was idle. Guinness units reached a lower level.—(Page 12.)

Sedition in Spain.

Nine months have passed since the Spanish people expelled their King, and the country still seethes with sedition and discontent. A day seldom passes without conflict between strikers or ordinary rioters and the police. It seemed for a while that the new Government had contrived to obtain a grip upon disorder, but the illusion has been shattered within recent weeks. Only last week a mob of strikers in Castilblanco attacked and murdered four members of the Civil Guard who attempted to quell a demonstration, and the Government was compelled to despatch a force of five hundred soldiers to the town. On Tuesday six people were killed and seventeen were injured during a disturbance at Arnedo. Not long ago thirty thousand men stopped work at Badajoz in order to drive an unpopular Civil Governor from office. Seven hundred are still on strike at Epila, in the Province of Saragossa; when the Civil Guard intervened to check a riot they were met by a volley of revolver shots that wounded two of their number, and, replying with rifles, they killed one man and wounded ten. A sudden strike broke out recently at Jerzea, in the Province of Valencia, and order was not restored until two persons had been killed and fourteen injured. Not only social, but political, discontent prevails in many quarters. The rumour of a coup d'état, aiming at a dictatorship in Barcelona, has been contradicted; but its very existence suggests that Catalonia is in a state of tension.

One fact which may explain this recurrence of the trouble is a loss of homogeneity in the Government. Three weeks ago Señor Azaña, the Prime Minister, formed the first Cabinet under the new Constitution. Before that time the conjoined Republicans and Socialists had composed a reasonably solid block of opinion, and their first resolve was to govern with, at least, some show of firmness. Unfortunately, while the Cabinet was being constituted, the Radicals chose to secede, and the existing Cabinet is predominantly Socialist. The Radicals, it is true, have promised to lend the Government every assistance, but such cooperation with a Government whose labours they are unwilling to share does not offer more than a shadow of reality. Their presence in the Cabinet might have forced the Government to take a genuinely strong attitude towards the prevailing disorder, for which not a few Spanish voices hold that Government responsible. A deputy in the Cortes recently, according to the Madrid Correspondent of The Times, stated that the calamity at Castilblanco and the general strike there were the result of a subversive campaign rather than "a phase in proletarian claims." The Prime Minister himself has been forced to protest against a strong suggestion that his Government's sympathies were with the rioters rather than with the slain Civil Guard.

Whatever may be the truth about the unfortunate affair at Arnedo, the stir which it has created shows clearly the violence of popular opinion both for and against the Government. Señor Azaña has a chance to restore order if he can control his colleagues in office, many of whom are frankly hostile to firm action against rioters. Yet what can be expected? It would be almost incredible that the Spanish mind should have passed through the last nine months without a loss of equilibrium. Within that time Spain has swept away the institutions and outlook of nearly two millennia. She has promulgated a constitution which in a night transformed her from the most conservative country in Europe to the most "advanced." The loyalties of generations were in her blood; they were cast away at a blow. Spain achieved her revolution too quickly. Centuries of conservatism, capped by several years of a rigid dictatorship, had unfitted the people for unrestricted liberty. The new régime was inaugurated under a communist banner, and what happened in Russia is almost precisely what is happening in Spain. We believe that Spain must pass through yet greater agonies before she can find any real peace. Strong government can speed the happy day; but the period of reaction must run a full course.

The Export of Eggs.

The development of the egg industry in the Irish Free State still leaves something to be desired. It is true that during the last few years a fluctuating rise in the export figures has been noticed—3,795,914 great hundreds of fresh hen eggs were shipped in 1924 and 4,284,864 great hundreds in 1930—but this slight increase appears to be wholly inadequate when the potentialities of the country are remembered. Criticism of the Free State's poultry farmers, moreover, is strengthened by the indefensibly high proportion of losses due to improper packing. Five per cent. of the eggs shipped in 1930, for instance, were stale, and thus fetched about four shillings a great hundred less than fresh eggs, while there were so many dirty eggs in the consignments that the price per great hundred was reduced by the amount which it would have cost to clean them. Since the repute of Irish eggs depends upon their condition, such fecklessness must be deemed a loss to the national exchequer. For none of these shortcomings can the Free State Government be blamed, but in certain districts poultry farmers have not supported its lead. Not only have they "chanced their arm" with inferior shipments—thus bringing Irish eggs into disfavour with British buyers—but in some cases they have tried to excite an agitation against the Department of Agriculture's meritorious concern for their own name. The Free State's egg trade with Great Britain alone is worth some three million pounds a year; and, with proper attention to detail, breeding and collection, this figure is capable of almost infinite expansion. A lack of co-ordination and esprit de corps, however, frustrates the achievement of such a goal. Poultry farmers are too prone to adopt an individualistic attitude towards their trade. There is no reason whatever why, if co-operative societies of sufficient magnitude were created to feed certain ports, the Irish Free State should not become the leader among the world's egg-producers. Bitter complaints by poultry-farmers about the importation of foreign eggs are frequent; but a constructive proposal to out-Herod Herod, as a rule, is conspicuous by its absence. Few commodities lend themselves better to manipulation with small capital than eggs. Exporters from Latvia to Britain usually draw their bills at thirty days to cover shipments, and in practice often have retrieved their money within fourteen. The journey from Dublin to Liverpool, or from Rosslare to Fishguard, is not more than a third of that from Libau to London or Hull; yet no really large concern has mobilised egg reserves to meet the opportunity. We draw the attention of the Free State's poultry farmers to their opportunity; the scheme would cost little to finance, but it would cost some effort in the sinking of individuality for the common weal.

Boys and History.

On Tuesday, in London, the Historical Association discussed the teaching of history. The speakers were all schoolmasters, and all were dissatisfied with the present teaching of history in English schools. One complained that there was too much "period," and not enough "subject," in the historical syllabus. Another said that an age fruitful in social reconstruction was presented merely as the time of the Wars of the Roses. A third made the old, and apparently still true, criticism that, while the teaching of history in schools ought to be a challenge to curiosity, it is, in general, a challenge to verbal memory. We think, however, that Mr. C. H. K. Marten, Vice-Provost of Eton College, got most nearly to the root of the matter when he said that historical courses ought to include a greater variety of books. The average boy likes to browse, and is more apt to be interested in what he reads for himself than in the discourses of teachers. Moreover, some books which are not history in the strict sense can inspire a devouring curiosity for history. Mr. Marten cited the cases of two Eton boys who became Prime Ministers of England: the careers of Lords Rosebery and Balfour were much influenced by Macaulay's "Essays," which both, as children, discovered for themselves. In all departments of learning one vivid appeal to the imagination is worth the lore of a thousand text-books. A writer in the current number of the London Mercury declares that Scott has been the victim of indiscriminate praise, and ought to be forbidden until the reader has turned twenty-five. This is a horrid heresy. Scott has made history a living thing for millions of young people. Many middle-aged Irishmen will testify that the first glory of romance came to them through "Ivanhoe," set as a "vacation task." For an English or Irish boy the best—incomparably the best—introduction to Roman history is Mr. Kipling's stories of the "Wall" in "Puck of Pook's Hill." We flout the objection that Macaulay is prejudiced and that the novelists are not exact. A little paint and a dash of powder enhance Clio's charms for the youthful reader. Knowledge of her austerities will come soon enough—perhaps, too soon.

Dutch Picture-Houses.

There is, at least, one European country where the sound film has failed to make headway. Holland, says The Hague Correspondent of The Times, has strikingly few picture-houses. In the United States there is one picture-house for every 4,800 inhabitants. One house caters for every 9,300 Englishmen, and one house for every 12,000 Germans. In Holland, on the other hand, there is only one picture-house for every 27,000 citizens. Moreover, Holland seems to possess a real distaste for the films. The American houses, for all their huge number, are filled six evenings a week; Germany and England fill theirs for three evenings in the week, while Holland's poor array is filled for only one and a half evenings in the week. This fact is the more curious because Dutch business men have played no mean part in the advancement of the sound film. Holland was the first country in Europe to finance the sound film industry to any serious extent, and for a long time she has had heavy financial interests in the equipment of cinematography. Certain of her financiers are making an effort to break down the public apathy, and they have arranged to hold an international exhibition of a comprehensive kind—it will be called "Klank and Beeld," or Sound and Film—in Amsterdam during May. Representatives of the industry in all countries have applied for space, and it is notable that important British and German undertakings are represented on the committee of honour. If a "boom" period for the film industry begins in Holland, the European companies will have an excellent opportunity to drive another wedge into the American monopoly.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

UNITY OF THE CHURCH.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Your correspondent "Patritius" has transferred his attention from the Celtic Church of St. Patrick to the African Church of St. Augustine. As I quoted the words of St. Augustine about the possible fallibility of Roman decisions (Si male judicasse convicti), I claim to be exempt from the charge of relying merely on his silence.

It is at least questionable if any reputable text-book on logic possessed by "Patritius" would condemn my appeal to the silence of another writing of St. Augustine. If a writer on the political constitution of Ireland made no mention of the Parliaments of the Free State and of Northern Ireland, we might legitimately conclude that these had not been set up when he wrote. Similarly the argument from silence is valid when we find the Saint treating of the unity of the Church and displaying no knowledge that it was a truth of Catholic teaching, "from which no one can deviate without loss of faith and of salvation," that unity is to be preserved by submission to, and communion with, the Roman Pontiff as Supreme Pastor. St. Augustine plainly states the question at issue between him and the Donatists—"Where is the Church; whether with us or with them?" His whole argument reveals not the slightest consciousness that Rome had any concern with the matter. When he does cite the names of distinguished prelates who share his communion it is the names of the Bishops of Milan and Milevis to which he appeals.

"Patritius" can find the treatise to which I refer—De Unitate Ecclesia—in Migne, Tome XLIII., col. 391.—Yours, etc.,

THE FREE STATE'S OUTLOOK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—While strolling down Whitehall two days ago I found that every window of the Foreign Office and of most other Government buildings had two posters affixed on alternate panes of glass, urging citizens to "Buy British." These notices are being distributed broadcast by the Empire Marketing Board. The following points are of interest to the Irish reader:—The Englishman says that his Budget must balance, but, whenever he tries to differentiate between his customers, he gets into deep water at once. A New Zealander told me in Dublin to-day, for instance, that, if an import duty of about 2d. a pound were put upon his Canterbury lamb, the same tariff ought to be put by England upon sheep and cattle from Ireland, because the Free State, too, is a British Dominion. The Irishman answers: "That is a preposterous idea. Here we are within three hours' steam of England, and we buy more from her in proportion than any other country buys. Yet you suggest that we pay a duty on our agricultural produce, without which England would well-nigh starve." "But," says the Englishman, "why does the Free State put a percentage duty on clothes, motor cars, woollen articles and other goods manufactured by us? What right have you Irish to expect preferential treatment over all our loyal colonies?"

There is, however, another way of looking at the matter. Many people in England to-day argue that the Argentine, which supplies them with so much beef and is so good a purchaser of English produce, ought to suffer no tariff on her imports into England. The Prince of Wales opened the British section of the Exhibition at Buenos Aires recently, and implored the Argentinos to "Buy more British" goods. "Surely," the Argentinos claim, "you are not now going to drive us out of the market?" Lastly, we have the financiers and bankers in London to-day, who, almost to a man, are opposed to any hostile tariff whatever against any foreign nation, French, German, or even Russian.

What chance, then, has the poor Irish farmer of selling any of his sheep, cattle or barley? What is the use of his growing any wheat, roots or anything, while the whole world is against him? Yet I think that we shall be able to hold our own, if only we will try to pull together a little with England, and do what the Empire Marketing Board is calling upon everybody to do—that is, to push right through with a shovel, showing the same energy that the Irish showed in 1798 and in 1867 with a pike, and so win through to prosperity, peace and happiness.—Yours, etc.,

THE PRICE OF BACON.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It was stated in the daily papers on Thursday and Friday last that Irish bacon was being retailed in Dublin at 1s. 6d. a lb., and it is stated to-day that the price has been advanced 2d. a lb. The advance of 2d. a lb. is uncalled for and unjustified. The bacon for which the shopkeeper charged 1s. 6d. a lb. was purchased from the curer at 7d., or at most 7½d. a lb., and why 1s. 6d. a lb. should be charged and paid passes comprehension. Take, for instance, a side of bacon weighing 56 lbs. At 66s. a cwt. it cost the shopkeeper 33s. He cut that side in two and sold the back, prime streak and corner gammon, all weighing approximately 30 lbs., at an average price of 1s. 3d. a lb. He now has a profit of 4s. 6d., with half a side of bacon left. We will assume that he sells the remaining 26 lbs. at 6d. a lb. The consumer can tell whether or not he got Irish bacon at 6d. a lb. from his grocer and draw his own conclusions therefrom. Our shopkeeper now has a gross profit of 17s. 6d. on every side of bacon sold.

Cosumers have no need to seek Government interference. They have the remedy in their own hands. Leave the bacon on the "profiteer's" counter until such time as he finds it is to his advantage to reduce his price to a reasonable level, and do not allow him to gull you with the excuse that the curers have advanced the price to him. The curers certainly have advanced the price to the shopkeeper by about 1½d. a lb., but even if they have, the shopkeeper can still afford to sell at the old price and have a handsome profit on his bacon. The tariff on bacon was designed to help the unfortunate pig-rearer, who has been losing heavily on every pig he reared for the past twelve months, and was not designed with a view to fleecing the consumer or enhancing the profits of the "profiteer."—Yours, etc.,

THE ROYAL IRISH ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—May I, as the senior of the three Governors representing the Academy's largest endowment—the "Coulson," yielding about £500 per annum—be permitted briefly to supplement the enlightenment of the public which my friend, Mr. Victory, has expressed a desire for in his letter to the Press, by stating that it will be open to him and the other members' Governors to co-opt from the roll of Academy members whomsoever they wish, and not necessarily any of the recently defeated candidates? Mr. Victory is aware of the fact that during the year 1931 a considerable number of new members paid £1 subscription, and became qualified to vote last month. Some of these members have joined within a few weeks of the election.

It may possibly be within the recollection of some of your readers that a few years ago, when the first attempt was made to elect Academy professors to the Governing Body, I protested publicly against employés of the latter occupying such an anomalous position. However, two of the professors were then elected, and another has just been successful. The scheme under which the Academy functions provided for the teaching staff to have official representation on the Board of Governors by the election annually by the "Board of Studies" of one of their members as their representative, thereby forming a connecting link between the professorial staff and the Governors, who are responsible for the general administration of the Academy, its finance, and the engaging and remunerating of all the staffs. The Board of Studies is at present represented by Mr Thomas H. Weaving.—Yours, etc.,

HILL PASTURES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Several years ago I came to the same conclusion as Professor R. G. Stapledon. My farms are at Aghal and Slaneagleagh, near the Giant's Grave, about thirty-two miles from Dublin, and anyone interested is welcome to see them. By barsing, stubbing, ploughing, and use of artificial manures, etc., these lands can be made to grow first class crops, or can be turned into the soundest of sheep-runs.—Yours, etc.,

LONDON LETTER.

FINANCIAL PROBLEMS.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, as Chancellor of the Exchequer, presided to-day over a meeting of the sub-committees set up by the Cabinet to review the financial position of the country and its trading possibilities. Other members of the Committee are Sir John Simon and Mr. Walter Runciman, who returned from holiday for the meeting. The Committee's ambition is very wide, and it is understood that the discussions included the question of reparations and war debts, in addition to financial matters of domestic importance. It is probable that, as a result of Mr. Runciman's return to London, a date will be arranged for his meeting with members of the Irish Free State Executive, which will take place shortly in London. Nearly all the members of the Cabinet will be back in London or its neighbourhood by the week's end, before the full meeting of the Cabinet, which is to be held on Tuesday next.

The Reparations Conference.

M. Laval's not unreasonable desire to be present at the opening of the session of the Chambre des Députés is likely to lead to another postponement of the Reparations Conference at Lausanne, though it may be only for a few days. It may also interfere with the meeting in London which Mr. Macdonald has been so anxious to convoke, and, instead of M. Laval's coming here, Mr. Macdonald may go to Paris en route for Lausanne, and spend a couple of days there in discussions with members of the French Government. It would be then a little late for the drawing up of a programme of common policy, but as much preparation as possible is being undertaken in order that points at issue may be discussed without delay. Mr. Macdonald will be away from London for nearly a fortnight if present expectations are fulfilled.

France's Receipts.

In both Paris and Berlin considerable attention is being paid just now to figures in connection with the Reparations Conference. In France the Finance Committee of the Chamber has resumed its examination of the 1932 Budget estimates, while in Germany the Government has prepared a statement dealing with payments made on account of reparations. According to Germany, the total already paid amounts to 55,000,000,000 marks, but, according to the American Institute of Economics, the amount paid by Germany is 38,400,000,000 marks. On the American estimate it is contended in Germany that France has received something like 19,000,000,000 marks, and that the amount expended on the reparation of war damage is less than 14,000,000,000 marks. The German Government's claim is that France has received more than the amount expended on reparation works.

The Indian Committees.

The situation in India will not prevent the departure of the three Parliamentary Committees appointed to continue the work on the Round Table Conference. The Committees will leave London on Thursday of next week, and on arrival in India they will be joined by a number of Indian representatives—mostly well-known men. Nothing has been decided yet about the meetings of the Committees or the chairmanship, which, it is expected, will be taken by the Secretary for India, Sir Samuel Hoare, while the Viceroy may preside over any joint deliberations arranged by the Committees. The Indian atmosphere is not exactly suited to delicate negotiations at the present moment, but it is hoped that by the time when the Committees arrive peace and quietude will have been restored. In political circles to-day it was remarked that the activities of the Indian Government are likely to avert much of the trouble expected on the arrest of Mr. Gandhi, and that they will encourage the peaceful citizen to carry on his business.

Britain and Scandinavia.

The Norwegian, Swedish and Danish Foreign Ministers are attending a conference which opened at Copenhagen to-day on the exchange situation and the commercial policy of the three nations. It is understood that this conference is a preliminary to negotiations with Britain with a view to British and Scandinavian co-operation on exchange policy and on the general question of the gold standard. The Scandinavian countries closely cooperated in commercial and financial matters during the War and it is suggested that such co-operation has become necessary again, since the three countries have abandoned the gold standard and have linked their currency to sterling.

A Crowded London.

At this season London is commonly deserted by society people, but this year it is experiencing quite a "boom," and well-known people can be met in every direction. In addition, there are many distinguished foreign visitors, and the hotels are doing excellent business in catering for them. The exhibition of French art at the Royal Academy has provided numbers of French people with a good excuse for visiting London, and it is said that they find conditions here so agreeable that they frequently extend their stay. The period is drawing near when, in past years, there used to be a rush of society people to the Riviera, but it is unlikely that there will be any such exodus this year. Many well-known people have expressed an intention to spend the spring months in London, or, at least, in this country.

"Snack Cars."

"Snack cars" on excursion trains form the latest development of the London, Midland and Scottish railway. This innovation is designed to cater for the growing number of excursion travellers, who, in preference to a set meal, have expressed a desire for something of a lighter nature. Plans are in hand for extending the principle to large numbers of long-distance excursion trains in the future. "Snack cars" will, with others, provide such things as freshly cut sandwiches, bread and butter, cakes, rolls and butter, biscuits and cheese, fruit, milk, and so on. As experience is gained of travellers' requirements, the resources of the "snack car" will be extended. Accommodation on buffet cars will be almost unlimited. Snacks will be served from a central car to customers in vestibule coaches, where tables seating four are provided. By this means the number of vestibule coaches can be increased as the occasion and experience show to be necessary.

A Novel Motor Car.

A duplicate of the strangely shaped motor car owned by the Prince of Wales is on its way to the United States, crossing the Atlantic not in the hold of a cargo steamer, but in the dining saloon of the Berengaria, which left Southampton to-day. The designer, Sir Dennis Burney, who is travelling with it, will read a paper on the invitation of the Society of Automotive Engineers of America, explaining the car's novel features. The design incorporates independent springing of the front wheels, an engine placed behind the car, and a body shaped to minimise air resistance. On account of its unconventional appearance the car has attracted much attention in this country and in France, and it is likely to cause quite a stir in the United States.

THE SHADOW OF THE GENERAL ELECTION.

DISSOLUTION NOT EXPECTED BEFORE END OF MONTH.

TWO IMPORTANT BILLS TO PASS THE SENATE.

POLLING REGARDED AS PROBABLE IN FEBRUARY.

By Our Political Correspondent.

WHILE many people expect the announcement of the dissolution of the Dail at any moment, it may be taken that that event will not take place for some time.

President Cosgrave will naturally take advantage of what he considers the most suitable moment. There are good reasons for believing that the Government are anxious that the two major bills, which are now awaiting the Senate's deliberations, should be passed. These are the Road Transport Bill and the Railways (Miscellaneous) Bill.

The Senate does not meet till the 20th of this month, and it seems likely that these measures will take a full week, if not more.

Should any amendments be made, it would be necessary to call the Dail to deal with them. That would carry the life of the Dail to the end of the month.

The Cumann na nGaedheal Party will select candidates to contest the elections during the coming week, and, following that, the plan is to hold a representative party meeting in Dublin some time before the end of the month, at which the President is expected to announce the party's election programme.

ECONOMIC CONFERENCE NEXT WEEK.

The Conference of Free State Ministers, Messrs. P. McGilligan and P. Hogan, with British Ministers in London will almost certainly take place next week—although it is authoritatively stated that no definite date has yet been fixed—and there is hardly any doubt that its outcome will have an important bearing on the election issue.

In all these circumstances it would not be surprising if the announcement of the Dissolution were delayed till the last week of this month. This would still make it possible for the election to be completed in February, which appears to be the generally accepted time.

All parties were busy in the country yesterday, which was a Roman Catholic holiday. Many meetings were held. At the party headquarters in Dublin there is also intense activity.

GALE HAVOC IN BRITAIN.

RAIL AND ROAD STOPPAGES.

MORE FLOODS IN FREE STATE.

HOUSES AND LANDS INUNDATED.

MESSAGES from various parts of the Free State indicate that considerable flooding has followed the heavy rains of Tuesday and yesterday.

The town of Cappamore, Co. Limerick, was subjected to serious flooding on Tuesday night and again yesterday as a result of the Mulkear River overflowing its banks. Several houses were inundated to a depth of from one to two feet, and the occupants had to leave. The streets of the town are impassable and traffic has had to be diverted. Hundreds of acres have been submerged, and it is feared that the damage will prove to be very considerable.

At Mountmellick, one resident, Mrs. Conroy, of Tay lane, had to leave her house, and at the Langbarrow six families are threatened by the rising waters. Many roads are impassable, and hundreds of acres of land are lying under several feet of water.

Flooding in the Glen of Aherlow has been caused by the overflowing of the rivers Aherlow and Arra. Here, also, roads are blocked and lands inundated.

Messages reporting serious flooding in the Tullamore district were received last night.

Continuous rain has fallen in Bagenalstown since Monday, and the River Barrow is in flood. On Tuesday a terrific gale, accompanied by torrential rain, swept the district. Several trees in the neighbourhood of the town were felled, and the telegraphic service suffered occasional interruptions. Early on Wednesday morning the electric supply failed, owing, it is stated, to a breakdown of the supply wires some miles from the town. The normal service was restored at 7.30 a.m.

The Barrow is rising rapidly, and if the present rains continue serious flooding is feared. Low-lying land in the vicinity of the river is already inundated, though no serious damage has as yet been reported.

BRITAIN FARES BADLY.

The full force of the storm appears to have been suffered by Great Britain.

Wild weather was experienced in many parts of the country yesterday, heavy rainstorms being lashed by a high wind, which in some places reached gale force.

The rainstorms in South Wales caused extensive floods. Rivers overflowed their banks and much of the countryside was under water. Farms were isolated, and railway traffic was interfered with in some centres because the railway lines were turned into rivers. At Tonypandy railway station the water reached the plat form. A sixty-mile-per-hour gale accompanied the rain, and there was some damage in the Vale of Glamorgan.

Shipping in the Bristol Channel had to seek shelter in the Roads, and as, towards the evening, the gale increased in force some fear was felt for the smaller vessels.

Coastguards kept a close look-out and lifeboat crews remained alert. At Cardiff nearly two inches of rain fell.

CARDIFF DAMAGE.

The wind increased in velocity towards evening, and Cardiff received its full force. Business premises were damaged through smashed roofs and windows. In Kingsway, near the city centre, an empty Post Office mail van was blown into the canal.

The Conway Valley experienced its third flood in as many days. Thirty hours' continuous rainfall resulted in three rivers—the Llugwy, from the Snowdonian Mountains, the Conway, from Machno Mountain, and the Lledr, from the Festiniog Mountains—overflowing and inundating hundreds of acres.

Between Bettyscoed and Trefriw the valley was an unbroken sheet of swirling yellow water. The swollen river roared under the old Llanrwst bridge, almost filling the arches to the top and carrying trees along with it.

There has been serious flooding of roads and fields in the neighbourhood of Usk, Monmouthshire, and the town is in danger of being isolated.

When crossing the railway near Magor in the driving rain, George Dixon (65), of Whitewall, Magor, apparently did not see the South Wales to Bristol express and was cut to pieces.

A thunderstorm of exceptional violence broke over the East Yorkshire wolds yesterday afternoon.

Roads and streets in Mid Cheshire were flooded and 'bus and other traffic was stopped in many places.

A number of houses in Collyhurst road, Collyhurst, Manchester, were flooded yesterday when the river Irk overflowed its banks.

LIBRARY FLOODED.

At Cheetham Public Library, Cheetham Hill road, Manchester, a torrent of water rushed into the librarian's office and the lending department of the building. A section was flooded and hundreds of books were saturated. Large numbers of other books were removed to a safe place.

Several main roads were flooded to a depth of two feet near Clitheroe (Lancs.) and many country lanes were impassable. The rivers Ribble and Hodder overflowed, flooding wide tracts and sweeping away fences and loose timber. Farmhouses among the moors and hills, together with many cottages, were damaged.

MAIN ROAD BLOCKED.

A huge landslide occurred yesterday on the Snake road, in the Hope Valley, near Sheffield, when about a hundred tons of the hillside collapsed across the main road following the heavy rains. Traffic between Sheffield and Manchester was completely blocked for several hours.

When the gale was at its height last evening two chimneys at Bridgnorth, Shropshire, Poor Law Institution crashed through the roofs and into the Master's sittingroom, larder and food stores, damaging furniture and gas brackets. The Master, Matron and a baby were having tea at the time, and the débris fell among them. No one was injured, but the Matron suffered from shock.

After over twenty hours' continuous rain, the river which runs through Leigh, Lancs., overflowed, and turned many of the streets into rivers of rushing water.

The water rose so rapidly that the cellars in The Avenue, the chief residential street, were flooded and provisions were cut off.

93 M.P.H.

Gales, the force of which reached eighty miles an hour in many parts, swept London and the southern half of England last night, accompanied by torrential rain. One gust of wind caught the Scilly Isles at the terrific force of 93 miles an hour.

PREMIER'S RETURN TO LONDON.

ACTIVE PREPARATION.

The Prime Minister is expected to arrive at King's Cross, London, early this morning from Lossiemouth. In view of his return there was much activity at Whitehall yesterday.

The Cabinet Committee on Reparations held a meeting during the afternoon, when Viscount Snowden attended, with Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, Treasury expert, who was present for purposes of consultation. The Committee will report to next week's full meeting of the Cabinet.

Sir Frederick will return to Paris tomorrow to resume his conversations with the French Ministry of Finance. He will explain the British point of view and ascertain the French attitude.

The two Governments are trying to find a basis on which they can work together to bring the Lausanne Conference to a successful issue. In the view of the British Government the principal aim should be the re-establishment of confidence in the economic and general position of Germany.

MR. WILLIAM GRAHAM'S ILLNESS.

Mr. William Graham, former President of the Board of Trade, who is ill with pneumonia at Hendon, was slightly worse last night. Dr. Salter, M.P., who is in attendance, told a reporter last night that Mr. Graham's illness was nearing the end of the infective period. Necessarily, added Dr. Salter, he is not so well to-day. We are hoping that he will get the turn to-morrow.

FIERCE STORM AT SEA.

BAD DAY FOR THE NAVY.

ONE MAN DROWNED. TWO INJURED.

SHIPS of the British Navy suffered considerably as a result of the gale that swept the British Isles yesterday. A whaler belonging to H.M.S. Whirlwind was swamped, and an able seaman was drowned; an accident occurred in the engine-room of H.M.S. Wessex, involving injuries to two of the crew, and H.M.S. Vendetta was disabled and had to be towed to port. The cruiser Royal Sovereign put to sea in the gale to the assistance of a steamship that had lost her propellor.

The following announcement was issued by the Admiralty yesterday:—

"A whaler belonging to H.M.S. Whirlwind was swamped at Sheerness in the early hours of this morning, and it is regretted that James Murton, A.B., official number C/JX 126051, was drowned.

"The harbour was searched for the missing man by a picket boat from H.M.S. Valiant, and searchlights from H.M.S. Valiant and H.M.S. Whirlwind were employed. A strong ebb tide was running at the time."

A further announcement yesterday by the Secretary of the Admiralty states:—"While proceeding from Chatham to rendezvous with other vessels of the Atlantic Fleet early this morning, prior to the departure for the spring cruise, a minor accident occurred in the engine-room of H.M.S. Wessex.

"An expansion gland was blown out, and certain valves and steam pipes were carried away.

"It is regretted that Leonard F. Vickery, E.R.A., official number M 7055, and John T. Swann, leading stoker, official number K 62824, are both suffering from burns received through scalding. Their condition, however, is not serious.

"The Wessex is now proceeding to Portsmouth under her own steam."

The Wessex is a destroyer of 1,100 tons, built under the emergency War programme and launched in March, 1918.

Her main armament consists of four four-inch guns and six torpedo tubes. She is of 27,000 horse-power and designed for a speed of 34 knots. She is attached to the Atlantic Fleet.

DESTROYER DISABLED.

H.M.S. Vendetta, a destroyer which had gone from Chatham to Portsmouth in the gale, developed engine trouble off Southsea Castle yesterday.

As a result of a signal to Portsmouth Dockyard a grappler went to her assistance and towed her into harbour.

Vendetta, built in 1917 under the war emergency programme, is of 1,090 tons and 27,000 horse power. She belongs to the Reserve Fleet and is tender to H.M.S. Pembroke.

The Plymouth Lifeboat and the battleship H.M.S. Royal Sovereign have gone to the assistance of the steamship Trevaylor, which sent out S.O.S. messages that she had lost her propeller and was drifting two miles south of the Eddystone Lighthouse, fiftene miles from Plymouth.

A gale was blowing and heavy seas were running when the lifeboat set out.

CRUISER'S SEARCH.

The distress signals were picked up by the wireless station at Rame Head, Plymouth, and by the instruction of the Commander-in-Chief at Naval Headquarters, the message was re-transmitted to H.M.S. Royal Sovereign, which was lying off Plymouth waiting for visibility to improve to enter the port.

The Trevaylor is one of the Hain Steamship Company's fleet. Her gross tonnage is 4,283 and her port registry St. Ives (Cornwall). After arriving at Barry last Thursday from Birkenhead, following a four months' voyage to South America and other countries, her master disappeared.

H.M.S. Royal Sovereign was returning from the Mediterranean and should have reached Plymouth at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, but was delayed by bad weather.

FURTHER SEARCH.

Late last evening a wireless message was received at Plymouth from H.M.S. Royal Sovereign to the effect that, owing to bad visibility, she was unable to locate the steamer Trevaylor, and the cruiser Exeter, which was in Plymouth Sound awaiting departure for the West Indies, was ordered to sea to stand by the distressed steamer.

In view of the proximity of the Torbay lifeboat, the Plymouth lifeboat returned.

The weather has moderated considerably, and it was not thought that the ship was in danger. She had reported that she was drifting eastwards at about three knots.

SAUL-MOLLISON FLIGHT.

IRELAND TO NEW YORK AND BACK.

Captain J. P. Saul, the Irish airman, who navigated Wing-Commander Kingsford Smith's monoplane Southern Cross on the East to West trans-Atlantic flight of 1930, is expected to leave Dublin at the end of this week to discuss plans for his forthcoming flight to New York and back with Mr. J. A. Mollison in the early spring.

Yesterday Captain Saul received a telegram from Mr. Mollison, asking him to visit London in order to complete the details for the flight, which was originally planned as a round-the-world flight, to beat the "record" set up by Post and Gatty.

It has now been virtually decided that the airmen will take off from Portmarnock Strand, fly non-stop to New York, and, after a short rest and refuelling, they will return across the Atlantic to Dublin.

The machine which is to be used on the flight is a Lockheed "Vega," capable of a speed of about 150 miles per hour, and Captain Saul and Mr. Mollison hope to establish new "records" for the flight in both directions.

A small amount of mail may be carried on the flight, but this is one of the points which will be discussed when the two pilots meet. Another problem to be decided is whether or not a wireless operator as a third member of the crew is to be carried. The weight of another man would necessitate a reduction in the amount of fuel carried, and this factor must be carefully considered.

MAYO LIBRARY CRUX SETTLED.

The statement in the Irish Times of last Saturday that a solution of the Mayo Library crux would be found by the transfer of Miss Dunbar-Harrison to another post is now officially confirmed. Miss Harrison will shortly take up duty at the Military Library, General Headquarters, Infirmary road, Dublin.

The change will not worsen, but rather improve, Miss Harrison's status, as she will now become an established civil servant, and her service in County Mayo will count towards her pension rights. It is understood that Miss Harrison is satisfied with the arrangement.

Steps will be taken at an early date to make a new appointment in County Mayo.

TEN YEARS AGO TO-DAY.

BIRTH OF THE FREE STATE.

DAIL APPROVAL OF THE TREATY.

END OF THE SIX MONTHS' TRUCE.

Just ten years ago to-day—on the 7th January, 1922—the Irish Free State was born.

After three weeks of anxious debate at University College, Dublin, the question of the acceptance or non-acceptance of the "Articles of Agreement for a Treaty between Great Britain and Ireland" was ultimately put to the vote of the then Dail and the Treaty was approved by 64 votes to 57.

The Treaty was the outcome of negotiations which had been in progress for nearly six months. On 11th July, 1921, a Truce was signed which brought to a close a period of intermittent fighting which might be said to have continued at intervals virtually from the rebellion of Easter Week, 1916.

THE IRISH TIMES Special Supplement of 100 Pages, recording the progress of the Irish Free State during the first ten years of its existence, will be published on January 21st. It will be issued free with the IRISH TIMES of that date.

Following the Truce there was a further period of negotiation between London and Dublin, during which numerous despatches were exchanged. Ultimately a meeting between Irish plenipotentiaries and the British Government was arranged.

The Treaty itself was signed in London on the 6th December, 1921. The Irish signatories to it were: Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins, Robert C. Barton, Eamonn J. Duggan and George Gavan Duffy.

The signatories on behalf of the British Government were: D. Lloyd George, Sir Austen Chamberlain, the Earl of Birkenhead, Winston S. Churchill, Sir L. Worthington Evans, Sir Hamar Greenwood and Sir Gordon Hewart.

CIVIC GUARDS ACTIVE.

CHAUFFEUR DETAINED: PREMISES SEARCHED.

Detectives visited a house in Susanville road, Drumcondra, yesterday morning, and arrested John O'Loughlin, a former chauffeur to Mrs. Maude Gonne MacBride, and took him to the Bridewell, where he was still detained at a late hour last night. It is understood that no charge has yet been preferred against him.

Detectives visited the residence of Mr. Donal O'Donoghue, in Spencer street, South Circular road, Dublin, during yesterday morning and made a very careful search of the house, even lifting carpets in some of the rooms. They remained about one and a half hours, but took nothing away with them.

On Tuesday evennig a second visit was paid by members of the Dublin detective force to the Hardwicke Hall, Hardwicke street, where they spent some time searching the basement. After apparently satisfying themselves that what they sought was not in the building they left.

RIFLE AND AMMUNITION FOUND.

TWO MEN DETAINED.

OLDCASTLE, Wednesday.

A loaded magazine rifle, a large amount of ammunition, and a number of documents, alleged to be of a seditious nature, have been found in a hay stack near here.

Three men were removed to Kells Civic Guard station, where, after about three hours, one was released unconditionally. The detained men are named James Cadden and James Caffery.

SPANISH POLICE METHODS.

DICTATORSHIP RUMOUR DENIED.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

MADRID, Wednesday.

There is intense feeling all over Spain against the Civil Guards. The most efficient police group in Europe is being criticised for over-aggressiveness in firing on a mob at Arnedo yesterday and killing six persons.

Señor Azana, the Prime Minister, denying the rumours that General Jose Sanjurjo, the commander of the Civil Guards, is plotting to establish a dictatorship, stated: "There is obviously a movement on foot with a view to making out that the Civil Guards are acting oppressively.

"I will not permit it. I would resign immediately if the measures taken for the maintenance of public order were in any way relaxed."

The clash at Arnedo followed a meeting of strikers from a shoe factory. The Guards ordered the strikers to disperse, but the latter refused and hurled abuse at the Guards, who eventually fired into the crowd.

Socialist deputies and Ministers have organised a subscription for the families of the six persons who were killed, and the parliamentary group of the Socialist Party has decided to send twenty deputies to take part in the funeral.

Incidents are reported from other centres. A mob at Ciudad Real stoned the Guards. A small garrison at Jereza, near Valencia, was surrounded by a jeering mob. Reserves were rushed to the spot, as trouble seemed imminent.

On the other hand, thousands are offering the Guards their support, and are signing memoranda in token of their confidence. The principal opposition to the Guards is apparently in the rural parts of the country.

The Bank of Spain is offering twenty-five thousand pesetas to the families of Guards killed in the execution of their duty, and other collections on their behalf have been started.

LORD LONDONDERRY.

Lord Londonderry, Secretary for Air, returned to London yesterday from his seat at Ranksborough, in Rutland, in order to attend Cabinet Committees to-day.

FREE STATE & NORTH AGREE.

AMATEUR UNION PROPOSED.

END OF LONG DISPUTE IN SIGHT

THE long-standing dispute in athletics between the Irish Free State and Northern Ireland is likely to be brought to an end.

A meeting of the representatives of the National Athletic and Cycling Association of Ireland and the Northern Ireland Athletic Association was held in Belfast yesterday to discuss the matter. General Eoin O'Duffy presided.

The following official announcement was made at the close:—

"The conference records its unanimous approval of the principle of complete autonomy for athletics in Northern Ireland."

The conference suggests that the associations governing athletics in the Irish Free State and Northern Ireland, being respectively autonomous in their own areas, unite to form an authority for national and international events, such authority to be designated the Irish Amateur Athletic Union.

"It is recommended also that the respective associations mentioned should adopt the following titles respectively:—

"Irish Free State Amateur Athletic Association, and

"Northern Ireland Amateur Athletic Association.

"A number of minor matters yet remain to be considered, but the above represents the principal matters in dispute.

"A further meeting is to be held on Friday, January 22nd."

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL PEACE MOVE.

While the athletic bodies are apparently well on the road to patch up their differences, it is interesting to note that there are signs of peace also in the Association football world.

At a meeting last night the Council of the Free State Association announced their willingness to meet the representatives of the Irish Football Association at a conference. A report of the proceedings appears in the sporting pages.

FROM "THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

JUDGES' SALARIES.

In a leading article, The Times to-day states:—In a letter which appeared in The Times some weeks ago a legal correspondent expressed a reasoned scepticism as to the competence of recent legislation aimed at reducing the salaries of public servants to affect the remuneration of our Judicial Bench. The doubts raised by the Director of Legal Studies receive impressive support to-day from another quarter. In the current number of the Law Quarterly, Professor Holdsworth discusses the scope and application of the Economy Act, 1931, and the Order in Council made thereunder, with especial reference to the salaries of the judges. The provisions of these enactments purport to apply to persons in His Majesty's service, and offices in the service of His Majesty.

After asking what criterion is to be applied in determining who is a person in His Majesty's service within the statutory provisions, The Times proceeds: It is only within the sphere of the prerogative that the Crown can act by orders given to its servants. Therefore, it would seem that the expression "persons in His Majesty's service" must be confined to those servants of the Crown who are appointed to act as its agents or servants in the exercise of its prerogative powers. This test, if it is the true one, is complied with by Cabinet Ministers and civil servants who are members of the Executive Government.

HIS MAJESTY'S JUDGES.

It is true that many powers exercised by these persons are conferred on them by Statute, and are, therefore, not exercised in virtue of the prerogative, which is simply the residue of the Crown's discretionary power surviving the encroachments of legislature; but it is equally true that the persons in question also exercise some powers by virtue of this prerogative. They are, therefore, none the less servants of the Crown in the narrow sense of the term, because they wield, in addition, powers derived from parliamentary sources. These officers, therefore, clearly pass the proposed test. As clearly that test excludes from liability such public or semi-public officers as Sheriffs, Lords Lieutenant, Justices of the Peace and municipal officers, who are beholden not to the prerogative, but to statute or common law, for their jurisdiction, and enjoy a considerable discretion as to its exercise. In which category, then, do His Majesty's judges fall?

Professor Holdsworth holds that they fall within the second. The importance of these factors does not lie so much in the hardship involved to the existing incumbents of judicial office, severe though this is; it lies far more, as Professor Holdsworth points out, in the fact that the present scale of remuneration (particularly if reduced by the cuts) is "not sufficient to induce the ablest lawyers in the prime of life to accept judicial office."

DEPLORABLE CONSEQUENCES.

It is no exaggeration to say that in the past very few lawyers have been elevated to the Bench who were earning less than double the equivalent of a judicial salary, and many of them were earning four or five times the equivalent. To reduce the financial inducement yet further is surely to invite the consequences which Professor Holdsworth justly apprehends and deplores. The saving effected by the proposed cuts in judicial salaries is, perhaps, in the neighbourhood of £40,000. To anyone with a sense of perspective such an economy is dust in the balance as compared with the evil of any appreciable decline in the quality of the justice dispensed by the Supreme Court.

INDIAN GOVERNMENTS MAKING THE PACE.

ANOTHER SERIOUS BLOW AT THE NATIONALIST CONGRESS.

"PEACEMAKER" INVITED TO MEET VICEROY.

THE Indian authorities continue to make the pace in the conflict with Congress. The round-up of Congress leaders in Bombay, reported yesterday, proved to be part of a concerted drive in all parts of the Presidency, which was followed by the banning of Congress and allied organisations throughout the province.

A more subtle move was the serving of an order on two Indian banks in Bombay forbidding drawing on certain accounts known to be Congress funds. The local Congress has replied by picketing foreign cloth shops in one of the principal shopping thoroughfares of the city.

The Governor of Bengal addressed a meeting in Calcutta last evening of Indian and European leaders and representatives of commercial and landed interests, in view of the threatened renewal of civil disobedience, and gave an assurance of every possible protection for the free conduct of business.

Punjabi cloth merchants have thanked the Governor of the Punjab for a similar promise, and have declared their intention of carrying on trade in foreign cloth.

Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, the Liberal leader, has been invited to see the Viceroy to-day.

UNION JACK ON CONGRESS HOUSE

From Reuter's Correspondents.

THE drive by the Government of Bombay Presidency against Congress, which began yesterday morning before dawn with the arrest of virtually all the prominent leaders, has resulted in all Congress and allied organisations throughout the Presidency and Sind being declared unlawful. The Order affects about five hundred bodies, of which over eighty are in Bombay and its suburbs.

The arrests in the Bombay round-up amount to forty, including nine women, and all have been lodged in Byculla House of Correction pending their trial, which will probably take place a fortnight hence. The arrests were effected without incident.

Nine arrests were made in a similar drive in Surat, where a "Black Maria" went round collecting the prisoners.

The headquarters of the Bombay Congress were taken possession of by the police, and the Union Jack was hoisted with elaborate ceremony upon the flagstaff, from which the Congress flag had been hauled down a few minutes earlier. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the Deputy Commissioner of Police.

SALT LAW BROKEN.

The salt laws were broken at Karachi last evening, when five volunteers, headed by a local dictator, marched to the seashore and gathered salt, which they sold at a public meeting. The police did not interfere.

On hearing the news of the revival of the boycott a Karachi trader dealing in a large scale in foreign cloth was seized with a paralytic stroke and suffered mental derangement. The alarm caused among traders, of which this is an extreme illustration, has been accentuated by the considerable fall in the sale of foreign piece goods, in which Karachi was hitherto reputed to be one of the most thriving centres.

Unsold stocks are being transported upcountry or removed to godowns (warehouses). Simultaneously the sales of indigenous cloth have been stimulated, despite the rise in price.

OTHER INCIDENTS.

There was considerable excitement in Poona yesterday morning with the arrest of some dozen local Congress leaders. There was a general outcry in each district where arrests were carried out, and the crowd marched to the cantonment and to the police station, where the arrested persons were taken. So far, no untoward incidents have taken place.

A policeman in Cawnpore was injured in the head and taken to hospital as a result of stone-throwing by boys while the police were engaged in dispersing crowds listening to speeches on civil disobedience by half a dozen women near the Congress office.

Two people were killed and 100 injured, it is now revealed, in Tuesday's incident in Benares, in which police fired fourteen rounds on a defiant mob. Forty of the injured are in a serious condition.

The District Magistrate was hit by stones thrown by the mob, and a number of constables were injured.

The mob had assembled, in contravention of orders, to congratulate Gandhi on his arrest, and the police only opened fire after a charge with lathis (staves) had failed to disperse the forbidden gathering. Troops stood by in the Town Hall square, but were not called upon.

GOVERNOR AND BENGAL TRADE REVIVAL.

At the meeting of the Calcutta business interests Sir Stanley Jackson, the Governor of Bengal, reiterating his determination to crush terrorism and lawlessness, and to push on with constitutional changes, gave an assurance of his resolve to afford every protection for the carrying out of business, and to secure complete personal liberty to the individual traders and consumers to buy and sell where they desired without being hampered by the boycott tyranny.

"Bengal," he said, "is pre-eminently in a position to take the earliest advantage of any world trade revival if no artificial restrictions are tolerated, while the boycott policy not only will produce economic ruin, but will speedily result in widespread agrarian discontent and violence."

The Governor requested that the utmost public co-operation should be shown by giving the fullest information and evidence to enable the police to deal effectively with picketing.

He also invited public assistance for the Government based on last year's experiences, and he said that he would especially welcome practical suggestions and schemes for outwitting the boycotters.

In a flying visit which he paid to Amritsar yesterday the Governor of the Punjab assured the cloth dealers that the Government would give them every support in carrying on their business peacefully.

The traders expressed their thanks, and said that they would carry on their trade in foreign cloth as long as they had any customers.

INDIAN LIBERAL AS "PEACEMAKER"?

It is understood in Allahabad that Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, the Liberal leader, has been invited to see the Viceroy at Delhi to-day.

Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru suggested in a statement issued on Tuesday that the Viceroy should call a conference of all those who were prepared to express their views freely and frankly as regards the preliminary work of the Round Table Committees, which might be a way out of the present impasse.

Sir Tej Bahadur was one of the mediators who brought about the meeting between Lord Irwin and Gandhi that led to the Delhi Truce in the last campaign.

RALLYING POINT WANTED

TO CONFIRM REMARKABLE VICTORY.

From "The Times" Correspondent.

DELHI, Wednesday.

For the moment the Viceroy has gained a remarkable victory over the Congress, but the strongest supporter of the Government realises that victory in itself is not enough, and that in order to enjoy its fruits some new rallying point for Indian opinion must be set up on the way towards reform.

There is a great chance for the moderate leaders to-day, the only question is whether they will take it or not. So far Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru is the only Round Table delegate to come out into the open with criticism of the Congress policy.

The happiest feature of the situation today lies not so much in the absence of news of serious disturbances—and every hour that passes without a clash is strengthening the Government's hand—but in a series of meetings and resolutions all over the country with a view to getting on with normal life and trade conditions.

WORLD SIDES WITH RAJ.

A large meeting in Delhi last night, convened by British, Moslem, Sikh, and Hindu merchants, with Sir John Thompson, the Chief Commissioner, in the chair, condemned the Congress methods and promised support of the Government. There were similar meetings at Lahore and Calcutta.

Finally, every day the newspapers are printing fresh extracts from the world's Press, which inevitably must bring home to the Congress that it has little more to hope for from its disillusioned friends oversea.

It may be easy enough for ill-informed critics abroad to dance over the grave of the Delhi Truce. People in this country are the first to realise and admit that but for the truce, and the opportunity it gave to the Congress to prove or disprove its claim to represent Indian national opinion at the Round Table, the Government of India, in its present impregnable position, would almost certainly have had world opinion against it instead of on its side.

A REWARD OF £200.

SEQUEL TO TIPPERARY ROBBERY.

The Tipperary Post Office robbery of two months ago was recalled in Dublin yesterday, when the following notice was posted in prominent positions throughout the city:—

"GARDA SIOCHANA.

"£200 Reward.

"The above reward will be paid to any person giving such information as will lead to the recovery of the sum of £1,800 taken in the robbery of Tipperary Post Office on 5th November, 1931, and to the arrest and conviction of the robbers. Any information should be communicated to the undersigned or to any police station.

"Eoin O'Duffy, Commissioner.

WANTED—A MORATORIUM.

CLONMEL, Wednesday.

At a largely attended meeting in Clonmel to-day of the South Tipperary Ratepayers' Association the following resolution, proposed by Mr. J. R. Mulcahy and seconded by Mr. W. Lonergan, was passed unanimously:—"That we demand a five-year moratorium and an extension of the time to pay the land annuities, so as to leave posterity pay its portion of the burden."

A lorry driver, Samuel Bailey, of Cobham terrace, Greenhithe, was killed, and his mate, Herbert Ludlow, of Carlisle road, Dartford, was fatally injured on the Dartford-Rochester road last night when a car and a stationary lorry were in collision.

THE NORTHERN ELECTIONS.

SOME CANDIDATES WITHDRAW.

INVALID PAPERS AT ARMAGH AND NEWRY.

TWO candidates withdrew yesterday from the Belfast Corporation contests, with the result that there will be contests in three of the fifteen city wards.

Following the conference between the representatives of the Corporation Town Tenants' Association and the agents of Mr. George R. Black (Unionist) and the retiring Alderman of St. George's Ward, Mr. Robert Hill, who was nominated by the Tenants' Association, decided to withdraw.

In Pottinger Ward Mr. W. McConnell Wilton, nominated as an Independent in opposition to Mr. W. J. Magowan, for twenty-two years a member of the Corporation, withdrew his candidature. Mr. Magowan was accordingly returned.

Contests will take place in Court Ward, where Mr. Malcolm Mercer (Unionist), who is the Vice-Chairman of the Museum and Arts Committee, has an opponent in Armond Wallace (Labour); in Dock, where the candidates are Mr. Samuel Gray (Unionist), a former member of the Corporation, and Mr. James Johnston (Labour); and in Shankhill, where Charles Brown (Unionist) is contesting the seat, which was held by Mr. Thomas Henderson, M.P. (Independent Unionist), the retiring Councillor.

BALLYMENA.

There were no withdrawals at Ballymena, where twenty-four candidates have been nominated for fifteen seats.

HOLYWOOD.

There will be no contest in Holywood. The retiring members, who were again nominated, are Messrs. F. Graham, J. Woods and F. Hamilton. Mr. F. G. Parvain was nominated to contest one of the seats, but withdrew yesterday, and the three retiring members were elected.

NEWTOWNARDS

There were no withdrawals yesterday in connection with the nominations for the municipal representation in Newtownards, consequently there will be a contest in Scrabo Ward, in which the retiring member, Mr. Isaac Baxter, will be opposed by Mr. Alex. Filson. In the other four wards the retiring Councillors were returned unopposed.

ARMAGH.

In Armagh City Hall last night Mr. James Lennon, Town Clerk, Returning Officer, received the following withdrawals:—

St. Patrick's or North Ward (Nationalist)—Messrs. John Cauldwell, James Hughes, Hugh McKenna, Robert McKenna, and Henry Sexton

This necessitates an election in St. Patrick's Ward, there being seven candidates for six seats as follows:—Messrs. R. E. Copeland, F. J. Hughes, J. Johnston, P. J. McGarvey, George McKee, Joseph O'Hagan, and Joseph McKenna.

South Ward—Withdrawals are—Peter James Clarke, John Corrigan, senior, John Corrigan, junior; John Donaghy, John Hughes, Hugh J. Knipe, and Patrick McKenna.

One nomination for this ward, that of Patrick O'Callaghan, was declared invalid.

There will be no contest in the South Ward (Nationalist)). The candidates returned unopposed are:—Messrs. Francis Corvan, Thomas Gorman, M. J. Mullan, Thomas McLaughlin, James O'Neill, Seamus O'Reilly.

There were no withdrawals in St. Mark's or East Ward (Unionist), and the candidates returned are:—Messrs. T. J. Walker, J. F. Anderson, Joseph Ballard, Charles R. Carter, James Fanning, and Joseph Gray.

PORTADOWN.

In Portadown Messrs. Thomas Hewitt, Robert Courtney (senior), and George A. Hyde withdrew their nominations.

There will be contests in the North and South-East Wards.

In the South-West Ward the following candidates were returned unopposed:—Messrs. John Greenaway, A. L. Martin, Robert Wright, G. A. Locke, Alexander Orr, and Joseph Wright.

WARRENPOINT.

Messrs. McMahon, Fox, Corr, and McGuigan having withdrawn from the West Ward, there will be no contest.

NEWRY.

Mr. W. McAnulty (Nationalist) has withdrawn from the South Ward, and this obviates a contest.

The nomination papers of M. Connell (West Ward), M. Mackin, and J. Neary (South Ward, Labour members) have been declared invalid, but it is anticipated that they will be co-opted.

DERRY.

Two contests have been precipitated in connection with Derry municipal elections, one in Waterside Ward, for which Alderman Blair, who hitherto represented the Unionist interest on the Corporation, has been nominated in opposition to the official Unionist nominee, Sir Samuel Cochrane, and the other in the South Ward, where Mr. Frank Callaghan (Labour) is opposing the Nationalist candidates, T. J. Doherty and John Grant, who were nominated for two Councillorships last year.

Mr. Callaghan, a former member of the City Council, was opposed to Catholic nominees, but was defeated by a majority of 300.

OMAGH.

Mr. James J. Mullan (Nationalist, South Ward) yesterday withdrew from the contest, and Mr. F. P. Cassidy, a retiring member, who was not officially selected by the Nationalists, gets an unopposed return. There will be no contest in the South Ward.

SESKINORE HUNT BALL.

SOCIETY FUNCTION AT OMAGH.

The annual ball of the Seskinore Hunt Club, which was held in Omagh Courthouse on Tuesday night, was one of the most brilliant society functions held in County Tyrone for several years, and there were distinguished visitors from all parts of the North of Ireland. The decorative scheme was charming, and the Courthouse, which usually presents a somewhat uninviting appearance was transformed into a scene of radiance and beauty. The attendance included nearly all the members of the Seskinore Hunt Club, and large numbers of the Fermanagh, Strabane and Londonderry Hunt Clubs, while there were large contingents from Belfast, Dungannon and Armagh. Captain R. A. Chambers, M.C., J.P., and Mr. H. M. Mark were joint M.C.'s, and the music was provided by Ivory's Band, Belfast.

THE NORTHERN REVENUE.

EXPECTATION OF SURPLUS.

UNEMPLOYMENT FUND DEFICIT.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Wednesday.

THE Northern Ireland Exchequer Returns for the nine months ending December 31st, 1931, which have just been published, show a total revenue for the period (reserved, transferred and non-tax) of £6,007,301, and a total expenditure on supply and Consolidated Fund services of £6,573,910. This represents a deficit for the nine months of £566,609. Such a deficit at this period of the year, however, causes no anxiety, as the revenue for the final quarter, which is always the "fat" quarter of the year, has yet to be received, and, this year, it will include three-quarters of the total income tax levied for 1932-3.

At the end of the financial year, March 31st next, it is expected that there will be a surplus of revenue over expenditure in Northern Ireland, and, that this, as in former years, will supply a substantial Imperial contribution. Even now, if "other receipts," on the one hand, and "other issues," on the other, are taken into account, there was a balance in the Northern Exchequer on December 31st last of £40,251.

EXTENT OF SURPLUS.

The exact surplus which will be available at the end of the financial year will depend largely on the deficit in the Unemployment Fund. In view of the decision, both in Great Britain and Northern Ireland, as the result of the Economy Bills, to cease borrowing for the Unemployment Funds, and to meet any deficit out of revenue, this matter becomes one of great importance to the annual revenue and to the expected balance. The Unemployment Fund is made up of contributions from employers and employed, and the statutory State grants, and from this fund is paid out to the unemployed the weekly benefits described familiarly as "the dole." Owing to the trade depression and the excess of unemployment, this fund was unable to meet the weekly demands upon it, and money had to be borrowed to meet the liabilities upon the fund for the "dole" payments.

In Great Britain the fund was running into debt at the rate of £100,000,000 per annum. In Northern Ireland, up to 1925, a debt of nearly 3½ million pounds was piled up, and this now is being liquidated under the Reinsurance Agreement with Great Britain at the rate of £100,000 per annum. It will not be completely liquidated under the present plan for another 27 years. Since 1925 it was necessary to continue to borrow for the Unemployment Fund, and this additional debt, which was met by further borrowing, now amounts to nearly 1½ million sterling.

INCREASED CONTRIBUTIONS.

At the time when it was decided to cease borrowing and meet the weekly deficits from revenue, it was also decided to increase the contributions of employers and employed to the fund, in the hope that the weekly deficits would be either eliminated completely or very considerably reduced. In other words, the Unemployment Fund would balance and become self-supporting, without the additional State assistance.

In Great Britain this position apparently has been reached, owing to the drop in unemployment, and the increased contributions. No figures are yet available regarding the position in Northern Ireland, and businessmen would like to know what is the present weekly deficit on the Unemployment Fund in Northern Ireland?; how much has it been reduced since the increased contributions of workers and employed were introduced; and when is the Fund likely to balance itself and not only become self-supporting, but begin to pay off the deficit?

FUND'S GROWING DEFICIT.

Owing to the great increase of unemployment in Great Britain early last year the proportion of the contribution to the Northern Ireland Unemployment Fund, under the Reinsurance Agreement with Great Britain, payable by Northern Ireland, increased enormously, and the amount added to the general deficit was the largest since 1925. The total deficit on the Northern Ireland Unemployment Fund for the past year, according to a reply given to a Labour Member in the Northern Senate, was provisionally estimated at £1,709,000.

Under the Re-insurance Agreement, Northern Ireland revenue is to meet £368,609 of the amount, and Great Britain £534,855, and the balance of £805,537 was borrowed and added to the general deficit, making the total deficit, which has accumulated since 1925, £1,686,021. It will be seen that almost half of this total deficit was accumulated last year. The amount added to the general deficit in the previous year was the comparatively small sum of £66,921.

POSITION CHANGED.

It is quite evident that the Northern Ireland revenue could not continue to bear such a burden, but the position has been completely changed by the increase in contributions and the reduction in unemployment both here and in Great Britain. A comprehensive statement, however, by the Minister of Labour or some other responsible person as to the exact position of the present demands on the Unemployment Fund would be welcomed.

Suggestions are being made in Belfast that Northern Ireland should arrange a fixed contribution for Imperial services to the British Exchequer, and run its own social services—Unemployment Fund, widows' and orphans' pensions, etc.—on a scale which it could afford, but this argument is not likely to meet with approval either in official quarters or among the electors generally. What the majority of the people apparently desire is that Northern Ireland should continue as a part of the British fiscal union, with equality of benefits for equality of sacrifices, in accordance with the plan set forth in the financial scheme when the Northern Parliament was established.

WORKING OF THE IRISH LAND ACTS.

300,000 HOLDINGS VESTED IN OCCUPIERS IN 50 YEARS.

LAND COMMISSION ACTIVITY IN THE GAELTACHT.

THE report of the Irish Land Commissioners for the year ended March 31st, 1931, which has been presented by the Oireachtas, was issued for publication yesterday. It contains a summary of land purchase legislation to date under all the Land Acts, and shows that in a period of fifty years over 300,000 holdings, occupied by tenants who previously had no fixity of tenure, have been vested in the tenants, subject to terminable half-yearly payments, representing in almost all cases a substantial reduction in the amounts payable as rent to the landlords.

IMPROVING THE GAELTACHT.

The report states that the Land Commission are continuing their policy of making every effort within the scope and powers of the Land Acts to improve conditions in the Gaeltacht area, and a sum of approximately £95,000 was expended on improvement works during the year in the five counties of the Gaeltacht—Donegal, Galway, Mayo, Clare and Kerry.

From the time of the transfer of the Land Commission on March 31st, 1923, up to March 31st, 1931, a total sum of £737,000 was expended by the Commission on improvement works in the counties mentioned. Further sums have been sanctioned, and will be expended on the sale of estates and division of untenanted land. In addition, a total sum of £239,000 has been expended by the Land Commission in the Gaeltacht area on special improvement works, making a total expenditure since 1923 of £976,000.

The total amount of untenanted land allotted by the Land Commission in the Gaeltacht since 1923 is 233,000 acres, and during the same period an area of 920,000 acres has been vested in 27,000 tenant purchasers at a total cost of £4,470,000.

Special experiments are being carried out by the Land Commission in regard to the reclamation of tracts of moory, waste lands in the Gaeltacht in order to make them fit for agriculture.

SALES UNDER 1903-9 ACTS.

Dealing with the principal features of land purchase operations, the report sets out particulars of the completion of proceedings under the Land Acts, 1903-9, both as regards direct sales between landlord and tenant through the Land Commission (representing a total purchase price of £64,679,955 in respect of 170,998 holdings, comprising 6,136,360 acres) and as regards the purchase of estates by the Land Commission (Estates Commissioners) for the purpose of improvement and subsequent re-sale to the tenants, representing a total purchase price, of £9,311,163 in respect of 1,176 estates, comprising 29,050 holdings and 1,006,815 acres.

In addition, 890 estates were purchased by the late Congested Districts Board (now incorporated in the Land Commission), comprising 2,264,425 acres, representing 66,500 holdings, for a total purchase price of £8,954,021.

Of the total of these purchase proceedings under the Land Acts, 1903-9, advances representing a total purchase price of £3,921,519 in respect of 15,666 holdings, comprising 487,262 acres, have been made since the transfer of the Land Commission to the native Government on the 31st March, 1923.

RE-SALE OF ESTATES.

As regards the re-sale of estates purchased by the Estates Commissioners and the Congested Districts Board, a total of 2,383,391 acres has been vested on re-sale by the Land Commission in 80,756 tenant purchasers for a total re-sale price of £17,202,565 up to the 31st March, 1931 (of which 76,176 acres, representing 3,212 purchasers and a re-sale price of £428,988, were vested during the year ended the 31st March, last). In addition, the report mentions that up to the present date some 20,000 congested districts holdings have been published in lists under Section 23 of the Land Act, 1931, and put on an annuity basis as from the 1st November last.

A total area of 910,337 acres of untenanted land has been divided on estates acquired by the Estates Commissioners and the Congested Districts Board, of which 160,064 acres have been divided by the Land Commission since 1923, apart from the division of land under the Land Acts, 1923-9.

LAND ACTS, 1923-9.

Proceedings under the Land Acts 1923-29 are also dealt with in the report. 578,210 acres of tenanted land, comprising 15,971 holdings, have been vested in the Land Commission up to the 31st March, 1931 (of which 145,925 acres, comprising 4,625 holdings, were vested during the year ended 31st March last), but it is pointed out that this total has been enormously increased within the past half year under the operations of the Land Act, 1931, by which nearly 80,000 holdings have been vested in the Land Commission and the tenants put upon an annuity basis—the great majority as from the 1st May last.

As regards the acquisition and division of untenanted land under the Land Acts 1923-29, up to 31st March, 1931, the total of 367,898 acres (apart from 10,938 acres acquired by exchange), on 970 estates, has been acquired by the Land Commission for a total price of £4,274,2[illegible]0, of which 38,579 acres were acquired during the year ended the 31st March, 1931. Of the total area acquired under the Land Acts 1923-29, 29[illegible],5[illegible]6 acres have been divided (among 14,900 allottees), of which 48,376 acres were divided among 2,699 allottees during the year ended the 31st March, 1931. A table is given showing by counties the total area divided since 1923 both on estates acquired under the Land Acts of 1903-09 and the Acts of 1923-29, amounting to 453,650 acres.

The total of 3,453 evicted tenants have been reinstated in their old holdings or provided with new holdings by the Land Commission (involving an expenditure on their resettlement of £268,655), of which 145 were provided for since the 31st March, 1923, with an expenditure of £13,068.

IMPROVEMENT WORKS.

THE PAYMENT OF LAND ANNUITIES.

With regard to expenditure on improvement works in the period from the 31st March, 1923, to the 31st March, 1931, the Land Commission expended on the improvement of estates, etc., a total of £1,547,123, of which £515,240 was in respect of buildings, including the construction and renovation of dwellinghouses. The amount expended on estate improvements during the year ended the 31st March last was £183,054.

In addition to the normal expenditure on the improvement of estates, the Land Commission have expended since 1924 sums amounting to £428,682 on special improvement works for the relief of unemployment and distress, from funds allocated to them for expenditure out of the vote for this purpose, of which £45,777 was expended up to the 31st March last out of the Relief Vote of November, 1930.

The total amount of purchase moneys and other disbursements under the various Land Acts distributed by the Judical Commissioner of the Land Commission during the period from the 1st April, 1923, to the 31st March, 1931, was £14,385,611, of which £1,761,[illegible] was distributed during the year ended the 31st March, 1931.

COLLECTION OF ANNUITIES.

The total amount of the annuities in respect of advances under all the Land Purchase Acts since 1881 which accrued due within the year ended 31st March, 1931, was £3,341,303, which, with an arrear of £383,929 due at 31st March, 1930, made the total amount collectible £3,725,232, payable by 306,781 payers. Of this sum, £3,309,106 had been paid by 31st March, 1931, leaving an arrear of £416,126 then due. At the 31st July, 1931, this arrear had been reduced to £299,446 (as against an arrear of £272,848 at the 31st July, 1930, on a collectible total of £5,680,614), showing that the payment of annuities by tenant purchasers is well maintained, despite depressed agricultural conditions.

The amount of arear in respect of payment in lieu of rent under the Land Acts, 1923-29, at the 31st January, 1931, was £199,647, on a collectible basis of £765,759 (as against an arear of £201,729 on the 31st January, 1930).

CHURCH TEMPORALITIES.

The section dealing with tithe rent charges in this year's report explains clearly the origin, history and destination of these charges, and points out that the income now payable to the Land Commission derived from tithe rent charges and other sources is not payable to any Church, the heading "Church Temporalities" simply denoting the source from which the fund arose, and not its destination. This is important, in view of some public misapprehension on this question.

The present income of the Church Temporalities Fund is largely barely sufficient to meet the remaining statutory payments charged upon it for public, educational and agricultural purposes, amounting to £117,848.

LAND PURCHASE ADVANCES.

A general summary is given at the end of the report showing the total advances made for the purchase of land under the respective Land Acts from 1870 to 1929 in the Free State area, amounting to a total price of £111,120,175, in respect of an area of 12,241,991 acres, comprising 336,489 holdings.

BRITISH LEGION BAL MASQUE.

SOME ORIGINAL COSTUMES.

The Metropole Ballroom, Dublin, was not filled at the British Legion bal masqué last night, but gaiety and good fellowship atoned for a decrease in numbers from the previous year. There were some original costumes, and several ladies wore various types of male costume. Two of the most striking of these were the Grenadier costume, with busby, worn by Miss Keys, and the fantastic and becoming attire of Miss E. Tutty, who was dressed in a green blouse and trousers, with a tall dark green spangled hat, dark green mask and gauntlets. She carried two dull silver revolvers. Fixed to her back was a placard—"Legs Diamond Returned."

Mrs. Kennedy was a sophisticated Lido lady in flowered pyjamas and jumper, and her partner was a well-contrived Mephistopheles. Miss Moira Winder came in one of the most attractive period frocks of the evening. She wore an early Victorian rose and blue taffeta gown, with a lace collar fastened with rosebuds. Blue ruching set off her pink skirt, and beneath white lace pantalettes appeared. Rosebuds kept her long curls in place, and her bag and mittens matched her frock. Her partner, Mr. P. Ardagh, came as a Mexican. Mrs. Wauchope and Miss Mildred Murphy came with Captain W. R. Carson, M.C., and Mr Charles Morewood. Mrs. Wauchope was dressed as a French Art student and Miss Mildred Murphy wore French Court costume.

Miss Cavanagh and Miss Coats came as gipsies, Mr. S. H. Ivimey as the Student Prince, and Dr. Harbison as a bandit. Mr. G. A. Watson brought Mrs. Watson, who was an effective Egyptian lady, and Captain Malcomson accompanied Mrs. Malcomson, who wore a vivid black and red Spanish gipsy's costume, Miss Daisy Roche seemed very much at home in her demure Victorian "Alice Blue" gown and large hat.

IN BLACK.

Among those who wore black evening frocks were: Miss Jean Malcolm, Miss E. Connell and Mrs. N. F. North. Miss Malcolm's frock was of black satin, with diamond clasp, and was in simple and excellent style. Mrs. N. F. North wore a black dress, ornamented with red. Miss Mary Grace was dressed in a pale rose net and lace frock, with a delicately fashioned cape, and her shoes of dark rose made a pleasant contrast. Mrs. H. Connell's vivid crimson satin frock looked well with her dark hair, and Mrs. H. C. Blee, who came with her husband, wore one of the few green dresses of the evening. Miss Alice Weir wore a velvet dress, also of green

Mrs. Tesdevin wore flesh-coloured chiffon, Miss A. Gallagher green lace, and Miss E. Kane white satin. Miss C. Cooke also wore white. Her frock was of becoming satin beaute, with pearl embroidery. Mrs. Louis Beatty, who was accompanied by her husband, wore purple satin, with an Oriental coatee.

During the evening Paul Jones, at various intervals, helped to make variety from the ordinary dances. Miss MacNie and Mr. George Atkinson, A.R.A., judged the prizes, a little after eleven o'clock.

THE KILDARE HUNT.

DANCE AT STRAFFAN HOUSE.

The Kildare Hunt, better known as the "Killing Kildares," held their annual dance in Straffan House, Straffan, Co. Kildare, last night. As usual, the function attracted a very large and distinguished gathering, and the night proved most enjoyable.

There were over two hundred people present, and dancing was continued from 10 o'clock last night until the early hours of this morning. The music was supplied by Corny Ryan's band.

Amongst those present and who brought large parties were:—

Sir Francis Brooke, M.F.H., and Laedy Brooke; Major Mitchell, M.F.H., and Mrs. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Ryan, Lady Gormanston, Captain Hubert de Burgh, Mr. J. B. Barton, Lieutenant Barton, the Earl and Countess of Meath, Mr. and Mrs. Wardell, Miss Orme, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brooke, Major Connolly, Mr. N. W. Waddington, Mr. and Mrs. Boylan, Captain G. Barker.

The Earl and Countess of Iveagh, Mr. and Mrs. L. Dease, Baron de Robeck, Miss Hamilton, Lieutenant-Colonel Bramston Newman, Mr. A. G. Dalgety, Mr. J. J. Smithwick, Mr. and Mrs. Parr, Major North Bomford, Miss Noble Johnson, Major and Mrs. Mitchell, Mr. C. J. La Touche, Dr. R. Corbett and Mr. M. P. Kennedy.

The catering was by Mrs. Lawlor, Naas.

DRAMATIST NOW A PORTER.

TWO GUINEAS A WEEK JOB.

DUBLIN BOARD OF ASSISTANCE.

MR. DANIEL GIBBONS, the ex-Service man dramatist, who wrote "After All That," a play which attracted great attention when it was presented at the Abbey Theatre recently, was, at a meeting of the Dublin Board of Assistance yesterday, appointed porter of Drumcondra Dispensary. Mr. Gibbons had for many years been out of employment, and during the time when he was not seeking work he devoted his spare moments to his new play.

It will be recalled that during the production of the play the Lord Mayor, Alderman Alfred Byrne, made an appeal on behalf of Gibbons. The new position carries a weekly salary of £2 2s.

The Rev. W. Kimberley was elected Warden of the Rathmines District.

OUTDOOR RELIEF.

The Relieving Officers' weekly report stated that last week 7,216 persons received outdoor relief at a cost of £3,943 9s. 6d., a decrease on the figures for the same period last year, and on the figures of the previous week. The decrease in the relief figures was due to the amount of temporary work given by the Department of Posts and Telegraphs, and the Corporation during the Christmas period.

Dr. W. C. Dwyer announced that the management of the Olympia and Gaiety Theatres had invited the children of the Union to performances of their pantomimes, the Olympia on Saturday next, and the Gaiety on Monday.

A vote of thanks to the management for their kindness was passed.

REFLECTION ON A MEMBER.

The Ministry for Local Government and Public Health wrote, asking what action had been taken with regard to a previous communication from them with reference to the report of Mr. Delany, Local Government Inspector, that on July 13th he visited the institution when Mr. Healy, the Supervisor, was receiving reports from the Relieving Officers. Councillor Medlar then came, and spoke to Mr. Healy, and passed him notes, making recommendations in individual cases, an action which was contrary to the law and regulations. Apart from that the course taken by Mr. Medlar must create difficulties for the supervisors. If he desired to make recommendations he should make them at the meetings of the Board.

The Chairman, Mrs. Kettle, said that the consideration of the letter had been postponed at the time it was received, as many of the members were on holidays.

Senator L. O'Neill said that the Ministry's letter was undoubtedly a reflection on a member of the Board, and he thought that Councillor Medlar should be invited to reply to the inspector's report.

The suggestion was agreed to, Councillor Medlar stating that he had his reply ready, and the Ministry would not come well out of it.

DANCE IN AID OF HOSPITAL.

SUCCESSFUL BELFAST FUNCTION.

For many years the Children's Hospital in Queen street, Belfast, has done excellent work, but it has long been recognised that its building and equipment are out of date. A new site has been purchased, and soon, it is hoped, in this new building will be carried on the work. The new hospital adjoins the Royal Victoria Hospital and the new Belfast Maternity Hospital, and its duties will be carried out in close conjunction, with all medical and surgical improvements.

The Junior Committee of the Children's Hospital was formed three years ago. Its members are anxious to endow a cot to be called after them. For this purpose they held a dance in the new building last evening.

Miss Gwendoline Robinson, President of the Branch, carried out the duties of dance secretary, and others assisting her on the committee were:—Mrs. Herdman, Miss Jean Gordon, Mrs. Terence McConnell, Miss Inez Robinson, Miss Dorothy Craig, Mrs. Ronald Cunningham, Miss Doreen Morrison, Miss Isobel Mackie, and Mrs. Doxford.

Lady O'Neill's pale carmel satin gown was made with a train. Lady Bangor, in a black sequin frock, came with her daughter, the Hon. Mary Ward, who wore a pale lemon georgette frock, with a tomato brocaded coatee. Commander Oscar Henderson, who is private secretary to the Duke of Abercorn, came with Mrs. Henderson, who wore a Lido blue frock. Mr. J. C. Robb, K.C., M.P., was accompanied by Mrs. Robb, who was in black, and Miss K. Robb, who wore a pale green satin dress. Captain Maynard Sinclair brought Mrs. Sinclair, who was in blue satin. Mrs. George Clark was in a green chiffon gown, and brought a party with her.

Mrs. Doxford wore a pink chiffon dress, with a pink tucked bodice and pleat skirt. Miss Doreen Morrison wore a frock of painted tulle in pastel colouring. Mrs. Drummond Kirkpatrick, well-known in hunting circles, came in an emerald green georgette and lace gown. Mrs. J. D. Barbour's dress was of white satin with crystal trimming. Mrs. McNeile McCormack wore a brown velvet cape with her red lace frock. Major Terence Duffin accompanied Mrs. Duffin, whose black lace frock was worn with a matching coatee. Mrs. Malcolm Gordon chose a black satin gown. Her daughter, Miss Jean Gordon, was in a green chiffon frock. Mrs. Lucien Mem-

Speaking to representatives of th Foreign Press in London yesterday, Si John Simon, Foreign Secretary, said tha he would like it to be made quite plai that the very stringent action that th new Government had to take lately t maintain our own currency and to correc the balance of trade was emergency actio to meet an emergency situation. BEER, SPIRITS AND WINES.

TAXATION IN THE IRISH FREE STATE.

By a Special Correspondent.

SOMEONE has stated that a nation's drink bill is a sort of financial barometer, which rises in the days of prosperity and falls in times of financial depression. Be that is it may, one thing is certain, that the revenue collected in the Irish Free State under the heads of beer duties, spirit duties, and wine duties has dropped considerably in recent years.

BEER.

"Beer," which includes for revenue purposes stout, porter and ale, still continues to be the Free State's favourite tipple. But the consumption per head, which in 1923-24 amounted to 13.4 gallons, fell in the year 1930-31 to 8.9 gallons.

The number of standard barrels (36 gallons) on which duty was paid during the eight years 1923-1931 are:—

Year.	Barrels.
1923-24	1,128,085
1924-25	848,286
1925-26	694,040
1926-27	718,325
1927-28	695,608
1928-29	742,519 (a)
1929-30	683,000 (b)
1930-31	647,000 (b)

(a) Owing to period of brewers' credit being reduced from three to two months, the quantity on which duty was paid in this year represents thirteen months' brew.

(b) Estimated.

During the year 1923-24 the amount of duty paid on home-made beer came to £5,640,416. Last year (1930-31) the duty paid, the rate remaining unchanged, reached £3,216,650.

But while the consumption of home-made beer has dropped 43 per cent., there is little change to record in imported beer. The imports in 1923-24 were exceptionally low, but since they have fluctuated between 42,000 and 45,000 barrels annually. The Customs duty paid on this beverage last year amounted to £211,002.

SPIRITS.

During the period under review the consumption of home-made spirits (on which duty was paid) has dropped from .29 gallon per head in 1923-24 to .21 gallon per head for 1930-31. For the eight years last past the duty paid proof gallons of home-made spirits were:—

Year.	Proof Gallons.
1923-24	884,179
1924-25	751,867
1925-26	656,887
1926-27	663,469
1927-28	642,361
1928-29	663,770
1929-30	635,000 (a)
1930-31	609,000 (a)

(a) Estimated.

The amount of duty levied on home-made spirits reached £3,184,143 in 1923-24, but decreased in 1930-31 to £2,177,677.

Curiously enough, imported spirits show a similar decrease. In 1923-24 Customs duty amounting to £849,026 was paid on 236,074 gallons. Last year the duty amounted to £625,301 on 175,000 (estimated) gallons, which works out at .06 gallon per head. In 1921-22 the consumption per head of home-made spirits in Ireland was .30 gallon, and of imported spirits .06 gallon. In Northern Ireland the consumption per head in 1929-30 was .16 gallon and .07 gallon, respectively.

WINES.

The Free State's consumption of imported wines shows a big decrease. In 1923-24 Customs duty was paid on 857,946 gallons and totalled £221,132. Three years after the quantity imported had decreased to 606,240 gallons, but the total duty levied came to £240,063. In the year 1928-29 the wine duties levied on 566,045 gallons brought in £258,795. Last year the total levied amounted to £224,657. During the financial year 1926-27 the duty was doubled on certain wines.

The Excise and Customs duties levied on beer, spirits and wine for 1923-24 reached £10,062,698, and for 1930-31 the amount collected was £6,455,287. For the eight years ended March 31st last the beer, spirits and wine duties have contributed over fifty-nine and a half millions towards the revenues of the Irish Free State.

A public meeting was held in Cahir to protest against the price of 1s. 2d. per unit which was charged for electricity. A committee was formed to take up the matter with the Board.

TO-DAY'S TENBY CARD.

VIOLET MUNDY CHALLENGE CUP THE PRINCIPAL EVENT.

FROST, fog and floods have interfered with racing this season, and the latest victim is the Tenby meeting, the first day's programme having been postponed until to-day.

The principal race on the card will, of course, be the Violet Mundy Challenge Cup, a race named after Mrs. Mundy, who owns Western Flier and White Flag, two of the entrants in the Cup. It goes without saying that Mrs. Mundy will be especially keen to win the event, and she and D. Harrison have decided to rely upon White Flag.

At the first glance the grey does not appear to have a great chance; for he finished last of all but Nestorian in the Didcot Handicap Hurdle at Newbury. Several considerations, however, compel me to review his chance more favourably. In the first place, it is hardly likely that Harrison would run White Flag if he thought Western Flier had a better chance, and Western Flier has a smart winning record to his credit. The class of the animals engaged in to-day's event, too, is hardly up to that which White Flag met at Newbury. The final point is that White Flag ran a good race until a quarter of a mile from home, where he commenced to weaken. That was his first outing since last May, and the race should have done him good.

Yellow Oriel was my selection yesterday, and a very strong case can be made out for him. His second to Harem Guard at Cheltenham was a good performance, and showed a big advance on his previous effort at Cheltenham in November last. Before this season is over he will win good hurdle races, but in the event under consideration there does not appear to be much between him and White Flag. In the light of the latest information, I feel compelled to alter my selection to White Flag, but I still have a wholesome respect for Yellow Oriel.

Two additional runners are down to compete in the Wroughton N.H. Flat Race, and as a consequence the race should be a little more interesting. They are Strong One and St. Gowan. St. Gowan comes from Ireland, where he had a fair record. He is now stationed with Colonel Lindsay, who trains at Ystrad Mynach, Glamorgan. He has not run for some considerable time, but I am told he is expected to put up a fair show. Strong One ran in a couple of moderate selling hurdle races last February, and on that form does not look like a winner. Breconian, who recently ran well at Worcester, however, appears to be the danger to my original selection, Lough Mor. Lough Mor is in the ownership of Mrs. Mundy, who looks like having a good day at the meeting.

Mrs. Mundy may also run Dove's Pride in the first race, the Lawrenny Steeplechase, but her horse might be beaten by Handspike, whom I suggested as the likely winner yesterday.

FROM THE HUNTING FIELDS.

FINGAL HARRIERS.

The meet at St. Margaret's brought out the usual large number of followers. Scent was very bad in the early part of the day, owing to there being so much snow on the ground, but later on matters improved. A commencement was made on Harristown, where a brace of hares was quickly on foot. The selected one was hunted over Mr. Birmingham's farm and on by Poppintry, where the hare bore to the right over the Merryfalls to the Moate, where she was lost. We found again in Sillogue, and hounds ran through Coultry into the lands of Ballymun House almost to the old Charter School. Bearing to the right here, they crossed Miss Nagle's farm and ran straight into Harristown, where scent failed. A hare found in Huntstown gave a nice run through Dunbroe and on by the College farm to Barberstown, where we turned sharp to the right, and hounds went very fast over Pickardstown to the back of the Boot Inn, where we lost on the road, and this finished.

One of the biggest fields of the season met hounds at Elmgrove on Saturday last by invitation of Mrs. McKeever, who dispensed hospitality to all. On a poor scent a hare found at Elmgrove led almost to Gormanstown and through Killrickstown, where scent fizzled out. A hare found on Mr. Boylan's farm went away over Mullaghteelin Hill nearly to Stedalt, thence by Lisdornan to Kennetstown, and on to Leggan Hall. Turning to the right here, she ran over the high ground, before crossing the Bellewstown road into Rahulland, and on by Balgeen to Dardistown, where hounds were stopped.

Meeting at The Boot on Tuesday, we began with a nice ring round Collinstown, and lost our quarry in the wire entanglements of the aerodrome. Finding again in the big field attached to the aerodrome, hounds ran very smartly through Little Forest, and, crossing the Swords road into Great Forest, went on by Rahingle to Hilltown, thence through Brackenstown Glen almost to the town of Swords. Circling here, they re-crossed Hilltown to Brackenstown House, where she was left. There was a quick find in Knocksedan, and, after circling the farm, hounds ran through Killeek to the kennels, and on by Barberstown to Kingston, where they were stopped.

CO. LIMERICK HOUNDS.

A NINE-MILE POINT.

On Saturday last these hounds met at Kilmeedy village, and brought off the best hunt of the season. A very small field, mostly of the fair sex, was well rewarded. The first draw was Maine, which held, and after a little hunting in covert the fox broke on the north side. Hounds ran at a fast pace to Brook Lodge, and bearing right-handed, crossed the Ballingarry-Kilmeedy road and over the hill into Heathfield. Running through the covert hounds hunted well over the Heath into Croke's Hill, and, just skirting the east end of the covert, continued on towards Glenwilliam, short of which a sharp right-handed turn took us up to the hills again and on into Castletown. Here fresh foxes intervened, but hounds hunted away and ran on to Lees Cross, where they checked. Hitting off the line the pack hunted at a slower pace, pointing as if for the Black Hill, but bearing right-handed ran along the bottoms before turning up to Lisduane, where hounds threw up at the earth on Mr. Sexton's farm, which, of course, was not stopped owing to having run quite out of our country. Thus ended a nine-mile point, and about fifteen as hounds ran. Time—1 hour, 40 minutes.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE.

A WATER-LOGGED COURSE.

POSTPONEMENT AT TENBY.

DECISION AS TO TO-DAY'S RACING.

(FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Wednesday Night.

RACING was found to be impossible this afternoon at Tenby on account of the water-logged state of the course. It appears that it has never ceased raining in that remote corner of South West Wales since the new year, and it appears to have continued to rain all to-day.

It is very hard luck on those who are responsible for the conduct of the Tenby meeting that they should have struck this patch of weather, for it is only by the guarantees of some local residents and others that the meeting has been kept alive.

For a few years past it has only been hanging on by its eyebrows, so to speak. It would be a great pity if it had to go under after having survived the best part of a century. Tenby was quite an important racing centre in a small way when the late Mr. Lort Phillips lived close by at Lawrenny Park, and trained the good horses that carried the colours of the late Mr. Frank Bilby.

It has a minor distinction, too, in that it is the birthplace of F. B. Rees and L. B. Rees, but not, as is generally supposed, of the Anthony brothers. They came from the next county, Carmarthenshire.

A GRAND NATIONAL WINNER.

Glenside was trained at Tenby when he won the Grand National, and before his Liverpool success he ran at the Tenby meeting. Now David Harrison is the only trainer located there. It is, of course, a very inaccessible place at which to train horses, and necessitates very long railway journeys.

Some years ago a few South of Ireland owners used to send horses regularly to the meeting, and Mr. P. Sheehan's colours are very familiar there.

One of the features of the meeting for years was the Tenby Hunt ball, held on the night of the first day's racing. For some reason or other this has been abandoned, perhaps because it kept the jockeys up too late.

DECISION AT 9.30 A.M.

A decision as to whether racing is possible to-morrow will be made by the Stewards in the morning at 9.30 o'clock.

Should racing take place, the United Counties' Farmers' and Tradesmen's Hurdle Race, which was a part of the abandoned second day's programme, will be an addition to the first day's card, and will be run as soon as possible after the Wroughton National Hunt Flat Race, being timed as the 3.55 race.

SELECTIONS.

Suggestions for the day are that POUNCE may win the Violet Mundy Challenge Cup, and BRECONIAN the Wroughton National Hunt Flat Race.

WORK AT THE CURRAGH.

THE CURRAGH, Wednesday.

Another very wet morning, and it was late before horses left their several stables. Owing to the exceptionally heavy state of the going little real work was accomplished, and teams were chiefly restricted to the necessary healthy exercise.

BEHAN'S Knight of the Mist, Amor Vincit, Luck Gift and May Turn traversed a mile; Call Him, Kilnakirk, Roll Up, Sea Mark, Gold Amulet, Schweppes and the two-year-olds had brisk bouts of walking and trotting exercise.

BRABAZON'S Clendennen, Corcy and the two-year-olds were similarly engaged.

COLLINS' team had healthy exercise in the home paddocks.

DAWSON'S Arab Man, Orbell, Charming Prince and others of the Rathbride team cantered.

DOYLE'S Kildare's Pride, Reilly, Ripple On and others had useful bouts of healthy exercise.

FETHERSTONHAUGH'S Copper Court and Corolanty covered a mile and a half.

HARTIGAN'S Kilcash Hill, Lady Frivol, Gold Cygnet, High Warrendale and others of the Ruanbeg team were usefully employed.

PARKINSON'S Sabre, Gaelic Prince, Bib, Supina, Sack, Rockford, Film Fan, Kyleclare and Prince Prosper traversed a mile at a good pace; others of the Maddenstown Lodge team cantered.

ROGERS' Heraclida, Cap-a-pie II., and Talkative galloped a mile; the rest of the Crotanstown team had useful bouts of healthy exercise.

SLOCOCK'S Captured Late, Happy Memories, Lista, Ethel's Treasure, Jack's Puzzle, Jackalight, Lass o' Rheims and others of the Curragh View team had nice bouts of healthy exercise.

WELLESLEY'S Chota, Sahib, Coolayna, Prince Khan and the rest of the Friarstown team were usefully employed.

LAWN TENNIS.

THE RIVIERA COURTS DESERTED.

G. L. ROGERS A WINNER IN ONLY TOURNAMENT.

PARIS, Wednesday.

Once the rendezvous of society's greatest tennis players the famous courts of the Riviera are at the moment deserted. Riviera lawn tennis has suffered from the British "stay-at-home-and play" movement, just as the Swiss winter sports industry has suffered. One Riviera club has only four members. The Juan-les-Pins tournament, which was due to start next week, has been cancelled because of lack of entries.

In the only tournament so far decided, which was the Beau Site, at Cannes last week, Miss Hewitt and G. Lyttleton Rogers, the Irish Davis Cup player, were the winners.

At the moment the professional championship of France, in which Karel Kozeluh is defending at Beaulieu, a title he has held for six years, is the only tournament of any note. Kozeluh and Martin Plaa have entered the semi-finals of the Bristol Cup. Plaa beat Fritz Weiss 6-2, 6-2, 6-3, and Kozeluh beat Edmund Burke 6-1, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

BILLIARDS

ANOTHER RECORD BY LINDRUM.

Play was continued yesterday in the Lindrum-Newman match at Thurston's, London. In the opening session Lindrum had a total of 1,200 and an average of 150, while Newman had the comparatively meagre score of 362 for an average of 45. The chief breaks were 387 (from 136 unfinished), 104, 299, and 381 unfinished by Lindrum, and 121 and 137 by Newman.

Lindrum set up another record when, in a break of 643 in the evening session, he had a sequence of 284 cannons. The previous best was 276 by the Australian at Birmingham last year. The break was remarkable in that Lindrum took the balls round the table past five pockets before having to play a long-range winner. The break ended when he missed a screw-back cannon.

Lindrum, prior to this innings, had taken his unfinished break to 682, and for the session had a total of 1,014 and an average of 113. Newman's breaks were 559 (containing 61 and 100 cannons), 149, and 32 unfinished. He averaged 100 for 798. Closing scores:—Newman (rec. 7,000) (in play), 10,254; Lindrum, 6,325.

HORSES IN TRAINING.

PROMISING FLAT RACERS AND 'CHASERS AT CURRAGH VIEW.

BY OUR CURRAGH CORRESPONDENT.

MR. O. T. V. SLOCOCK is now entering upon his fourth year's residence at the Curragh, and it will be at once seen, by the list of the horses he has in training for the ensuing season, that the opinion of owners as to his ability has in no wise lessened. Indeed, he could not easily be a failure at this most arduous—and often heart-breaking—profession, for he comes from a family always successfully identified with the racing, training and breeding of horses in every branch.

Among his patrons are the American sportsmen, Mr. Gould-Shaw and Mr. Ambrose Clark, who take more than a mere perfunctory interest in their horses. Mr. Ambrose Clark, who makes frequent visits to the Curragh, likes the thoroughbred 'chaser stamp, and in a few of those I saw at Curragh View I think he has just got what he wants. Lord Osborne Beauclerk is another owner represented here.

UNLUCKY HORSES.

Last season Mr. Slocock would have been much higher up in the winning list but for the bad luck he had with that good two-year-old, Jackdaw the Second, and Runaway Jack. The latter broke a leg in his box preparatory to the Naas November Handicap, won by Hebrides, and this was surely an inglorious end to a really good horse. Jackdaw the Second was unlucky enough to knock up against the very best of our two-year-olds, including the champion Seamark. The colt is now trained in England, and it will surprise me greatly if he does not turn out a good winner this year.

MR. B. M. SLOCOCK, whose Jackdaw the Second was one of the best two-year-olds in Ireland last year.

Happy Memories is jumping hurdles, and she will doubtless do well over timber; while Ethel's Treasure (who has been resting since she showed smart form as a youngster) and Listra are being put over fences. Captured Late ran well recently at Baldoyle, and might have been, perhaps, a little nearer to the eventual winner but for a mistake at the last hurdle.

In Jack's Puzzle, Mr. Clark possesses the makings of a Grand National horse. He is a great big colt of tremendous strength, and there is no doubt that he will be given all the time that must be necessary to assure his proper development, and towards the end of the year he will be something good indeed to look at. He traces back to a Grand National winner in Comeaway. Pilot Ship and Easter Star are two others that will be seen over fences.

Lass o' Rheims was not put into serious training till towards the end of last season, and she ought to turn out a remunerative charge this year. Jackalight is a three-parts brother to the winner of the valuable Viceroy Cup—Nightjar.

Of the three-year-olds, chief reference may be made to La Sorciere, who is owned by Mr. Gould Shaw. She was a winner during last season and was second to Hill Song at Leopardstown, being beaten only three-parts of a length. She is in our Guineas and Oaks, and has done well. Artful Twinkle is also a winner, and has, too, done nicely. Steeplejack is half-brother to Lass o' Rheims, and, as well as Beauty of Rheims, who has yet to race, should be worth bearing in mind. Jack's Darling is on the small side, but has already shown a nice turn of speed.

SISTER TO BRIGHTER LONDON.

The now two-year-olds number a dozen, and make a distinctly attractive company. The own-sister to Brighter London and Jackdaw of Rheims is a good-looking filly, but bound to take time to develop. The own-sister to Jackdaw the Second is of nice size, and is racing-like. The colt by Linby—Lady Lucienne is also one that should eventually catch the judge's eye.

Mr. Shaw's diminutive filly by Arran Chief is from Kitty's Gift, who is a full-sister to Welcome Gift. A colt by Jackdaw—Kathleen Mavourneen is another who is likely to come to hand early. The stable, however, is not likely to hurry its horses, and most of the other two-year-olds will be given all reasonable time.

The horses in training at Curragh View are:—

ANOTHER WIN FOR SPRINGBOKS.

F. VENTER AND G. BRAND IN BRILLIANT FORM.

SOUTH AFRICANS 27
YORKSHIRE and CUMBERLAND.............. 5

UP to a point, the Yorkshire and Cumberland fifteen surpassed expectations in the match at Workington yesterday, but towards the end their energies flagged, and the side were handicapped owing to the retirement of Bonner, the full-back. This necessitated taking a man from the pack, and, with their weakened resources and Bradley, Stephenson and S. A. Martindale limping, the counties' fifteen conceded three tries during the last twenty minutes. Consequently the victory of the Springboks by three goals and four tries to a goal was very flattering.

F. VENTER.

It was anybodys game in the first half, when the Springboks were lucky to gain a lead. Bradley was able to get out some long passes to Williams and Bedford, and Novis ran strongly. Osler's kicking was by no means so good as usual, but Brand played a brilliant game for the tourists all through, and Venter, in the second half, was very difficult to hold up. He was, perhaps, the best man on the field, but Bonner gave a remarkably sound display at full-back for Yorkshire and Cumberland. The unorthodox formation of the Springboks' pack did not entirely succeed, due to the clever anticipation of the opposing side, but when the counties were shorn of full strength the tourists exerted their full weight in the scrummages, wheeled them, and gave their backs numerous opportunities of cutting through. At the same time, the last three tries scored were all very simple affairs. About six thousand people saw the match played in a heavy downpour

J. H. Van Der Westhuizen ran over with a couple of tries early in the game, good passing preceding each of the scores, and the first effort was improved by Brand. The Springboks handled a wet ball with much certainty, and the Yorkshire and Cumberland backs also brought off several bouts of neat handling, one of them leading to a try, by Williams. Booth made the opening for this, and Bedford and Williams took the ball through, the last-named running at a fine pace, to touch down for a try, that S. A. Martindale converted. That was all the scoring up to the interval, but the South Africans put up a stout defence, when their opponents tried rushes, and, after Bonner had to retire, the weakened counties' pack was rather over-played.

Novis, with a sound tackle, held up an attack by Venter, but Craven slipped round on the blind side for an unconverted try, and subsequently Venter (2), J. C. Van Der Westhuizen and Daneel added further tries, Osler kicking two goals.

Teams:—

Yorkshire and Cumberland—W. G. N. Bonner (Bradford); L. A. Booth (Headingley), L. L. Bedford (Headingley), A. L. Novis (Headingley), F. W. S. Malir (Otley); F. Williams (Headingley), D. Bradley (Morley); A. Blakeley (Carlisle), H. Martindale (Manchester University), J. Harley (Aspatria), S. A. Martindale (Kendal), E. Sykes (Huddersfield Old Boys), R. Bolton (Wakefield), K. Holden (Doncaster), T. Stephenson (Carlisle).

South Africans—G. Brand; J. H. Van Der Westhuizen, J. White, J. C. Van Der Westhuizen, F. Venter; B. Osler, D. Craven; M. Louw, P. J. Mostert, S. Du Toit, A. Van Der Merwe, P. J. Nel, V. Geere, N. J. Bierman, G. M. Daneel.

OPERATION ON J. C. TINDALL.

As a result of an injury sustained when playing for the South Africans against London at Twickenham on Boxing Day, J. C. Tindall, the Springboks' full-back, has undergone an internal operation in a London nursing home.

HUNT AND IEVERS SHOW UP WELL.

HAMPSHIRE .... 9 SUSSEX 0

Adapting themselves the better to the atrocious conditions which prevailed at Brighton yesterday afternoon, Hampshire gained a splendid victory by three tries to nothing over Sussex in the County Championship.

The Hove Stadium ground being in a deplorably muddy state and a strong wind driving rain from end to end, the conditions were such that orthodox play of any accurate character was quite out of the question. Many passes went astray, and all attempts at touch-finding were spoiled. Hampshire very sensibly realised the necessity to suit their methods to the demands of the occasion, and, concentrating upon using their feet, the backs and forwards worked with splendid effect. Sussex, on the other hand, never emulated the example set by their opponents, with the result that Hampshire did nearly all the attacking. Holding an advantage in weight, Hampshire forwards—Troop, Falla, Forrest, Sadler and Hodgkin, in particular—did splendidly. Behind them Bunney and Elliot, even if they did not start many passing movements by the three-quarters, showed up prominently in defence, as did Hunt and Ievers, the new full-back. Ronald gave a sound display at full-back for Sussex, while Holman, Baiss and Casement were the pick of the back in attack.

Each side might have made better use of the wind, although once in the second half Hunt made one fine long kick that travelled over seventy-five yards. Sussex, with the wind behind them, began well, and Dean nearly got in, but a try wide out by Ford gave Hampshire the lead in ten minutes. Hampshire went close to increasing this advantage when a bout of passing by the three-quarters almost sent Ford over. Hampshire pressed persistently after change of ends, and a fine rush by Falla nearly resulted in Sadler getting a try, and a similar movement enabled the same player to cross the line. Forrest failed with both kicks at goal. Sussex tried very hard to break away, and three times Ronald had to touch down to avert danger. Near the end Williams obtained another unconverted try for Hampshire.

WELSH TEAM'S TOUR IN THE SOUTH.

SWANSEA UNIVERSITY 6 CLANWILLIAM... 3

Yesterday afternoon Swansea University defeated Clanwilliam at Tipperary by 2 tries to 1. Heavy rain all the forenoon made the pitch a veritable quagmire, and rain was still falling when the teams took the field. The Swansea players sang "Faith of Our Fathers" before the kick off, the team getting a great reception from a big crowd. Clanwilliam scored first after thirty minutes. McElliogott, the scrum half, getting possession when Clanwilliam heeled from a scrum, dived over for a capital try, which Ryan failed to convert. Swansea replied five minutes later, when from a line out Morgan passed to Thomas. A fine movement developed between Thomas, Dark and W. Davies before Davies ran in at the corner flag, the conversion failing.

One minute after the interval A. L. Jones scored the winning try for Swansea after a great forward rush. Allowing for the adverse conditions the play reached a good standard, though at times both ball and players performed strange pranks on the slippery pitch. The handling of the greasy ball was good on both sides. Swansea dominated the set scrums, but Clanwilliam were slightly superior in the line-outs and loose play. For the winners, R. Jones, Davies, Phillips, Thomas and Morgan were prominent, while for Clanwilliam Ryan, McElliogott, Coffey, Kelly and Flynn were outstanding.

COURSING RETURNS AND DRAWS.

LONG DIVISIONS AT ST. MARGARET'S.

THE GAME SUPPLY RUNS SHORT.

BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

When the card at St. Margarets had been run through twice yesterday only a brace of hares remained, and a long division having been agreed to by the owners of the last four in the Collinstown Stake (puppies), they were utilised for the third round of the Barberstown Stakes and Weldon Cup. Kesgrave raised his third flag, March Honey unnecessarily ran his bye the respective owners tossed for the Cup, and thus ended a thoroughly disappointing day. I was informed that the Committee were satisfied that the supply of game was ample; but there were a number of no courses, due to dogs running unsighted, and so the stock ran short.

Surplus water lay all over the ground, and the coursing took place in a continuous downpour, the conditions being even worse than those which ruined the opening meeting of the season. One's sympathy, therefore, went out to the club, but, on the other hand, too many hares retraced their steps, and the trials consequently were rather uneven. Indeed, a few of the puppies were run off their legs. That did not occur often, however, and on the whole the hares, taking the conditions into account, stood up right well, and a large proportion of the courses resolved themselves into good tests of speed and greyhound merit.

A few of the youngsters experienced the ill-luck of the game, among them Celbridge Signal and M.R.C.V.S.; but the four survivors well earned their flags, particularly Mill Spinner and Sing Song, who in the first round got it hard, but came up well for the next. Kesgrave had a more searching test in the Barberstown Stake than March Honey, having to put out Coole Tom, Mad Dick and Ben Aiclin, but he ran on gamely to the end.

AUSTRALIA WIN THE "RUBBER."

LIVELY INNINGS BY C. L. VINCENT.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

AUSTRALIA won the Test "rubber" here to-day, beating South Africa in the third Test by 169 runs, after winning the first two. South Africa, faced with the hopeless task of getting 198 more runs from their three remaining wickets to win, were all out for 225. Grimmett, who took the three outstanding wickets in 18 minutes, had the splendid figures of 46 overs, 14 maidens, 92 runs, 6 wickets. Ironmonger took the four remaining wickets for 54. Vincent played a daring innings of 34, which included five 4's and a glorious straight drive for 6 off Grimmett.

C. V. GRIMMETT.

The weather was dull when the game was resumed, with the total at 198 for seven. Vincent scored 9 of the first 10 added, but then lost MacMillan, caught at cover point without addition to his overnight score of 1. Partnered by Quinn, Vincent went on hitting merrily, and he made 34 in 40 minutes, 24 in 22 minutes this morning before failing to a catch by Ponsford well back in the slips. This was at 225, and, without another run being scored, Grimmett ended the innings and match by clean bowling Bell for nothing. The innings lasted four minutes short of five hours.

Australia has now won the "rubber" against West Indies, England, and South Africa in that order. Score:—

AUSTRALIA—First innings—198. Second innings—554 (Woodfull 161, Bradman 167).

SOUTH AFRICA.—First innings—358.

COTTIER TENANT CONVENTION.

CALL FOR SCHEME OF PURCHASE.

CLAIMS OF A NEW ASSOCIATION.

THERE were delegates from Carlow, Sligo, Longford, Donegal, Tipperary, Louth, Kildare, Leix, Monaghan, Galway, Roscommon, Offaly, Meath, Waterford, Kerry and Limerick at the first National Convention of the Cottier Tenants' and Rural Workers' Association, held yesterday at 36 Parnell square, Dublin.

WORKERS' FIRST NEED.

Mr. E. Mansfield, Tipperary, who presided, said that the object of the Association was to keep the people on the land; to render the conditions as to employment, housing, etc., tolerable, if not attractive; to stay the rapid process of urbanisation and its attendant evils of slums and unemployment; to co-operate with those who aimed at developing the natural resources of the country.

The first need of their workers was work at reasonable pay under fair conditions, not charity or doles. They did not object to protection if it included consumers. They knew that protection meant more employment and better wages, and that homilies on cheap food of foreign origin were but an insult to unemployed men who had no money. The resources of the country should be exploited for the benefit of their own people. In the matter of national credit and public grants the workers had equal claims with other sections of the community. A big proportion of cottiers were the immediate descendants of workers cleared off the ranches by what all thinking people regarded as harsh and unjust laws, in defiance of the law of property. The real owners of the ranches of Meath would be found in the slums of Dublin. In these vast solitudes, which give no employment, their statesmen squandered the nation's resources in grants of financial help of all kinds. When it came to the mere worker they drew the line.

What they had to consider was the problem of existing labourers' cottages and the provision of new and much-needed housing facilities for rural workers, including working farmers.

A PURCHASE SCHEME.

"We are," said Mr. Mansfield, "out first of all for a purchase scheme on sane and considered lines, fair alike to cottier, to taxpayer and to ratepayer, and not merely in the individual interest of the cottier, but in those of the community; for we are convinced that transfer will lead to greater economy and stability for the State."

Cottiers did not want a rushed or ill-considered scheme. They asked for a committee of inquiry working under a time limit of, say, four months, to examine the finances of the Labourers Act, to report with a view to necessary legislation. In this demand they had the support of various public bodies, including the General Council of County Councils. It was a reasonable and necessary demand. Delay would render the task more difficult, if not impossible. The chief opposition to the claims came from the reactionary elements in the Local Government Department, the representatives of the ranchers in rural areas, and those of the rack-renting urban houselords who felt that their tenure of impossible rents in slum areas was more likely to be called in question if the rural worker had security of tenure at a reasonable rent in his cottage. In purchase there was no question of raising further loans, or of saddling the community with additional expense. It was a matter of redeeming the balance of the existing loans, and the cottier would not shirk his share of the burden. Cottiers welcomed a reasonable veto so as to ensure that the houses would remain for the benefit of the class that they were intended for, a veto similar to that which now existed in the hands of the Irish Land Commission in the case of farms subject to annuities.

Under the labourers' code of Housing Acts, about £7,400,000 was borrowed to build somewhat more than 42,000 cottages. The average inclusive cost per house for plot, construction, legal and engineering fees was about £173. Under the Labourers Acts preceding those of 1906 nearly half the total cottages were built for £3,600,000, borrowed under various schemes by the local authority from the Commissioners of Public Works at rates varying from 3 to 4½ per cent., and for periods ranging from 20 to 50 years. Generally the rate was 3½ per cent., and the period 40 years. The combined loan payment, including sinking fund, was £14 13s. 4d. Many of the loans under the earlier Acts had already been redeemed, the loan charges were lessening rapidly, and in about a dozen years would, for the vast bulk of them, have disappeared.

LOAN CHARGES.

At present the loan charges reached about £100,000 a year—a rapidly decreasing sum—and of this the Exchequer grants met £29,205, leaving about £79,000 per annum to be met by the local authorities. It would be noted, therefore, that on thousands of cottages, built for upwards of 40 years, the loan charges had ceased, and within 12 to 15 years almost all the houses built under the earlier Acts would be free of such charges. Roundly, half the cottages were constructed under the Labourers' Act, 1906, by loans aggregating nearly £3,000,000, borrowed from the Irish Land Commission upon precisely the same terms as those that farmers got under the Wyndham Act (1903), the inclusive rate being 3¼ per cent. The public, generally confounding the 2¾ per cent. paid to the stockholders with the rate of interest at which the sinking fund would be invested, wrongly assumed that the period of payment would be 68½ years. County Councils, in framing a scheme of purchase of cottages; the General Council of County Councils, the Minister for Local Government and Agriculture, had all fallen into the same error. There was nothing about the 68½ years in the 1903 Act.

The period of redemption was to be the number of years in which the sinking fund invested at available rates—the accumulation to be used periodically for cancelling the land stock at favourable prices—would redeem the capital sum borrowed. Had the rate been only 2 per cent. throughout the period under 81 years, at 5 per cent. it would be 48½ years, at 6 per cent. about 43 years. A sinking fund of 10s. per cent. would, even at 4¾ per cent., redeem £248 10s. in 68 years, at 5 per cent. £284, at 5½ per cent. £365, at 6 per cent. £470. The rate of interest never went below 3 per cent. Between 1904 and 1914 it averaged nearly 3½ per cent. For the past 18 years it averaged nearly 5½ per cent. not only for the new and growing sinking funds but for previous accumulation allocations. It might be taken as averaging almost 5¼ per cent. over the whole period of twenty-eight years. That was only one factor accelerating the period of redemption. The accumulations were used periodically to cancel the stock. Even if the rate of interest stood permanently at 2¾ per cent, and the price of stock 50, the period could by that one factor alone be lessened to 40 years. The two combined at varying low rates and at varying low prices in such a manner that not even the National Debt Commissioners could foretell the exact date of redemption from the date of vesting generally.

THE KILDARE SCHEME.

It might be taken that the original estimated period would be reduced by half. This accorded with the Act and the moral right of the farmer—a right so emphasised in the big question of retention of the payment to Britain. This matter concerned all farmers who had purchased under the Acts preceding the Treaty. Whether the advantage is taken in the reduced period of payment—the legal right—or by negotiation in the direction of substantial reductions, for which there was precedent, was a matter of high national policy. Options could be given that the reckoned period of 68½ years could be reduced by 30 years, or that without extending the 68½ years material reductions could be secured not even the National Debt Commissioners could deny. As far back as 1910 they themselves held more than half the stocks then issued. It was obvious that the Kildare scheme accepted by the County Councils General Council and issued by the Local Government Department as a model scheme would not bear examination. On the loan of £3,800,000 the annual charges exceeded £123,000 a year. Even were the period 38½ instead of the 68½ accepted in the scheme, the accumulated payments in the extra 30 years would mean £3,690,000, a considerable trifle that the cottiers insist must be discussed before they accept such a scheme. Of the £123,000 a year State grants would meet 36 per cent. or £44,000 a year, leaving £79,000 on the local authorities. Thus under both sets of Acts the local authorities had to meet £158,000 a year, of which they received about £125,000 from the tenants and £33,000 from the rates.

The annual loan charges were divided as follows:—Tenants meet £125,000; the State £73,000; rates £33,000.

The amount falling on the rates was a rapidly decreasing sum; in addition, local authorities were legally liable for repairs, etc. Such charges averaged over a number of years would mean about £1 per cottage; with the £33,000 it would reach £75,000 a year, or, say, 2½d. in the £, spread over the whole State. Agricultural land was relieved of 60 per cent. of this, so that the constantly grousing ratepayer who got 5s. 6d. in the £ relief of rates had actually to bear only 1d. in the £ for cottages. Of the rate relief the large ranchers got 55 per cent., though they numbered but 7 per cent. of landholders. In that area a non-resident rancher who only employed two men got £300 a year from general taxation, more than would pay the combined charges on 50 cottages in which nearly 300 people could reside.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

Resolutions were adopted on the motion of Mr. M. Ryan, Pallasgreen, seconded by Senator Cummins, Kildare—(1) Demanding an inquiry into the whole question of labourers' cottages with regard to the formulation of a purchase scheme; (2) protesting against the recent penal circulars of the Local Government Department; (3) condemning the retrograde step taken in differentiating in the Housing Act, 1931, against the rural worker and the working farmer; (4) that in the distribution of grass lands by the Land Commission the claims of cottiers and villagers should receive consideration.

Mr. W. Davin, T.D., and Mr. A. Cassidy, T.D., addressed the meeting, and promised the organisation their support. Mr. P. Clancy, T.D., was among those present.

Messrs. Kerins and O'Farrell acted as secretaries.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL SALES.

At yesterday's wool sale at Sydney the offerings amounted to 9,636 bales, of which 9,268 were sold. Private sales totalled 997 bales. There was an average selection. The market was firm at Tuesday's level. Japanese demand was again the outstanding feature, Yorkshire and Continental support being limited. Prices continued to show a hardening tendency for medium to average top-making wools. Greasy merino and comeback fetched up to 13½d. and cross-bred up to 10d.

"SCAB CATTLE."

SIX FARMERS' ACTION IN DUBLIN MILK DISPUTE.

A case arising out of the Dublin milk dispute, in which six farmers of Castlewarden were charged with malicious injury on December 17 to fifteen cattle, belonging to William and Alfred Beatty, of Lockstown, Milltown, came on at Kilmainham District Court yesterday.

Superintendent O'Reilly explained that the cattle were driven four or five miles and decorated with cards bearing the words "scab cattle."

Mr. Reddin said that Mr. Beatty could sell his milk at whatever price he liked, and the defendants should not have molested him. He dismissed the charges under the Probation Act, and ordered each defendant to pay 20s. as compensation to Messrs. Beatty, and 20s. costs each.

NEW ZEALAND WOOL SALES.

Seventeen thousand bales were offered at the wool sale at Launceston. A good clearance was effected, the bulk of the offerings being taken by local manufacturers, Scotland and Japan, and good support coming from the United Kingdom as a whole and the Continent. Bradford only made very small purchases. It is estimated that the average prices obtained represent an advance of 20 per cent. on last year's average of 8½d. The top price was 30½d., paid by the Continent for six bales of superfine merino wool, this price being 6d. higher than the Australian record for this season. Quotations showed an improvement of 5 to 10 per cent. on the closing rates at the last Melbourne sale. A feature of the sale was the advance compared with last year in the prices for cross-bred and three-quarter-bred, quotations being 50 per cent. higher in some cases.

There was a brighter tone at yesterday's wool sale at Wellington than at the sale held in December. Nearly 19,000 bales were offered. Passings were fewer than in December, and over 14,000 were sold. A full bench of buyers was present, and competition was frequently excited for desirable lots. Continental representatives, particularly French and German, were the principal operators. Bradford was more reserved, while Japanese demand was keener than at the December sales. Prices for medium cross-breds were on a par to a farthing higher than in December. Good half-breds were keenly sought and advanced a halfpenny, and prices for the lower qualities were unchanged.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

LIST RALLIES VIGOROUSLY AND CLOSES STRONG.

REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.

NEW YORK, Wednesday.

The Stock Exchange to-day opened firm, yesterday's late rally being resumed in the early trading. At the same time, commission houses are advising the exercise of caution pending constructive developments.

The market subsequently developed pronounced strength in active trading before profit-taking caused slight reactions. Support quickly re-appeared, the market, which had given signs of being in an oversold condition, rallying vigorously.

With the news from Washington and abroad helping to dissipate the recent gloom, the market later in the session crept higher in a range of 2 to 11 points, with Shorts being caught napping in some volatile issues.

Financial quarters are particularly encouraged by advices that Congress may pass this week the measure for a two billion dollar reconstruction finance corporation, which is designed to provide ready credit in emergencies to financial institutions, railroads and other important concerns.

Moreover, private banking advices indicated to-day that marked progress had been made abroad in reaching an international agreement on the question of German debts.

The list continued to advance late in the session, in spite of occasional profit-taking, and the market at the close was strong.

Westinghouse Electric to-day declared a quarterly dividend of 62½ cents., which is unchanged from the previous disbursement.

Government Bonds were irregular. Railroad Bonds were firm.

The day's sales totalled approximately 1,800,000 shares.

Money on call closed steady at 3 per cent. bid and 3½ per cent. asked.

All business done during the day was concluded at 3 per cent. Sterling in New York to-day ruled easier. Silver ⅛c. lower at 29⅝.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Wednesday.

Towards the close of trading to-day all grains reacted partially under scattered selling and realising. Wheat values improved in unison with the strength of the Stock market and the firmness at Winnipeg. There was a good demand from commission houses, while a lack of pressure and light receipts, coupled with an improved export interest, were other bullish factors. Reports that France and England had agreed to extend the German moratorium for three years favourably influenced sentiment, while active covering by shorts, together with aggressive Eastern buying and a lack of pressure from the Argentine, further assisted the rise. Buying by commission houses, light receipts and unfavourable weather reports helped maize values to improve. The market was also influenced by the strength of the wheat and stock markets. There were scattered offerings of cash maize, which were mostly above the market. Rye values strengthened owing to a fair demand, coupled with a good export inquiry from Scandinavia. Trading in oats was quiet, prices moving up in unison with maize.

Christmas Night Shooting.

Prison for Resisting Arrest

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Wednesday.

A REMARKABLE scene on Christmas night in the Grosvenor road district of Belfast was described to the Belfast Recorder to-day, when Alexander McIlhone, of Argyle street, was charged with the attempted murder of Constable Charles A. Lewis.

The constable told the Court that his attention was first attracted to McIlhone when he was standing at the corner of Osman street with three or four men and a few women using filthy language. When somebody said: "There is the police," the prisoner became very abusive and struck a fighting attitude. Witness, who was accompanied by Constable Loughrey, arrested McIlhone, who became very violent, and struggled the whole way to the barracks. Two civilians went to the assistance of the police for some part of the way.

"A crowd collected in Albert street," said the witness, "and they became hostile. I was struck at the back of the head and knocked down. I threw myself forward and flung my arms round the prisoner's feet to prevent him escaping, and then struggled to my feet, still keeping hold of him. As I got to my feet I saw my revolver in the prisoner's hand, close to my body and pointing to my stomach. I shouted to Constable Loughrey: 'John, he has my gun,' and grabbed prisoner's arms and deflected the revolver from my body and jumped back just as a shot went off."

Mr. B. Fox, for the accused man, said that it was evident that this was a mixed-up affair, and the discharge of the revolver was due to an accident caused by the hostility of the crowd and not by the prisoner, who had no intention of shooting or attempting to kill the constable.

The accused man was found guilty of firing the revolver with intent to resist arrest, and was sentenced to four months' imprisonment with hard labour.

Attempted Murder Charge.

Drogheda Girl's Jump from Moving Car.

A young man named Joseph Owens, of Drogheda, was charged at Kilmainham District Court yesterday with the attempted murder of Miss Mimi Tiernan, also of Drogheda, at Balrothery on December 31st, and remanded to Swords District Court, bail being fixed.

He was also charged with failing to stop his motor car when called on, with assaulting the Guards and with resisting arrest.

Superintendent O'Halloran said that Owens and Miss Tiernan had been keeping company. On the night of December 31st Owens went to a dance in Balbriggan, and, according to the police case, told Miss Tiernan that his mother was dying. She went with him in his motor car, and he drove off towards Dublin. On the way he was alleged to have said to her: "You should not live; I'll kill you." As a consequence of what ensued the girl threw herself out of the car and was injured.

Owens then came back, gave the girl a coat, and subsequently removed her to a house near by.

The Superintendent went on to say that he and some of the Guards went out in a motor car and saw Owens's car. When they got near him he accelerated. One of the Guards caught the steering wheel, however, and the car ran into a ditch. He then refused to get out of the car, and a long struggle ensued to get him out.

BOXING.

IRISHMEN BEATEN.

VICTORIES FOR CROSSLEY AND BEBBINGTON AT BELFAST.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

TWO very attractive contests figured on the programme which Mr. Jim Rice, in conjunction with the Ulster Sports Club, promoted last night in the Ulster Hall, Belfast, for the local hospitals.

In addition to the eliminating fly-weight contest for the Lonsdale Belt between Fred Bebbington (Manchester) and Jackie Quinn (Belfast), the Irish champion, there was a ten-rounder, in which Harry Crossley (Doncaster), the cruiser-weight champion of England, met Tommy Toner, the Draperstown youth, who was ex-amateur light-heavy-weight champion of America, and is regarded as the Irish heavy-weight champion since Dave Magill retired.

CROSSLEY'S EASY WIN.

The fight between Crossley and Toner resulted in an easy win for the Englishman, who won nine of the ten rounds. He hit much the faster of the two, and his clean, straight lefts scored nearly every time, whereas Toner's ponderous right swings did little damage.

Toner seldom landed to any effect on an opponent who boxed well on the retreat, and also chose the right moment to attack.

THE FIGHT DESCRIBED.

Round 1—Crossley was the more aggressive at the start, and landed several rights to the body before Toner connected with two nice rights to the head and the body. A slow round was slightly in Crossley's favour.

Round 2—Another slow and rather scrambling round saw Crossley landing frequently with straight lefts on the retreat, but Toner's right leads were frequently effective.

Round 3—Crossley started the round well with lefts to the body, but Toner landed heavily to the face with a couple of right swings. Crossley again scored well with rights at the end of the round.

Round 4—This round consisted mainly of Crossley propping his opponent off with straight lefts to the body, and Toner countering with right swings to the head. Both were too slow to do much damage.

Round 5—This was Crossley's round by a wide margin. He landed time after time with both hands to head and body, while Toner was too slow to get in a damaging punch.

Round 6—Again Crossley's leads found their mark on Toner's body frequently, but the latter landed a couple of swings towards the end of the round.

TONER MISSES A CHANCE.

Round 7—Toner did better this time, and landed heavily to Crossley's face, but missed badly with a right swing that might have put the Englishman out, and Crossley fought back well.

Round 8—Crossley fought well on the retreat, and his faster punching with the left gave him the advantage.

Round 9—Like the previous rounds, Crossley kept on landing with his left, but was now concentrating on Toner's face. The latter's obvious swings were easily countered, but towards the end of the round he got Crossley on the ropes, and landed two or three heavy right swings.

Round 10—Toner was still too slow, and held on repeatedly, and Crossley was an easy winner on points.

QUINN'S GREAT DISPLAY.

The second attraction of the night, the fly-weight eliminating contest, between Jackie Quinn, the Irish champion, and Fred Bebbington, of Manchester, produced a wonderful "scrap." The Englishman gained a narrow decision on points, and his aggression and strength at close quarters just about justified the verdict, but Quinn, at long range, put up a wonderful show, his left scoring a lot of points, while he attacked well in the closing stages.

Bebbington, however, was the stronger of the two, and carried the heavier punch, his right crosses to the body shaking up Quinn in the earlier rounds.

Both men kept up a terrific pace from start to finish, and brought the house down by their game punching in the last three rounds. It was by far the best fight of the evening; in fact, one of the best seen in Belfast for years, and a draw might have been a better verdict.

PETERSON OUTPOINTS DALE.

The opening bout of the night, between Carl Peterson, of Belfast, and Norman Dale, of Gateshead, produced plenty of hard, rugged hitting, without much science. Dale started well, and at the end of the third round looked the stronger of the two, but Peterson weakened him with heavy right punches to the head in the fourth round, and nearly had him out in the fifth. Dale fought pluckily, employing a useful left hook, but was well beaten on points.

WARNOCK'S GOOD WIN.

The six-round fight, between Billy Warnock, of Belfast, and W. Jack, of Gateshead, was a scrambling affair, in which the Belfast lad was far more aggressive, and scored frequently with lefts to the face. He was also quicker at close quarters, and well deserved his victory.

UNPOPULAR DECISION.

The light-weight fight, between McDermott, of Dublin, and Downey, of Belfast, was a fast but scrappy affair. McDermott nearly had his man out in the third round, and won the last round clearly, and the decision in Downey's favour was very badly received.

O'BRIEN DISQUALIFIED.

The cruiser-weight fight, between Jack O'Brien, the Irish champion, and J. McGuire, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, was a poor, scrambling affair, neither man showing any ability at long range. O'Brien was unlucky to be disqualified for a low blow, in the last round, when he had a clear points' margin in his favour.

IRISH AMATEURS.

At a meeting of the Central Council, I.A.B.A., last night, the following team was selected to represent Ireland against the Imperial Services at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, on 19th inst:—

The same team will meet England at Sheffield on February 2, with the exception of P. Byrne, who will be replaced by G. Brady (St. Andrew's), in the feathers.

PROPOSED MULLER-GAINS MATCH.

ALBERT HALL COUNCIL AND COLOUR BAR.

Negotiations have reached a definite stage for a match between Larry Gains, the coloured Canadian heavy-weight champion, and Hein Muller, who defeated Reggie Meen this week. The chief obstacle is the colour bar placed by the Royal Albert Hall authorities on all Mr. Jeff Dickson's tournaments there. A meeting of the Council of the Hall will be held to-day to decide the matter, and if Muller obtains a three weeks' postponement of his American match and the ban is lifted the German will meet Gains.

The secretary of the Albert Hall explained yesterday that the Council decided that, after Siki, the Singalese, had been prevented by the Home Office from entering England in 1923 to fight Joe Beckett at the Albert Hall, in future no coloured boxers should appear in the building as active fighters, and that bar has held good up to now.

He was unable to say whether the bar on all coloured boxers will be removed, or whether only British subjects of colour will be permitted to box there.

The Royal Albert Hall is the only arena in England at which coloured boxers are not permitted to appear. Al Brown, the world's bantam-weight champion, boxed at Olympia under the N.S.C. auspices, and he also appeared at Manchester. Among the coloured boxers who fought at the old National Sporting Club in Covent Garden were Sam McVea, Sam Langford and the great Peter Jackson.

WALKER AND SCHMELING TO SIGN TO-DAY.

NEW YORK, Wednesday.

The world's heavy-weight boxing championship will be at stake on 25th February, when, under the palms of Miami, where Phil Scott was beaten by Sharkey, Max Schmeling, the holder, will meet the former middle-weight champion of the world, Mickey Walker, who is now a light-heavy-weight. Walker is a terrific puncher, but he weighs only about 12st. and is only 5ft. 6½in. in height. Schmeling is 6ft. 1in. in height and weighs over 14st. He won his title from Jack Sharkey on a foul on June 12th, 1930, in New York. He defended it against Young Stribling last July at Cleveland Stadium, the fight being won by Schmeling on a technical knock-out in the last round of a 15-round fight.

The fight is one of the first big promotions of the Madison Square Garden Corporation under its new manager, Jimmy Johnston, who said the men would be signing up to-morrow

PRISONER ESCAPES.

PURSUERS ELUDED.

While a prisoner, who had been sentenced to three months hard labour in Glasgow Sheriff Court yesterday was being conveyed from the courtroom to the cells in the County Buildings, Ingram street, Glasgow, he wrenched himself free from his escort, and, running along the corridors, succeeded in gaining the street.

Although many gave chase he eluded his pursuers. The prisoner had been sentenced for assault and for malicious mischief by smashing a window in No. 13 cell at the Eastern Police Station.

MERCANTILE OFFICERS' RELIEF FUND.

The Mercantile Marine Masters' and Officers' Relief Fund Committee has made an appeal to the public for assistance.

The Fund, which was instituted in 1919, was formerly financed by grants from the Prince of Wales's Fund for the relief of cases of unemployment among masters and navigating and engineer officers due to the war. Owing to the amount of distress since prevailing, the Fund was continued.

The Committee points out that the need for relief has seriously increased owing to the unprecedented depression in the shipping trade. Men with years of service are unemployed, and, as they did not come within the scope of unemployment insurance, relief or pensions, many of them are faced with poverty. Subscriptions will be received by Mr. R. G. Quirk, Hon. Secretary of the Fund, at the offices, 23 Eden quay, Dublin.

WOMEN'S HOCKEY.

LEINSTER TRIAL VENUE.

The first Leinster trial game, to be played on Saturday next between "A" and "B" teams, will take place at Civil Service grounds, Terenure, starting at 2.30.

INTER-PROVINCIAL MATCHES.

The inter-provincial matches will be played at Alexandra College grounds, Milltown, and the following is the order of matches:—

January 21—Munster v. Leinster; Ulster v. Connaught.
January 22—Connaught v. Leinster; Ulster v. Munster.
January 23—Munster v. Connaught; Ulster v. Leinster.

FREE STATE F.A. TO MEET I.F.A.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE TO BE HELD.

At a meeting of the Council of the Football Association of the Irish Free State, held last night, a lengthy discussion took place in regard to the international position.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:—

"Arising out of the circular letter to the various bodies comprising this Association on the international position, and with reference to the reply of the I.F.A., Ltd., to the F.A. (England), the Council of this Association hereby express their willingness to meet the I.F.A., Ltd., in conference in relation thereto."

The I.F.A., Ltd., will be written to on this subject.

PROTEST OVER-RULED.

An objection by St. James's Gate against Bray Unknowns playing their Free State Cup tie with Cork at Shelbourne Park instead of at Bray was defeated on a vote.

Bray Unknowns complained that Cork had called off their League game fixed for December 27, and had arranged a match with Waterford instead, which had caused a serious set-back to Bray, who claimed compensation from the F.A., as the Bray Club regarded the body as being indirectly responsible for the happening. The letter was referred to the Cork Club for their observations.

A letter from Bohemians F.C. in regard to J. McMahon assisting Cliftonville without receiving permission was read. It pointed out that Mr. McMahon did not know that he had to receive a permit. The explanation was accepted.

DOLPHIN v. MOTHERWELL.

Dolphin received permission to play Motherwell in Dublin on April 29 or 30; and Bray to meet Bedouins (Cheshire League) at Bray on January 17.

Brideville notified that they had suspended J. Dickson, a professional of their club.

There was a profit of £210 in the game with Spain.

A special meeting of the Council will be held on January 16.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

TONE AND COMMENT.

DUBLIN IDLE.

PRICES IRREGULAR.

Business on Dublin Stock Exchange showed no signs of expansion yesterday, but here and there prices hardened. Funds, both Free State and British, made a mixed showing. Dublin New Fives rose to par. Dealings in Banks were featureless.

Railway issues were weak, and all price changes were to lower levels. Dublin Tram Pref. repeated 143s. 9d.

Guinness units showed no recovery, and, after touching 78s. 6d., closed at 78s. 9d. B. and I. Pref. fell sevenpence to 13s. 9d. Alliance Gas rose 1/16 to 10⅜.

The feature of the Industrial market was the comparative firmness of Sewing Cottons in view of the reduction of the dividend to a five per cent. basis. The marking here was 27s. 9d., as compared with 29s. in Manchester on Tuesday night. Naturally, Coats gave way to the extent of a shilling. Courtaulds also closed lower. The "bid" prices for the Tobacco issues were both better. Unilever (N.V.) lost the turn, and Burmah Oil came to business at 34s. 9d.

LONDON FIRM.

GILT-EDGED AGAIN GOOD.

Although the volume of dealings passing in the London Stock markets yesterday showed signs of broadening, it cannot be said that trading was anywhere on an active scale. Despite the continued slackness of attention, however, decidedly firmer conditions developed in practically every department, and prices were not slow to respond to the change in sentiment, with the result that at the end a lengthy list of more or less substantial appreciations was shown, while in only a few directions did quotations show a loss on the day's business. The Industrial sections especially made a good recovery from their recent setback. The receipt of more favourable advices from Wall Street was reflected in the trans-Atlantic issues, a good demand at improving values being encountered. Following the previous day's appreciable improvement, British Funds opened on a strong note, and quotations advanced further in the early dealings. Around midday an easier tendency became apparent, but quotations firmed up again in the afternoon, and finished nearly at the best.

India stocks also continued on the up grade, but Australians and others of the Colonial Government stocks were idle, though they maintained a steady appearance. There was not a great deal of interest passing in the market for Foreign Government stocks, and the general tone was irregular. German Bonds, however, again made a good showing, the Sevens rising a further 1½ points to 62½, while the 5½ p.c. finished at 49½. A somewhat firmer tone was apparent among British Rails, and values marked fractional improvements in several instances, despite the adverse traffic returns. Among Colonial and Foreign Rails, the Buenos Ayres issues strengthened, as did "Can. Pacs.," but others were neglected though generally maintaining a steady appearance. While not a great deal of business was transacted in the Industrial markets, the general trend of values was favourable to holders, and in many cases the previous day's recessions were more than made good. Tobaccos gained ground, and Banks and Matches were other firm markets. Anglo-Americans were supported on the better advices from Wall Street, and Cables and Wireless showed a firmer front.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

INTERNATIONALS RALLY.

Although hesitation was still observable in places, a brighter tendency developed in most sections of the Industrial market yesterday. This was attributed to more favourable reports regarding the international situation, there being talk of a five years' moratorium for war debts. A more active trading was reported during the afternoon than for some time past, though most of the business was on account of professional operators.

With Wall street in a buying mood, the Transatlantic counters gathered fresh strength. U.S. Steels recovered to 58 at one time, eventually closing at 57½. Nickels advanced to 11⅞, Brazilian Tractions to 14¾, Hydros to 9¾ and Radios to 8 11/16. "Emmies" reflected American tendencies, the final quotation of 18s. 7½d. leaving them 10½d. higher on balance.

Cables and Wireless stocks developed a firmer appearance in sympathy with the general trend. The Pref. stock gained ½ to 47, the "A" Ord. ½ to 17, and the "B" Ord. ⅜ to 10⅜.

Signs of more activity in the home market for Iron and Steel was reflected in share values. Babcocks took the lead with an improvement of 1s. 6d. to 44s. 9d., Guest Keens hardened to 15s. 9d., and Vickers to 8s. 6d.

Motors gave a rather mixed display. Fords, Thomas Tilling, Leylands and Austins received moderate support, but Dennis, Rolls Royce and Rovers were dull spots.

The leading Tobacco shares attracted attention, with most of the interest centred around "Bats," which advanced 1/16 to 3 11/16. "Imps" gained the turn at 3 13/16, and Gallahers at 1 1/16.

Breweries failed to derive much benefit from the general change in sentiment, though prices hardened in places. Bass gained a few pence at 45s. 9d., and Ind Coope at 43s. 6d. On the other hand, Benskins were offered at 24s. 6d., Guinness at 79s. 3d., Mitchells and Butlers at 36s., and South African Breweries Ord. at 47s., the last-named showing a decline of 1s.

Textiles generally remained on the dull side. Linen Thread, however, proved an exception, with an improvement of 1/16 to 1 3/16. This company's report is due at the end of the month. Sewing Cottons remained around 27s. 6d. on the halving of the interim dividend, while J. and P. Coats gave way 7½d. to 39s. 7½d., with "Slubbers" offered at 3s. 3d. and Wardles at 1 11/16. The rest closed without net change.

Rayons presented a firmer front. Courtaulds recovered Tuesday's loss, closing buyers at 35s. 1½d., with the Preference shares a trifle better at 18s. British Celanese Ordinary hardened 3d. to 9s. 9d., while American and Canadian Celanese closed quietly steady.

In the Provision group, Lovell and Christmas moved up 1/16 to 5/16, while the Unilever issues strengthened 1/32 in the latter dealings to 1 5/16. Tate and Lyles again showed a drooping tendency at first, but later recovered to the overnight level. Home and Colonials hardened to 13s. 1½d.

Late advices from New York were reflected in another improvement of 6d. in Woolworth Ordinaries at 50s., and the Preference reached par. Elsewhere Debenhams Securities Pref. again attracted attention, and put on 4½d. to 5s. 4½d. Waring Ordinaries, however, were scaled down a few pence to 2s.

The early strength of the funds and further consideration of the Westminster announcement resulted in further advances in home Banking issues.

Insurance descriptions continued their upward trend.

Early New York advices and the improved sentiment regarding the Continental position resulted in a sharp advance in Kreuger and Toll and Swedish Match. The former rose ⅜ to 7¼, and the latter ½ to 5 3/16. Following recent weakness, Pinchin Johnsons attracted support and recovered 1s. 4½d. to 22s., while Spillers continued under the influence of impending developments in connection with the wheat quota. The Ordinary moved up 6d. to 33s., and the Deferred 4½d. to 14s. 9d., while Associated Flour Millers came in for some attention around 10s. 6d.

Imperial Chemical Ordinaries left off 6d. better at 14s. 7½d., and the Deferred 3d. higher at 4s. 6d., while the Preference hardened to 19s. 1½d. The full Turner and Newall accounts were regarded as satisfactory, and the shares responded to the extent of 10½d. to 24s. 3d.

Triplex Glass put on 1s. to 32s. 3d. Exceptionally, Dunlops proved a dull spot, and receded 3d. to 14s. 9d.

OIL SHARES HARDER.

Conditions in the Oil share market yesterday were distinctly brighter than for some days past, although it cannot be claimed that the volume of transactions showed much expansion. Price movements without exception were in the upward direction. The main reason for the firmness which developed in international counters was to be found in a keen demand from Paris, the shares mainly affected being Royal Dutch, Shells and the Eagle issues, all of which moved to higher levels. Other leading counters participated in the improvement, while several of the more speculative favourites strengthened, prominent among them being Apex (Trinidad), Trinidad Leaseholds, V.O.C. and Lobitos.

RUBBER SHARES QUIET.

Trading was again on a restricted scale in the Rubber share market, and, in the absence of attention, share values were not greatly changed, the lower levels returned in several directions on the previous day being repeated. Quiet conditions also characterised the raw material market, but the firmer values ruling at the commencement were well maintained. Thus spot and January fetched 3 1/16d. per pound, March 3 3/16d. per pound, and April to June 3¼d. per pound.

RAYON MARKET.

CHEERFUL OUTLOOK.

MANCHESTER, Wednesday.

A fairly cheerful tone was evident in the rayon piece goods market for the start of the year. Some makers have more work before them than for many months, but others are not so favourably placed. The home trade has again provided most of the business. This has been principally in high-class dress goods, such as satins, voiles and crepes, while linings have also moved moderately well. Modest support has been lent to furnishings and casement cloths, and lingerie and corset goods have sold steadily for various outlets.

Foreign demand remains rather quiet. The best outlets are Canada, New Zealand and Australia, but the quantities booked are not large. India is doing very little, but more is expected now that the Government is adopting sterner measures. There is less about for China, but Egypt and South America have booked a shade more.

All qualities of yarn have sold fairly substantially, and stocks are smaller.

LONDON "STREET" MARKET.

There was only a modicum of business transacted in the "Street" market last evening, but the tendency was firm. International counters were the centre of interest, but the market soon quietened down, although quotations left off slightly firmer compared with those ruling at the close of the "House." Hydros advanced ½ to 9¾, whilst Brazil Tractions changed hands up to 14 7/16. International Nickels and Radio Corporations improved ⅛ to 11 11/16 and 8½ respectively. Of American Rails, Canadian Pacifics were finally unaltered at 18 after being bid up to 18¼. Woolworths, however, eased a few pence to 49s. 6d.

MOTORS AND TEXTILES.

LONDON MINING MARKET BRIGHTER.

KAFFIRS AGAIN POPULAR.

The extremely sensitive nature of the Mining market at the present time is amply illustrated by the course of prices for yesterday. A modest demand for some of the leading issues resulted in a sharp marking up of quotations. Paris made inquiries for several of its usual favourites, and American news received during the afternoon was of a more bullish character. Although there were a few recessions to record the majority of the changes in the Kaffir section were in favour of holders. Diamonds, or, to be more precise, the De Beers issue were naturally helped by the talk of a reparations moratorium over a period of years, since the industry has probably suffered more than any other from the depression in business. The improved tone on Wall street was reflected in the better tendency in Rhodesian Copper shares, while the recovery in the price of copper to £38 13s. 9d. per ton was another helpful factor. Roan Antelopes provided the feature, and Rhokana, Bwana M'Kubwa and Loangwa followed suit. The recovery in the price of tin to £138 12s. 6d. per ton had very little effect on the Share market. Changes were few, and about equally divided between rises and falls. As already noted, the quotation for copper rallied, and Rio Tinto made headway. Closing prices:—

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

BRITISH RAILWAYS' DIVIDEND RATES.

Although the usual official intimations regarding the dates on which the Home Railway final dividends are to be declared have not been received by the market, The Financial News understands that the following, so far as is known, are the likely dates—:

	Feb.
Southern	8
Great Western	10
Underground	11
London and North-Eastern	19

The Metropolitan Company's decision is expected to be made known towards the end of the current month.

SOUTH AFRICA AND GOLD STANDARD.

Meetings of farmers are being held throughout the country to protest against the policy of the Union Government in remaining on the gold standard. Meetings at De Aar and Colesburg show that opinion was unanimous in favour of going off gold. The Nationalists, as well as the South African Party, condemned the Government's attitude.

ATLAS SILK

A meeting of the unsecured creditors of Atlas Artificial Silk Processes, Limited, has been called to consider and, if thought fit, to approve a scheme of arrangement proposed to be made between the company and Alliance Artificial Silk, Limited. A meeting will be held in Manchester on January 13th at 3 p.m. A compulsory order for the winding-up of the Atlas Company was made in June last. Petitions for the winding-up of the Alliance Company have been presented, and adjourned from time to time.

U.S. CRUDE OIL PRODUCTION.

There was a further substantial decline in production of crude oil in the United States in the week ended January 2, the daily average being estimated at 2,209,100 barrels, or 83,000 barrels less than in the preceding week. The current daily rate is 127,000 barrels higher than that of a year ago, but is still 764,350 barrels below that of the peak week, ended August 31, 1929. Last week's decline was attributable to the Sunday closing of wells and holiday curtailments. Appreciable declines were reported in respect of East Texas and Oklahoma. Gasoline stocks, however, further rose 790,000 barrels to 37,989,000 barrels.

IRISH BANK MEETINGS.

The annual meeting of the Provincial Bank of Ireland will be held in London on Wednesday, January 27, at 11.30 a.m., and the meeting of the National Bank on Thursday, January 28, at noon.

SEWING COTTON DIVIDEND.

The announcement that the directors of the English Sewing Cotton Company had decided to reduce the interim dividend from 5 per cent. to 2½ per cent. will, no doubt, be much in accordance with expectations; for, in view of the Chairman's remarks at the annual meeting in July last, and the depression which has persisted in the textile industry for so long, it was inevitable that profits must have suffered a further shrinkage during the past twelve months. Moreover, the depreciation which has taken place in the value of cotton and the little likelihood of any material improvement in the early future will mean that once again a substantial sum may have to be provided to meet losses in this direction (writes The Glasgow Herald). The company, however, enjoys a strong financial position owing to conservative management in the past, and the smaller distribution on this occasion is, no doubt, dictated by prudence rather than necessity. Given some improvement in general trading conditions, it is even possible that the total distribution for the year may be maintained at 10 per cent.

HENEKEYS.—A final payment of 9 per cent. on the "A" Ordinary and Ordinary Shares, making 15 per cent. for the year. Forward, £8,485. (Last year 20 per cent.)

LOVELL AND CHRISTMAS.—Dividend on the Preference shares at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum for the six months ended 31st December, 1931. No interim distribution on Ordinary.

NATIONAL DISCOUNT CO.—Final distribution for the year 1931:—On "A" shares a dividend of 2/5 per share, less tax, making 10 per cent. for the year, and on "B" shares a dividend of 5/4 per share and a bonus of 2/- per share, both less tax, making 24 per cent. for the year. (The same total dividends and bonus as for the year 1930.) In accordance with the provisions of the Finance Act, 1930, and the Finance (No. 2) Act, 1931, the interim dividends of 2/6 on each "A" share and 4/6 on each "B" share will be reckoned as having been paid in such a manner as to represent a deduction of income tax at the rate of 5/- in the £. This is equivalent to an interim payment of 2/7 per share on each "A" share, less tax at 5/- in the £ and upon each "B" share of 4/8 per share, less tax at 5/- in the £.

ROYAL EXCHANGE ASSURANCE.—Net new life business completed during 1931 amounted to £2,418,030.

SCOTTISH WIDOWS' FUND AND LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY announce that the new life business completed in the year 1931 amounted to £3,793,000 gross, and, after deduction of the amounts reassured with other offices, the net amount retained at its own risk was £3,531,000. The net new business is not only an increase on the amount completed in the previous year, but for the second time in succession it is the highest total completed in any year in the society's history.

TRUSTEES CORPORATION.—Interim dividend on Ordinary Stock at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, less tax, for the half-year to 30th November, 1931, against 8 per cent.

WESTMINSTER BANK.—In a statement issued with the dividend the directors say: "In view of the financial outlook, the directors have thought it undesirable to draw upon the internal contingency funds of the bank for the purpose of meeting the depreciation of British Government securities. They have, therefore, provided the whole of the amount required to bring the investments into the balance sheet at or below their market value by appropriating £1,820,157 from the reserve." The results and allocations for 1931 are compared with those of the two preceding years in the following table:—

MAN'S FATAL FALL FROM BICYCLE.

DUE TO HEART FAILURE, NOT COLLISION.

William Maxwell (50), of 64 Capel street, a fitter employed by the Board of Works, whose death took place in the Mater Hospital on Monday last, following a fall that day from his bicycle in Upper Drumcondra road, died from cardiac failure, due to natural causes, it was decided at the inquest yesterday.

Dr. Campbell, house surgeon, said that Maxwell had an abrasion on the back of the right hand, which could have been caused by a fall from a bicycle. There were no other external marks.

Myles Ryan, of Moore street, a breadvan driver, said that he was at the rear of the van in Upper Drumcondra road on Monday when he heard a crash. He saw a bicycle fall on the kerbstone, and then saw Maxwell lying on the ground. Maxwell complained that he had been struck by a motor car. Witness did not see a car; nor did he hear the sound of one at the time.

Sergeant Barton, Clontarf, said that he found no marks on the bicycle to indicate that it had been involved in a collision.

The jury added to their verdict a statement that there was no evidence to show that there was a motor car on the scene at the time of the accident.

COURT-MARTIAL ON ARMY CAPTAIN.

CHARGE OF MISAPPLYING MONEY.

The plea that Captain John William Thompson (aged 45), Adjutant of the 5th (Rifle) Battalion the King's Regiment, residing at Waterloo, Liverpool, who is charged with fraudulently misapplying amounts totalling £55 10s. 6d. from the permanent staff account of his unit, and with absenting himself without leave, was not in a fit mental condition to form an intent to defraud, was made for the defence at the resumed court-martial at Seaforth Barracks, Liverpool, yesterday.

Captain Thompson was due to retire on pension yesterday. He pleaded not guilty.

Addressing the court on his behalf, Mr. F. J. Lees said that, on the charges of misapplying moneys, Thompson was not in a fit mental condition to have any intent to defraud. "I do not say he is insane," added Mr. Lees, "but we have had ample medical evidence to warrant us in saying that he could not form any intent to defraud." Thompson, Mr. Lee said, was worried and depressed at the prospect of leaving the service, and the fact that on November 17 he was sent for by his Brigade Commander was the last straw. His mind was in such a state that the slightest thing was sufficient to send it over the brink. There was evidence of mental trouble in Thompson's family. His father had twice been in an asylum, and Thompson had also been affected by a kick from a horse in August, 1930.

After hearing the Prosecuting Officer, the Court considered in private, and the Judge Advocate (Mr. C. L. Stirling) stated that the Court had no findings to announce in open court.

The pro- lasted for more than five hours, lthough the proceedings were har- up to the end, the number of votes, arison with the number of delegates, hallenged, and it is possible that dent Republican candidates may go for election in opposition to the of the convention.

candidates pledged themselves to y the result of the convention, and, scrutiny of the credentials, a motion t the outgoing members—Messrs. The election n proceeded with by ballot, delegates seven names on the ballot papers d, as it had already been agreed to ward that number of candidates.

Chairman said that the numbers as tallied more or less with the number ates present, and no further comment was made. It was stated later, however, that a number of delegates objected to the findings of the Convention, and would protest and possibly run an independent candidate on the ground that more votes were recorded than there were members present.

The runners-up to the selected members were Messrs. E. Corbett, Chairman, Galway County Council, and Mr. James Cosgrove, ex-National Party T.D., who were within a few votes of nomination.

LONGFORD-WESTMEATH.

FOUR CANDIDATES SELECTED.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

MULLINGAR, Wednesday.

Fianna Fail held a convention to select candidates for Longford-Westmeath in Mullingar to-day. The proceedings were in private, but Mr. P. Brett, who presided at a largely attended public meeting held subsequently in the County Hall, announced the result in opening the proceedings. The following four candidates (there are five seats in the constituency) were selected:—Messrs. James Geoghegan, K.C., and M. J. Kennedy (outgoing Deputies), and James Victory, Edgeworthstown, a former T.D., and Francis Gormley, Esker, Killoe. Mr. Cormac Breathneac, ex-President of the Gaelic League, presided at the convention.

THE PUBLIC MEETING.

At the public meeting Mr. James Victory said that Mr. de Valera had asked for a clear majority, and so far as he had felt the pulse of the electors Mr. de Valera was going to get a clear majority. They had 57 going in after the last election, and would it be too much to ask the electors to give them 100 this time? He believed it was not asking too much and that they would get it.

Mr. J. Kennedy, T.D., appealed for support for the selected candidates, and, referring to Mr. Geoghegan, said that he had been a pillar of strength to Fianna Fail, not only in that constituency, but in every constituency in the Saorstat in which his valuable services had been given to his party.

Continuing, Mr. Kennedy said that with a preliminary of talk about Bolshevism and Communism to frighten old women, the present Government had at length decided to hold an election at the hardest and most severe part of the year, but, no matter what time they chose, Fianna Fail were prepared to beat them.

GOVERNMENT CRITICISED.

Proceeding, the speaker strongly criticised the Government's work regarding the solution of the housing problem, saying that they had failed to solve it, and in Westmeath anything done in that direction was accomplished by the local public bodies.

Certain people in Westmeath, he said, were calling out for a commissioner, but he could tell them, and could tell the Government, that they would not be in office long enough to appoint a commissioner in Westmeath or anywhere else.

MR. GEOGHEGAN AND THE OATH.

Mr. James Geoghegan, K.C., referred to the oath, and said that Mr. Gwynn and those for whom he wrote knew that anything that was a source of initiation to the people of Ireland was bad for England. They knew that a national Government was coming into power, and hence to-day an English Conservative review was found setting forth a description of the oath as just a mere piece of verbiage; yet they could all remember the hullaboloo that there was when he (Mr. Geoghegan) at Ballinamuck said that the oath should, and would, have to be abolished.

The oath must go, he added, and the sooner the better. They wanted to live in amity with England, but they wanted also to live in equality with England. If they did not want an oath in this country, they would not have it.

Proceeding, he said that things had come to such a state under the present Government that it was seen that the doctor was indispensable, and must be called in; and the only doctor who would effect a cure was Mr. de Valera.

Mr. Breathneach also spoke.

COUNTY CARLOW.

GOVERNMENT'S POLICY DENOUNCED.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

CARLOW, Wednesday.

Addressing a public meeting in Tullow today after last Mass, Mr. Thomas Derrig, T.D., said that the Government, like Mr. Micawber, were living in hope that something would turn up to enable them to face the country. Meantime the people had to face a Budget deficit of more than a million pounds; an enormous adverse trade balance of something like sixteen millions, and an army of destitute people running into 50,000 or 60,000.

“The question for the people,” said Mr. Derrig, “is—what solution the Government has to offer to cope with these problems. Their only policy seems to be one of drift. They have nothing to offer the people, although in a last-minute effort to placate those who demand a strong economic policy they are prepared to throw Mr. Hogan's policy over board. That policy has failed, and it must be clear to everybody that only a determined national effort on all fronts will remedy the economic situation. (Applause.)

THE ENGLISH MARKET.

Mr. Derrig said that he wished to emphasise a few points in connection with Mr. Hogan's suggestion of a small agricultural preference from Great Britain. Firstly, the Free State was buying more manufactured goods from England than any other country. Secondly, the Free State was buying more from Britain than the latter was buying from the Free State. Thirdly, there was no such voluntary preference in the English market for Saorstat products as there was in the Saorstat for English products. Fourthly, Britain had been buying in recent years increasing quantities of agricultural products from other countries, while Irish exports to her had fallen in value. Finally, some 200 millions of Irish money was invested in Great Britain.

The Fianna Fail Party, said Mr. Derrig, if they receive a mandate from the people, were prepared to retain the land annuities for the benefit of Irish agriculture. The retention of the land annuities was not, as was often argued, a fraudulent or charlatan claim. If there was a case to be argued it should be left to the British Government to put up their case.

IN THE ARMS OF ENGLAND.

Mr. Thomas Harris, T.D. (Kildare) said that they had nine years' experience of the present Government, and during that time their policy had not brought peace or prosperity to the country. The majority of the people believed that when the Treaty was signed and Mr. Cosgrave returned to office he would introduce an economic policy that would give the people a chance of living in their own country and promote the development of native industries. It should be plain now that the present Government did not utilise the opportunity that they got to develop the country in the interests of the Irish people.

The Minister for Agriculture now said that the Free State must depend on the English market altogether. They had thrown the policy of Griffith overboard. They only used it to get the people to put them in power, and they had carried out a policy that had depopulated this country in the last seventy or eighty years and created unemployment, poverty and distress. What was wrong with the Government was that they had gone over completely into the arms of England. (Applause.)

COUNTY LOUTH.

FIANNA FAIL AND IRISH TRADE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

DROGHEDA, Wednesday.

Speaking at a Fianna Fail meeting here to-night, Mr. Sean Lemass, T.D., said that Mr. Hogan, whom he regarded as the leader of the Government, declared his policy recently in a striking phrase. “I would rather,” he said, “get one small preference from Engand than have all the tariffs contained in the entire policy of Fianna Fail.” In other words, said Mr. Lemass, he would rather barter the chances of the Irish people to protect their industries. Trade with Britain always was and always will be of great importance to this country, and Fianna Fail would take no action consistent with the development of the home industries which would endanger that trade in any way, but when they came to consider this country's trade relations with Britain, two facts must be borne in mind. One was that we buy more goods from England than any other country in the world; and, two, that the balance of trade is in England's favour.

The Irish High Commissioner in London pointed out recently that for every pound spent by England in this country, we spend £1 2s. 6d. in England, while for every pound spent by England in Denmark, the Danes only spend three shillings and ninepence in return.

Messrs. Frank Aiken, T.D.; Thomas O'Donnell and K. O'Reilly also spoke.

COUNTY MONAGHAN.

COMMERCIAL RELATIONS WITH ENGLAND.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

CARRICKMACROSS, Wednesday.

Addressing a large Fianna Fail meeting at Carrickmacross to-day, Mr. Lemass conveyed Mr. de Valera's regret for his inability to attend owing to a very bad cold.

The most striking pronouncement in Mr. Lemass's speech was that the very essence of Republicanism was the representation of the people's wishes; and, in the event of his party being returned, those wishes would be carried out, regardless of Mr. Blythe's gunmen and friends.

Referring to the coming visit of Mr. Hogan and Mr. McGilligan to discuss with representatives of the British Cabinet matters affecting commercial relations with England, he denied the power of those gentlemen to commit this country to any arrangement except with the approval of the people. Fianna Fail realised that the question of trade with Britain must always be of primary importance.

Several planks, he said, in Fianna Fail's industrial programme, which members of the Government had formerly ridiculed, had been adopted, in a way suggesting incompetence and death-bed repentance.

THE OATH.

The retaining of the oath, he said, was responsible for the failure to restore law and order. He did not say that the removal of the oath would secure permanent peace, but there was a chance that it would.

Appealing for support for Fianna Fail's nominees, he concluded with a review of Fianna Fail's attitude towards retaining the land annuities, which he regarded as one of the most serious questions in issue at the coming election.

Contrasting the proposals for the cancellation of Germany's payments towards the Allies, Mr. Lemass asserted that the willingness of the Free State Government to continue these payments was the great argument used against the United States proposal in response to the petition of four hundred Catholic priests and archbishops in San Francisco.

Mr. T. O'Donnell, speaking as a supporter of the policy of Mr. John E. Redmond, said that there was no longer a National League, and the people had now to decide between Cumann na nGaedheal and Fianna Fail.

Dr. Ward, referring to the land annuities question, said that so long as they had hunger and poverty confronting the people, regardless of any legal contention, it was morally wrong to pay five millions to any foreign power.

The Times Johannesburg Correspondent telegraphed yesterday:—The movement in favour of abandoning the gold standard is gaining momentum. The executive of the Federated Chambers of Industry has decided to call a special convention on January 18th to consider the question.

THE LATE DEAN OF CLOGHER.

The remains of Very Rev. Dean Haire-Forster, Killacoonagh, Newbliss, were laid to rest yesterday in the family burying-ground, Killeevan. The Service in the church included the hymn, “Abide with Me.” When the remains were being taken from the church to their last resting-place they were accompanied by a robed procession of clergy and the bishop, while the organist (Miss M. Tipping) played The Dead March in “Saul.”

At the graveside the Rev. H. McManaway read the last prayers, and the bishop pronounced the Benediction.

The attendance included:—Captain H. Fruit and Flowers.

AN OPENING FOR IRELAND.

FROM A CORRESPONDENT.

In view of the tariff recently imposed by the British Government on Continental garden produce, the question of developing the cultivation of fruits, flowers, and vegetables as an Irish commercial industry is one which should commend itself to all who are interested in promoting the material welfare of our country. It is a sad commentary on the attitude of those responsible for the development of the natural resources of Ireland to note that with the exception of certain districts outside the Free State fruit-growing on commercial lines is virtually a dead letter.

Climatically and geographically the Irish Free State possesses all the requirements of a fruit-producing country. Every portion of it is now so easy of access, that the transit of fruit, either for sale in our large centres of population, or for export, can be conducted with the utmost facility and despatch. Sir Horace Plunkett visualised this thirty years ago, when, under his wise régime as head of the Department of Agriculture, he established numerous orchards in noted fruit-producing districts throughout the southern counties, in which many hundreds of young apple trees of the most approved varieties for commercial purposes were planted.

HARDY FRUITS.

As a means of counteracting the visitations of agricultural depression with which the Irish farmer is, unfortunately, becoming too familiar, the cultivation of hardy fruits is a matter worthy of serious consideration and attention. We possess the necessary requirements of a genial climate and a fertile soil, and it certainly seems difficult to understand that while thousands of acres of the best fruit land in the world are lying virtually derelict in the Midland and Southern counties, we are paying away to foreigners thousands of pounds annually for fruit which we could produce at home, if we simply took up and developed the industry in a proper commercial spirit.

Hardy fruit-growing, after all, is not by any means the technically difficult subject that it may appear to the average Irish farmer, nor can those who would make light of its importance fall back on any trustworthy data in support of the theory that it would not succeed. It may be, as recently stated, that the Irish Free State has not half as much land under fruit as the garden county of Kent. That statement, if correct, only goes to show that we, in Ireland, have not realised the possibilities of the industry, either as a source of employment or of profit.

It may be asked if hardy fruit-growing is capable of development as a remunerative industry and a panacea for unemployment, why do we not make more money from our existing orchards than we do at present? This is the crucial point of the entire question, and the answer is: because we do not market our fruit properly. We do not devote the necessary attention to the important details of grading and packing, and consequently our fruit, when placed on the market, does not present the attractive appearance which purchasers require. Would it not be a proper course for the responsible authorities, in supplementing the cultural instructions placed at the disposal of the people, to establish classes in the fruit-growing districts for instruction in the grading and packing of all hardy fruits for market?

SOFT FRUITS.

Soft fruits, which are less extensively cultivated, are also capable of being profitably grown on commercial lines. If it pays British jam manufacturers to establish factories in the Free State, it should pay Irish farmers to keep out the foreign fruit-pulp by growing sufficient quantities of strawberries, black and red currants, raspberries, and gooseberries, to meet the requirements of the manufacturers, and thus make the Irish jam industry essentially Irish.

Forced strawberries, tomatoes, and French beans are capable of commanding high prices, but as their cultivation involves the provision of glass and heat, they are outside the scope of the present considerations. To those, however, who may possess facilities for their commercial cultivation, a remunerative outlet is certainly within their grasp.

Flowers are always in demand in our centres of population, especially early daffodils and narcissi, which are produced in South Kerry quite as early as those coming from abroad to our markets, but have hitherto, unfortunately, been “born to blush unseen.” What a floral harvest might be reaped in the lovely valleys along the seaboard of that historic county by the application of a little enterprise! Regarding vegetable cultivation for export, the opportunity offered by the restrictions on the importation of Continental produce is too obvious to call for comment.

AN APPEAL TO THE SPEAKER.

LABOUR M.P.'S WANT PARLIAMENT TO RESUME.

An urgent appeal by Labour M.P.'s to the Speaker of the House of Commons to summon Parliament immediately to consider the important, far-reaching questions now facing the country was sent from Glasgow last night.

The signatories include Mr. James Maxton, Mr. David Kirkwood, Mr. John McGovern, Mr. George Buchanan, and Mr. R. C. Wallhead, M.P. for Merthyr.

The appeal says:—

“The state of industry, which has gone from bad to worse; the unparalleled fear and misery of the great masses of the people owing to unemployment and the harsh administration of the means test, and the burden of excessive rents, the creeping paralysis of the iron and steel industry and the insensate proposals of the cotton employers to restore barbarous hours of labour, appear to us to make it imperative that the Government should meet the House of Commons at once to deal with the present ills.

“Also the arrest of Mr. Gandhi and Mr. Patel makes it plain that the Government are embarking on a blundering policy which will commit the people of this country to the repression of the 300 million people in India, which can only end in disaster to our people here, financial collapse and the loss in very truth of the working people's deposits in savings banks.

“Accordingly, we hope that it will be possible for you to take the necessary steps to call the House together at once to deal with the situation.”

THE EXPORT OF IRISH EGGS.

OFFICIAL METHODS CRITICISED.

“REGULATIONS WITHOUT COMMON-SENSE.”

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

CLAREMORRIS, Wednesday.

When the attention of a well-known Claremorris egg exporter was drawn to the warning of the Department of Agriculture, published to-day, that a vast amount of export trade in eggs is being lost owing to slovenly methods of productions and packing, he placed the entire blame on the Department itself.

“Next to Monaghan,” he said, “the Counties of Mayo and Galway are the chief egg-producing counties in the country. Farmers and shippers are disgusted at the prices prevailing at present. When the Government introduced the Agricultural Produce Act in 1925 the Press and public were led to believe that the hen was the turning point in the fortunes of the country if the regulation of the trade was left in the hands of officials. Despite all these regulations, the producer at times last year received only sixpence per dozen for his eggs. Three Sligo shippers have had to close down an extensive export trade because the regulations were imposed with such severity and with such complete disregard for the shippers' point of view that they found it impossible to carry on economically.

“A case of eggs on inspection by an official may be found to contain four or five inferior or ‘trade’ eggs, or, perhaps, a few cracked eggs. The Department confiscates the entire case, worth £6. The common-sense thing to do would be to take out the offending eggs and pass the remainder—but then there is no rule for common-sense in the regulations, officials act on a formula.”

THE WEIGHT TEST.

Speaking of the weight test, he said:—“Some eggs in a consignment may be below the standard weight required by the Act, although, taken as a whole, the weight of the entire case may be well up to the standard. Yet the Department can confiscate the lot, and the paradox is: that the very eggs thus confiscated as unfit for export are actually sold by the Department in Ireland, and the money goes to its funds.”

This exporter's main complaint was, however, against that treatment of eggs as a currency rather than as an independent industry. “Shopkeepers all over the country,” he said, “are buying eggs good, bad and indifferent, all at the same rates, in exchange for groceries, which they supply to the farmer's wife. If eggs are not bought and paid for on their merits, there is no inducement to the producer to improve the quality of his produce. The Department should see to it that eggs are sold in premises registered for that purpose alone, or else given to collectors who pay cash, and do not give groceries in exchange. Eggs are still being produced under the old conditions. The farmer's wife gathers them from dirty and insanitary barns and outhouses, puts them in a bucket and cleans them by pouring boiling water over them. Eighty per cent. of these eggs are fertile, and such a cleaning process leaves them predisposed to rapid decay. These eggs will pass the Department's light test and every other test, but they become bad on arrival in England or shortly afterwards.”

NO ROOM FOR MIDDLEMEN.

He concluded by stating that the Department, instead of pestering ninety-nine per cent. of the exporters who know their business and are anxious to enhance the reputation of the Irish egg, should concentrate on the bad shippers, and either educate them or eliminate them altogether.

“A further cause,” he said, “of the difficulties of the Irish egg export trade is the fact that the Department has never intelligently tried to improve the marketing conditions in England. Eggs are sold almost entirely to cross-Channel speculators, whereas they should go direct to the multiple shops and co-operative stores without the intervention of a middleman at all. This neglect of the producers' interests has engendered in the farmer a contempt for officialism, equalled only by the official contempt for the farmer.”

DONCASTER RACE RECEIPTS DECREASE.

£20,000 IN TWO YEARS.

The fall in receipts at the Doncaster Race Meeting led to the Race Committee of the Doncaster Town Council to announce to the Council last night that they would be unable to make a grant in aid of the Doncaster general rate for the year ending March, 1933. This is the first time that a grant has not been made.

Mr. E. Wilburn, Chairman of the Race Committee, said that, owing to the terrible weather in 1930, the Committee's receipts showed a decrease of £10,000 on the previous year, and last year the receipts were only slightly in excess of 1930. In two years they were down by about £20,000 on the normal income. Apart from stakes, the expenses of the meeting, and the maintenance of the course, the committee had paid in national and local taxation £24,204.

Although they recommend no contribution to the general rate for the coming year, they would pay to the Corporation about £9,000 in rates and over £6,000 in rents. They would also have to pay £2,000 in income tax, and were faced with the increase of entertainment tax, which would be about £1,800.

The decision of the committee was approved by the Council.

TWO MEN TRAPPED BY RISING TIDE.

CLINGING FOR LIFE TO IRON RAIL.

Trapped by the tide in Kinneil Bay, near Bo'ness, West Lothian, two men clung for two hours to an iron rail while the water rose steadily until it reached their chests. Their dog refused to leave them and swam round.

The waves, lashed by a strong wind, swept right over their heads, but fortunately the tide receded as quickly as it had risen, and the men were able to reach the shore very exhausted and suffering considerably from their long immersion in the water.

The men were John Thomson, of Furnace row, Bo'ness, and Thomas Chalmers, of Laurieston, near Falkirk, and, accompanied by a Labrador dog, they were shooting ducks on an embankment forming part of a land reclamation scheme in the bay.

DEARER PRICES FOR BACON.

LEIX BOARD'S PROTEST.

GOVERNMENT ASKED TO TAKE ACTION.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

MARYBOROUGH, Wednesday.

The County Agricultural Committee at Maryborough to-day passed a resolution protesting against the sharp rise in bacon prices since the imposition of the tariff. This rise they consider unreasonable in view of the recent prices for pigs, and they called on the Government to take immediate action in the matter.

Mr. J. Delaney, the proposer, said that some steps should be taken to deal with the profiteering that was going on. Manufacturers and curers had immense stocks of bacon, which were put in when pigs were bought at very low prices. Already there was an increase of twopence a pound, and more, he believed, in some places. The Government should take steps to prevent for at least a month an increase in the price of bacon in stock. It was unjust, unfair and unreasonable to have the price increased.

Mr. J. Finlay said that the factories were full of bacon.

HIGHER RETAIL PRICES.

Mr. J. Byrne mentioned a shop which had increased the price by threepence per pound.

Mr. Delaney said that the price had been raised by £1 per cwt. already, which was scandalous. This was going to destroy any form of protection that was given to the country. Prohibition of imports would be the proper thing. The producer would get a proper price for the article that he put on the market, but the curer should not increase the price.

The Chairman (Mr. P. J. Gorry, T.D.) said that there would have to be a Control Board or some organisation to prevent “profiteering,” or the unfair exploitation of the position.

Mr. Finlay said that he saw pigs sold in Rathdowney for twenty-eight shillings per cwt., the bacon from which would be only fit to come on the market now.

Mr. Delaney said that instead of the people benefiting by the tariff, those who bought at low prices and stored bacon for months were going to make all the profit. The Government had, off their own bat, without going to the Tariff Commission, put on the tariff, which should have been done ten years ago.

LOCAL PROVISION STORES.

On making inquiries subsequently at some of the principal provision stores in Maryborough, an Irish Times representative was informed that, although the wholesale price of bacon had been increased, no advance had so far been made in retail prices in those establishments. Irish bacon only is stocked.

At the Maryborough Pig Fair to-day, supplies were small and demand brisk. Live weight price of baconers was 41s. to 42s. per cwt. Bonhams, which were scarce, fetched 30s. each.

U.S. ALARM OVER MANCHURIA.

IMPORTANT STATEMENT EXPECTED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday.

Following the conversation which took place yesterday between the United States Secretary of State and the British and French Ambassadors regarding further co-operation of France, Britain and the United States on the Manchurian question, it is indicated in highly authoritative circles that an important statement by Mr. Stimson on the United States policy in the Far East may shortly be expected.

Mr. Stimson, however, declines to make any comment.

Official despatches have been received by the State Department indicating that the Japanese are campaigning beyond Chinchow, in the direction of China proper, and such action is viewed with concern.

“BACK TO VERSAILLES TREATY.”

PLEA FOR ORIGINAL PLAN OF DISARMAMENT.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday.

The necessity for “energetic steps to bring about the original plan of disarmament” included in the Versailles Treaty was stressed by Mr. Stimson, the United States Secretary of State, in a speech before the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives to-day.

He declared that if the United States did not send a delegation to the Disarmament Conference “the whole peace and stability of the world would receive a setback that would be almost incalculable.”

Mr. Stimson said that the failure of the Allies to imitate German disarmament had produced “a condition of disparity in Europe,” which in its turn was responsible for a general “restlessness.”

SCANDINAVIA'S TRADE DIFFICULTIES.

MAY SEEK AGREEMENT WITH BRITAIN.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

OSLO, Wednesday.

Negotiations for a financial and trade agreement between Britain and the Scandinavian countries may possibly be opened as a result of the conference of the Norwegian, Swedish and Danish Foreign Ministers, which opened at Copenhagen to-day.

Newspapers here, commenting on the conference, suggest that such an agreement with Great Britain will be discussed.

FREE STATE'S INSANE.

DECREASE IN 1930.

The report of the Inspector of Mental Hospitals, published to-day, shows that the number of persons admitted to public and private mental institutions in the Free State during the year ended 31st December, 1930, was 2,348, a decrease of 348 compared with the previous year's total.

The number of persons under care was 20,084, an increase of 34 on the figures for 1929. Of this total 52.2 per cent. were males and 47.8 per cent. females.

The table showing admissions to District and Auxiliary Mental Hospitals during the year reveals that the majority of the men admitted were between the ages of 25 and 54 years, whereas the ages of the women were between 35 and 54.

The number of patients detained in the State Criminal Lunatic Asylum, Dundrum, at the end of 1930 was 115 (96 males and 19 females), a decrease of 16 on the figures for the preceding year.

277 men and 210 women were allowed absence on probation from mental hospitals during the year. Discharges, which included eight male patients who escaped and were not re-taken, totalled 1,174. The percentage of recoveries on the admissions was 37.6. The total number of deaths was returned as 1,099, 17 less than in 1929. Two per cent. of these deaths were due to general paralysis of the insane and 21 per cent. to pulmonary tuberculosis.

MAN KILLED IN EXPLOSION.

TWO OTHERS RECEIVE BURNS.

One man was killed and two others were injured in an explosion at the works of the Imperial Chemical Industries at Runcorn, Cheshire, last evening.

The victim was William Frederick Sheen, married, of Wellington street, Runcorn. The two injured men are Peter Wakefield (36), of Surrey street, Runcorn, and Edmund Wainwright (35), of Barne's Cottages, Runcorn.

The explosion occurred in the carbon bisulphide department. The force of the explosion wrecked the building. Sheen's body was recovered from the débris after about three hours' search. The injured men were conveyed to the Runcorn Cottage Hospital, suffering from burns about the hands and face.

The noise of the explosion was heard a mile away.

THE METHODIST CHURCH.

Mountpottinger Church, Belfast, taking time by the forelock, has just issued its annual report for 1931. Tribute is borne to Mr. R. W. Charlesson, who retires from the office of senior circuit steward, which he has filled with outstanding ability for five years. The Sunday collections during the year amounted to £635, whilst for home and foreign missions and other special objects a much larger sum was contributed. The Rev. B. G. East is the minister of the church.

In the death of Professor S. J. Crawford, M.A., B.Litt., D.Phil., of Edinburgh University, many well-known Irish Methodist families have been bereaved. Dr. Crawford grew up in connection with Carlisle Memorial Church, Belfast. He was a brother of the Rev. R. C. P. Crawford, the Superintendent of the Castlebar and Mayo Mision; a nephew of the Rev. McCrea, M.A., Principal of Edgehill College, Belfast, and son-in-law of Mr. J. Vanner Early, of Witney, Oxon. His early death is very deeply regretted.

Mr. William Treanor, of Roscrea, is the oldest local preacher in connection with the Methodist Church in Ireland. Although in his ninety-fourth year, he still preaches, and recently delivered a lecture on “The Famine Times.”

The members of the Young Men's Association belonging to Falls Road Church, Belfast, have set an example which might well, in these hard times, be followed by young men in other churches. The lecture hall attached to the church needing renovation, these young men got the church to provide the materials, and in their spare hours repaired, painted and decorated the hall. Not to be outdone by the mere male, the members of the women's department and of the Girls' League got together, and by a sale of work and cake fair they realised some £50 towards meeting other responsibilities of the church.

UNIVERSAL WEEK OF PRAYER.

INTERNATIONAL FRIENDSHIP.

The meetings organised by the Evangelical Alliance were continued yesterday at the Y.M.C.A. Building, Dublin, and last night at Bray, Clontarf and Rathgar.

At the latter place the speaker was the Rev. Dr. J. Denham Osborne, who dealt with international friendship and world peace. He mentioned how aviation had abolished frontiers; wireless is a world unifier; finances are international; the peoples of the world are a unity—such as was not known in all past history. The result is that the peoples of the modern world now are under compulsion to adjust their lives in co-operation with other nations, so as to become a brotherhood or family group. The lesson of world brotherhood as brought by Our Lord has been long ignored, but is now knocking at the door, demanding recognition, under grim penalties if refused entrance. We should pray that brotherhood be brought about, not after some terrific disaster, but that the Church (the only means through which God works) should be awakened to call the nations to repentance. We must pray that the vision of the song of Bethlehem may be in the Council Chamber of Geneva. In the minds of the young the love of peace should be substituted for the thrill of war.

The Rev. L. Parkinson Hill presided at the meeting, the Rev. J. J. Macaulay and the Rev. J. H. Blandford also taking part.

To-night's meeting will be at Kingstown, when the Rev. T. Byers will give an address.

DUBLIN 'BUS ACCIDENT

REMARKABLE ESCAPES.

The driver and conductor of an omnibus which was being driven up Gloucester street, Dublin, yesterday morning, had remarkable escapes from serious injury when it came into collision with another 'bus proceeding along Lower Gardiner street at the junction of the two roads.

The 'bus was struck almost broadside, skidded on the greasy surface of the road, struck a lamp standard, and finally turned over on its side, the woodwork and windows on the near side being completely shattered. The occupants of the vehicle, the driver and conductor, were uninjured, suffering only from shock and bruises.

The radiator of the second 'bus was damaged, and the windscreen splintered, but the driver, conductor and nine passengers were unhurt.

IRISH REGISTERED TRADERS.

At a meeting of the Connaught Council of the Irish Registered Traders' Association, held in Ballyhaunis, Co. Mayo, on Sunday last, Mr. Peter Hannon, the Chairman, said that the total amount of the Branch funds in the province was about £650. It was, therefore, decided to strike a further levy of 4s. on each member of the Association in Connaught to create a central fund for the purposes of publicity and organisation.

On the invitation of the Galway Chamber of Commerce a deputation was appointed from the meeting to discuss future policy. It was agreed to hold a convention of all the Free State branches of the Association in Dublin in the near future.

GARDEN, FARM, BEES, ETC.

SEED.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says:—

Already the earliest of the seed catalogues have arrived, and still they come. And there is nothing more helpful in starting the year's work than a comprehensive catalogue issued by a firm of repute, even to the most practical of practitioners, and less knowledgeable ones find them, as now printed, reliable guides. This is an advantage our gardening forbears missed. We question whether that good seedsman, William Miller, who sent in his bill to ye "Laird of Niddery, ye 16 of Aprile, 1707," and charged him £1 for 4 dwts. (pennyweights, not ounces) of "calliflower," "4 ounce of english parsnep," and other things in proportion, totalling £12 3s., supplied his patron with a catalogue, or had one to supply him, or even with any guarantee of growth; but those were "good old times" in the seed trade.

DURING INCUBATION.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—

For the first twenty-four hours the eggs are best left alone. After that, and until the eighteenth day, they should be turned twice daily. On each occasion they should be given a half-turn only the first thing in the morning and the last before dark. The position in the egg drawer should also be changed occasionally, those in the centre placed at the sides, and the reverse. What is called an "airing," or cooling of the eggs used to be recommended—that is, leaving them out a short time, for five minutes at first to fifteen or twenty minutes during the last week at the time of turning; but most breeders have given this up as unnecessary, and in cold weather there is a danger of the eggs becoming chilled. Besides the turning, the only interference necessary is to test them about the eighth day, so that all infertiles and addled eggs may be removed, as they are injurious to the others if left all the time in the incubator.
